ROOF REPAIRS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Poultry Correspondent says:—

The roof requires to be well put on and the felt secured against the damage caused by high winds. For fixed permanent houses we advise the outside of the roof to be of galvanised iron, with an inside lining of thin boards. Felt is more generally used, but there is a right way and a wrong way of putting this on. It should be put on length-ways, not up and down. Choose a calm, fine day, and lay down the first strip on the lowest part of the roof; then lay the next strip above this, with a lap of about two inches, and so on to the top. The felt should project about an inch over the eaves, and each strip should be made fast along the joinings, at the ends, and at all vulnerable points with stout, flat-headed nails. When all have been laid, the whole can be secured by nailing laths along the top edge, one at each side, and a few intermediate, about two feet apart, running from the top to the bottom. Then a good coating of tar.

THE SNOWFLAKES.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Garden Correspondent says:—

Leucojum vernum, the spring Snowflake, with its white, Snowdrop-like flowers and petals tipped with green, pendant on foot-high stems, is admirable for the rockery or naturalised on the lawn margin, where it will escape the mower until midsummer. With the exception of the variety, biflorum, two-flowered, the spring Snowflake rarely has more than one bloom to a stem, unlike the summer Snowflake, Leucojum æstivum, with clusters on its longer stem up to half a dozen flowers quaintly tipped with green. This is a lovely thing, admirable in a grass setting, as we found it in quantity fringing the lake in Lord Iveagh's demesne, Farmleigh, on the west side of the Phœnix Park. Neither is expensive, and once established the bulbs increase fairly rapidly.

VISITORS TO BRITAIN.

JULY NUMBERS INCREASE.

Home Office figures of holiday visitors to Great Britain during July show an increase in the numbers of foreign visitors from European countries over the corresponding period for last year.

The figures, which do not include the large numbers of day visitors from certain countries permitted to land without passports, and estimated by the Travel Association to number many thousands, show France to head the list with an increase of 2,472 or a total of 9,936. Holland comes next with an increase of 842 or a total of 4,107, then comes Germany with an increase of 472, making the second greatest total of 4,775. Hungary is fourth with an increase of 368 or a total of 499. Other countries that show an increase are Scandinavian countries (including Denmark), Switzerland, Turkey, Spain, Portugal, Russia, Roumania, Greece, Finland, Bulgaria, and Austria.

The figures for July, 1933 and 1932, are:—

Nationality.	1932.	1933.
Austrian	531	634
Belgian	2,172	1,848
Bulgarian	9	10
Chinese	39	86
Czechoslovak	401	399
Dutch	3,265	4,107
Finnish	58	81
French	7,464	9,936
German	4,303	4,775
Greek	79	109
Hungarian	131	499
Italian	776	925
Japanese	91	71
Jugo-Slav	51	26
Polish	204	171
Roumanian	64	79
Russian	180	199
Scandinavian (including Danish)	2,103	2,337
Spanish and Portuguese	464	516
Swiss	1,354	1,531
Turk	28	37
United States	16,982	12,640
Other nationalities	860	942
Total	41,609	41,958

The total for holiday visitors from all countries shows an increase of 349, but the smallness of the figures is due to the numbers from the United States of America having declined by 4,342 from 16,982.

The quarterly return for April, May and June of all visitors also showed an increase of 4,641 over the corresponding quarter of last year.

COCKLE-CANNING.

RESEARCH STATION'S WORK.

Cockles need no longer, as the old song suggests, be "alive, alive-O" to attract custom; for it is announced in a report issued by the Campden Research Station, Gloucestershire, that a process for canning cockles has been developed. The Campden Research Station, which is run in conjunction with the Scientific Department of Bristol University, is the State advisory body to British canners, and during 1932 solved more than 950 technical problems submitted to it.

Among these was a request from the District Inspector of Fisheries at Swansea to study the possibilities of cockle-canning. Investigations were made at the cockle beds off the coast of South Wales and in the laboratory, and a report on processes for de-sanding cockles alive and canning them was submitted.

Another successful endeavour by the Research Station to extend the already tremendous range of foods now canned, resulted in the production of a typically English canned fruit salad. "Special attention has been given," states the report, "to the production of fruit salads from English red and purple fruits. Fresh salads of this type are popular in many country districts, and it is felt that there should be a market for similar canned salads. Eight different salads have been prepared."

Other lines of research followed by the Campden Station included the preparation of fruit purées, the ripening of peas, and the grading of fruits and vegetables.

FUR SLEEVES, LARGER SKIRTS AND SMALLER HATS.

Reuter Correspondents in Paris and Hollywood report on the coming autumn fashions as follow:—

PARIS—Fur sleeves are being introduced with women's tweed suits. Full puffed sleeves, executed in ostrich feathers—or osprey feathers—are a feature of evening gowns. Crushed velvet is popular for day wear, with blouses of fine white lawn. Something new—or old—in evening frocks is the narrow little bustle, which causes the dress to fall in "cascade" fashion.

HOLLYWOOD—The film actresses' hats this autumn are expected to be small and flat. Many of them will be in velvet and many in felt. Miss Lilyan Tashman predicts that berets will be popular. "They will be larger berets, the kind you can pull into the shape of your head," she says. "They will be smart-looking, and not necessarily of a strictly sports type. The small hats will be distinguished by their trimming. Bows and ornaments will be unusually smart. I think you will even find flowers on some small hats."

WASP WAISTS A COMING FASHION.

PARIS DRESSMAKERS ENCOURAGE THEM.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Friday.

The curved-front corset is coming back with a rush. As a fact, this article of apparel has been battling for position for at least a year.

Will the wasp-waist take? This is the corset question that now confronts dressmakers and their clients. Echoes of this trim figure are already to be seen at the races and in places where women dance. Anyone who has watched the progress of the present-day feminine figure at Paris fashion openings can be fully aware of the difficulties of clothing the young woman of to-day. All manner of flat-boned plaques applied to the front of present elastic corslet and girdle have failed to control the rather pleasing curves of the girl of the moment.

She may revel in easy jersey fabrics all day, and wear a comfortable elastic ceinture, but when evening dresses demand a long, lithe line, figure control approaches in the person of the fitter with corset in hand.

The Boyish Mode.

Boyish "ensembles" and suits go out a good deal in fashionable society, done up with linen crash or patterned cotton. These suits wear big bows at the neck in most cases. However, the Parisienne, now having the run of her own stamping ground, keeps this boyish mode in its place, knowing only too well that it takes a slender Anglo-Saxon figure to get away with such severity.

Cinema evenings and dinners in the Bois de Boulogne and at the popular restaurants in Paris reveal the Parisienne either in all-black or playing the rustic in field-flower prints or checked materials. The all-black dress, with lace insertions or ruffles over it, is the Parisienne's meat, and she thrives on it. She wears the most frivolous of evening hats, often in lace or flowers, to top such frocks.

Millinery Fashions.

Tall hats, as I have already told you, are on the crest of the wave. Some have brims, some are without brims, and some have the top of the crown indented.

I saw a black satin toque which measured eleven inches in height, which was yet so pliable that it could be crushed down to fit closely upon the head at the will of the wearer.

No matter whether you choose a hat with a broad brim or one of medium width, or with no brim at all, a high crown must characterise your choice if you want to be in fashion, and your hat must be a striking contrast to the style you are going to abandon—however reluctantly.

Straws this season are holding their own. Probably this is the first season for some time that this fact is evident. For seasons past light felts and fabrics which lend themselves so well to the close-fitting moulded types of hat, were favourites. Certain it is that these new shapes mark a great change from the lines of the past season.

Brimmed hats are also high millinery styles and are worn with the practical coat and suit in rain and sun. Cloches or sailors, with undulating brims, and deepish or very shallow crowns, are the thing the smart Parisienne loves. These are made mostly of straw.

Scarves, accompanying many hats, are a feature of this season; nearly all fabric hats must have their matching neck-ties before one can properly appreciate their true value.

THE PEDESTALS OF BEAUTY.

PAYING ATTENTION TO ONE'S FEET.

FEET do give us away, even though we may not always realise it. They can, for example, make us appear much older than we are, if we walk heavily or laboriously. Shoes which are not well polished or cleaned also give away our characters as being not too particular as to details!

Tight shoes, or shoes which do not fit well, and, therefore, either cut the heel or pull the foot out of shape, will ruin beauty quicker than most things many of us so carefully avoid in our search for beauty! The strain of constant pain makes our faces become drawn and tired-looking, sometimes even downright bad-tempered too!

There are lots of things to be considered for real foot comfort. Here are a few hints on the subject, which may be of use.

If you have always worn a moderately high heel, and it suits you, don't be persuaded to start wearing a shoe with a very flat heel or perhaps no heel at all. This is most uncomfortable if you are not used to it, and will probably give you cramp rather badly. A moderate heel does no harm at all.

Heels and Headaches.

Very high heels are likely to cause headaches and irritability. I find that unless I have small rubber heels fitted to all my shoes I get terribly tired after quite a short walk; this I think is due to the jarring one gets with every step.

Now, there's nothing like a cosy pair of slippers when you're really tired, but I do think that to get into the habit of wearing soft shoes all day in the house is a great mistake. The greatest reason for this is the fact that it allows the feet to spread so that it becomes a sort of penance to wear anything with any shape in it after a time.

The most comfortable thing to wear at home is either a pair of light canvas shoes with a moderate heel, sandals, or fabric shoes. These won't let the feet get out of shape, but at the same time they are light and comfortable to wear.

Stocking Comfort.

Stockings also play their part in foot comfort, and they should always be plenty big enough in the feet; short-toed stockings can do any amount of harm. If they become too short through shrinkage, don't wear them, whatever you do.

The feet should be bathed night and morning, and if they have any tendency to be weak and tender some of the more famous salts should be added to the water. When well dried, they should be dusted over with boracic powder; while eau de Cologne rubbed into them is very refreshing when you feel tired.

If you have to stand all day at your work, you will find that if you have two or even three pairs of shoes at hand so that you can change them during working hours, you will feel far less tired at the end of the day.

Be kind to your feet and they'll be kind to you.

LIME CHEESE CURD.

Take the grated rind and juice of three limes. Strain the juice. Beat six eggs. Take four ounces of butter, one pound of lump sugar. Add together, and pour into double boiler. Stir until it thickens.

A little peroxide of hydrogen rubbed gently over the mark will generally remove coffee stains from white fabrics.

When cleaning the gas stove or range moisten the blacklead with a little methylated spirit. This will give a brilliant polish.

BOOKS OF THE WEEK

LAND OWNERSHIP.

A Treatise on the Registration of Ownership of Land in Ireland. By W. E. Glover, Barrister-at-Law. Dublin: Falconer. 30/- net.

THE author of this work, who is an eminent authority on registration of title law and procedure, must be congratulated upon its publication. Indeed, it might be regarded as the most important legal publication that has appeared since the formation of the Irish Free State, not only by reason of the subject matter, but by virtue of the author's profound knowledge and clear exposition.

The local Registration of Title (Ireland) Act was passed in the year 1891, and has borne the test of administration and practice for over forty years. It unquestionably simplified the involved problems of title law, and greatly facilitated, whilst diminishing the cost of transfers of owners, transmissions on death and other transactions arising out of the ownership of land. Indeed, such an Act was the inevitable corollary to any comprehensive scheme of land purchase. Mr. Glover's work is the result of these forty years' experience in the working of the Act, and not only comprises adequate guidance in practice and procedure, but expounds the accumulated mass of case law which has contributed to the elucidation of the principles and provisions of the Act. As the Act of 1891 applies not only to the Free State but to Northern Ireland, this book is of equal value to the lawyer in Northern Ireland and his southern colleague. It can be recommended confidently to both as an indispensable and up-to-date text-book on all matters appertaining to registration of title in Ireland.

The author, however, has several important criticisms to make, not with reference to the principles embodied in the Act, but rather to the rules of procedure made under that Act, and to the practice which has evolved from these rules, which he regards as a derogation from the original function for which the land registry was created. He consistently maintains that land registration, as conceived by the Act, is a record of legal ownership for the protection of "purchasers," and he points out that the practice has arisen of using the Registry for records affecting beneficial ownership and all the claims affecting such ownership. He also considers that the local registries which were established under the Act have not served, and cannot serve, any justifiable object—particularly in the present age of rapid transport. It would seem, therefore, that these registries are at once a duplication and an unnecessary expense.

For the benefit of the general practitioner in Northern and Southern Ireland, Mr. Glover has written a very useful chapter under the heading of "practical suggestions," which consists of nearly forty pages, indicates all possible pitfalls, and explains the correct practice or principle. The book is excellently printed and fully indexed, and contains a table of cases. The Act of 1891 is reprinted in full, and, unlike the custom in many such legal text-books, is separated from the general treatise—a far more commendable method.

VARIOUS PLAYS.

Spring on Wyn Hill. By F. Sladen Smith. Dance With No Music. By Rodney Ackland. 2/- net each.

Surprise in the Portico. By F. Sladen Smith. In Vino Veritas. By Walter Hudd. Count Albany. By Donald Carswell. Lights Out. By Walter Hudd. Half an Hour to Go. By Gordon Hardy. Good Blood, Bad Blood. By Walter Hudd. 1/- net apiece.

London: The Year Book Press.

THESE are plays for the amateur producer—probably of the very kind that he has been seeking. Most of them are of very fair merit, and have already been staged at the London Arts Theatre or elsewhere. For the more ambitious productions there are two long plays—"Spring on Wyn Hill" and "Dance With No Music." The former is a satiric prove beyond the scope of most amateurs—fantasy, and the latter—though it might is a fine drama, with very good acting parts. The others are one-act plays, and offer no serious practical difficulties. Mr. Walter Hudd's "Good Blood, Bad Blood," is an amusing skit on the Wallace school of drama, though his other two efforts, "Lights Out" and "In Vino Veritas," are not quite so successful. "Count Albany," by Mr. Donald Carswell, is an interesting and quite unsentimental sketch of the Young Pretender. "Surprise in the Portico" is a burlesque by Mr. F. Sladen Smith, and "Half an Hour to Go" is a comedy by Mr. Gordon Hardy.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

S.O.S. Talks on Unemployment. By S. P. R. Mais. London: Putnam. 7/6 net.

MR. MAIS did well to collect and publish his wireless talks; for they formed one of the most original and moving items on the B.B.C. programme. For the purpose of his work he covered the greater part of England, Scotland and Wales, visiting the most distressed areas, and investigating the voluntary work that is done in every separate locality to cope with the problem. He saw allotments and workers' clubs, open air camps, toy industries, nursery schools. Wherever he went he found abundance of good-will and heroic efforts in the face of often almost overwhelming difficulties. Those who start unemployment clubs must face opposition from employers and trade unionists, who fear the competition of goods manufactured by unpaid labour, as well as from Communists, who claim that unemployment is a deep-seated disease requiring a radical treatment that such half-measures can only postpone.

Mr. Mais, after every talk, has included a selection of the letters that he received from listeners. Some of them are panegyrics; others are wild denunciations. All of them are proof of the deep impression that he made on his listeners.

RECENT FICTION.

Jenny Heysten's Career. By Jo Van Ammers-Kuller. Jarrolds 7/6 net.

Mice for Amusement. By the Baroness Von Hutten. Hutchinson. 7/6 net.

Jenny Heysten, the daughter of impecunious, but proud and aristocratic, parents, too poor ever to have taken part in the amusements of other girls of her social rank, has no real interest in life but her acting, and has come gradually to confuse her rôle life with her real life. When the wealthy young doctor, Nico Maes, returns after two years' work with an ambulance in Vienna, he is determined no longer to be biassed by the narrow conventions and prejudices of aristocratic Dutch society, and Jenny and he renew their engagement. Jenny, however, is torn between desire for success in her profession and a longing for domestic comfort with her beloved Nico, while Nico, for all his resolutions against narrow-mindedness, dislikes the surroundings in which Jenny lives, and is haunted by jealous doubts of her relations with her manager and by the feeling that he can never distinguish the real Jenny from the actress. The situation is depicted with a subtle power that makes it impossible not to sympathise with both Nico and Jenny.

"You are a Puss-in-Boots, and these ladies are mice. You kill mice for amusement." So one of Sir Charles Beville's many women friends tells him, when he goes to her for sympathy because his wife wishes to divorce him. This story of how the possibility of divorce reacts on the members of the Beville family, their servants and friends—and particularly on the philandering, middle-aged husband—is cleverly told, and the plot, a somewhat unusual variant of the triangle, is skilfully worked out.

IRELAND AND THE NORTHMEN.

The Northmen in Ireland. By J. M. Flood. Dublin: Browne and Nolan. 2/6 net.

THE leisure hours snatched from a busy life in the Law Courts are profitably spent by Mr. Flood in historical study. Already we have had from his pen several interesting works on various aspects of Irish history. To these he has now added a short, but, within its compass, scholarly, volume on the Norse period.

As Mr. Flood remarks, the two centuries between the first coming of the Northmen and their definite overthrow at the battle of Clontarf have yielded less material for the historian than any other two centuries since the introduction of letters. On the one hand, the relevant Irish annals are scanty and unsatisfactory, largely because of the widespread destruction of monasteries and schools. On the other, it is not until later that the Norse sagas begin to refer to Ireland, and these references are few and far between. Mr. Flood, therefore, has relied principally upon Todd's invaluable "Wars of the Gaedhil with the Gaill," and upon Haliday, Worsaal and Walsh. To these he has added every reference that he could find in the sagas. This is good material as far as it goes, and Mr. Flood has made excellent use of it; but the Norse period in our history has yet to find its chronicler.

Mr. Flood supplies a good and well-arranged summary. After a preliminary study of the Northmen in their own countries, he deals with their incursions into Ireland and their settlements in this country—particularly the Scandinavian kingdom of Dublin. From Dublin he turns, naturally, to the part taken by the Norse-Irish in the colonisation of Iceland, retracing his steps then to the more familiar ground of Clontarf and the position and history of the Northmen in Ireland after the battle.

In a final chapter Mr. Flood examines the surviving traces of the Norse in this country in the names of places and of people, and the development of trade and of towns. Unfortunately, we learn from his pages little of the social life of the period, but that is an aspect upon which the Gaelic chronicles are not fruitful sources.

THE SOUL OF SPAIN.

A History of Spanish Civilisation. By Rafael Altamira. Translated from the Spanish by P. Volkov. London: Constable. 10/- net.

SPAIN is a land of fierce, often violent, affirmation. Not less vivid than its burning sun is the spirit of its people. Its literature is intense in its expression, passionate in its sentiment; its architecture is rich and emphatic; the Spanish language with its full vowels, gutturals and sibilants, is marked by the stress of the racial character. The history of Spain is one of violent conflict; first, between Christian and Moor; then between the orthodox in religion and the heterodox, and finally between royalist and republican. Of a writer on Spain, therefore, we first require to know for what principles he stands. There can be no shirking of prime issues if Spain is the theme.

Professor Altamira's four-volume Historia de España y de la Civilización Española is a standard work, a survey of Spanish civilisation, from the somewhat unusual point of view of a Liberal who is as deeply proud of the past as any Conservative. He avoids alike the distinctive methods of many of the revolutionary writers, and the uncritical approval of all that ever happened which mars many writers of the old régime. In his "History of Spanish Civilisation" he has summarised the larger work, and we are given the means to see Spain through his eyes. Since the survey closes in 1914, we are not introduced to present-day controversy; and this is well, since the work is thus committed wholly to the historic spirit.

Few writers have dealt more thoroughly with the beginnings; and so we are shown the growth from the Celtic and Iberian fusion of those typical Spanish institutions which enabled the Christian race to prevail against the Moslems. It is realised nowadays that Moslem Spain had a very high civilisation and a liberal culture. The Caliphate of the West promised to endure. How did it come to fall before the relatively poor and backward Christian race? Professor Altamira's book suggests an answer.

The volume is seldom contentious. It is arranged like a school-book, and will be found invaluable by students who wish to master the rudiments of Spanish history. There are fifty superb collotype illustrations, principally of architecture and works of art; these make the book one to be treasured.

IRISH HISTORY.

Stair Ṡeanċas Éireann. Cuid 1. Míċeál Ó Sioċḟraḋa, M.A., do sgríoḃ. Baile Áṫa Cliaṫ: Comhluċt Oideaċais na h-Éireann. 1/6.

THIS is an elementary school text of Irish history from the earliest times until A.D. 1609. It is the first of a series of Gaelic school texts which the Educational Company of Ireland is publishing under the editorship of the well-known writer, "An Seabhac." The period covered is conveniently arranged in six sections—Paganism to 432; Christianity to 800; the Northmen to 1014; High Kings with opposition to 1169; the Normans to 1537; and the overthrow of Gaelic rule between 1537 and 1609. Every section is preceded by an introductory note, and in every one the principal events, political, military and ecclesiastical, are presented clearly, if briefly.

Eight excellent maps, a chronological chart of contemporary European events, and a lengthy list of stories which teachers might use to illustrate the text, add very considerably to the value of the book.

In an elementary text book such as this the author must needs confine himself to general statements, and in history broad general statements are risky expedients. Mr. O Siochfhradha's generalisations may occasionally be open to criticism, but not more so than the historical summaries generally in use in schools. In paper, binding and general appearance this book is a credit to the publishers.

EDUCATION IN AMERICA.

America in School and College. By William Boyd, M.A., B.Sc., D.Phil. Edinburgh: The Educational Institute of Scotland. 3/6 net.

THIS book is a record of Dr. Boyd's visit to America three years ago, in the course of which he taught at two of the big universities and visited others, in addition to many schools and colleges. He went prepared to see the best things in American education; in spite of difficulties he really saw them, and has recorded them for the benefit of educators on this side of the Atlantic. Much has been written on American education—a good deal of it by way of adverse criticism. Dr. Boyd has succeeded in penetrating to the fundamentals, and has been able to interpret the subject with a sympathy, an understanding and a detachment that are not found anywhere else. There is nothing cynical or caustic in his book, which is a sincere and very successful attempt to enable us to appraise American education at its full value.

THE HOUSE OF ATREUS.

The Oresteia of Aischylos. Translated into English verse by the Earl of Longford and Christine Longford. Dublin: Hodges, Figgis.

THE Earl and Countess of Longford have tried their hand at a task which has baffled many a good scholar and many a fine poet before them, and the best that can be said of their effort is that they have made a gallant attempt. This translation of the "Oresteia" was played in a shortened form at the Gate Theatre some months ago, where it was strikingly impressive. On the stage, indeed, with the assistance of good declamation, the lines had a simplicity and clarity which spoke highly for the translators' sense of the theatre. Their purpose frankly has been to produce a stage version of the trilogy, and they have made a good job of it; but the reader who takes down the printed book and hopes to obtain an idea of the greatness of Æschylus from it is doomed to a certain amount of disappointment. He will find, indeed, no less in it than he will find in any of the translations (except here and there in Browning's paraphrase of the "Agamemnon")—but that is not very much. It is a difficult thing to render the simplest Greek drama into English, but to render the "Oresteia" has been so far beyond the wit of man.

We would not imply that the Earl and Countess of Longford have made a complete hash of their translation. On the contrary, there are repeated passages in which they have contrived both to reproduce the original admirably, and to turn out a really fine piece of English writing. Their rendering, for example, of Clytemnestra's tremendous speech—one of the half-dozen most powerful speeches in all tragedy, and the high water mark of the "Oresteia"—the speech which begins:

> "There is the sea, and who shall drain it dry?"

is done almost to perfection—

> "In this dye we have our vesture stained,
> And in our house are purple robes unstinted;
> 'Tis no impoverished house! I would have offered
> A mighty trampling underfoot of purple,
> Had this the Halls of Prophecy decreed
> As ransom for thy life."

Where they fail is where others fail, in the choral odes, which simply will not bear in English the rapid changes of measure that characterise them in Greek, and in that bugbear of all translators, the stichomythia. It is just possible that a really fine poet might be able to catch the note in English of an Æschylean choral ode; but nobody on earth will so render the swift interchange of Greek tragic dialogue (which is not particularly "poetic" in Greek itself) that it will read otherwise in English than as the harshest and most crabbed prose. It might be done if the translator were willing to scrap all pretence of keeping literally to the Greek; but these translators are too conscientious to take that course. In regard to the odes, they have fared better, and in some cases have contrived to turn out really fine poems. Yet it ought to be obvious to all scholars by this time that anybody who ventures to translate these choral odes consistently into short-lined, rhymed verse is bound to bite off more than he can chew. Shelley used rhymed odes with magnificent effect in "Prometheus Bound," which is the model that most translators of Æschylean odes set before themselves, forgetting that Shelley was writing a play of his own, and not a translation; but when to the difficulties of Æschylus's language and constructions is added the difficulty of finding rhymes in English and of avoiding jingles, the job becomes too much for mere mortal pens. Some day the perfect translation of the choruses of the "Oresteia" will appear. They will be rendered not into rhyme, but into a strong free-verse which will capture something of the pulse of the original and will bear its involutions better than any ordinary metres could bear them.

We think that Lord and Lady Longford have done what they claimed to do, which was to make a good stage version of the "Oresteia"; but it is not a reading version. At the same time, Ireland owes them a debt of gratitude; for anybody who retains a sincere love of such a poet as Æschylus and seeks to transmit his glories to the people is worth fifty times more than the average half-baked playwright who infests our stage.

LIFE IN THE RAW.

The Unexpected. By Frank Penn-Smith. London: Cape. 7/6 net.

"THE UNEXPECTED" is an account of the journeyings in uncouth regions of an accomplished traveller, artist and poet, tied down by daily needs. Mr. Penn-Smith, brought up in an atmosphere of luxury, was suddenly obliged by his father's financial reverses to face life without practical education or experience. He turned to prospecting for metals in Tasmania, whither his family had emigrated. Those were the days when fortunes were gained overnight by a streak of good luck, though many were the adversities with which the seeker of El Dorado had to contend. Sober die-hards clung to security while dare-devils risked all during the great copper boom.

The author's work brought him to Melbourne, Swaziland and Rhodesia after the Boer War, and he built a reputation as an expert on metals. He introduces the reader to the disturbing racial conflicts that exist in South Africa. He was successful in compelling the Government to equip him for Nigeria. From there he penetrated parts forbidden to white men, danger zones even to the native tribes, regions of cannibalism and ferocious savagery. Here the author won the tribes to his favour by keen understanding and intelligent transactions. Having mastered the Government and subdued the cannibals, he fell a victim to ill-health and returned to Europe. When the Great War broke out he returned to his cannibal friends, and obtained tin for munition supplies.

This autobiography is told calmly and with remarkable insight and artistry. The author never becomes thrilled or excited; and therein, perhaps, lies the power that enabled him to sleep soundly when lions were prowling and leopards gliding in the bush.

Thirty Years Ago and Now : Champions and Temperaments : Memories of a Certain Headmaster.

(BY NICHEVO.)

I WAS racking my brains to try to find a subject on which to write this week, being convinced that, by this time, my readers are pretty tired of hearing about foreign languages, when I happened to buy an evening paper. That, I need hardly say, is not in itself a rare event. Even if one does not want to know which horse won the 3.30, the habit of buying evening papers is widespread, and I generally find myself purchasing them quite automatically. In this particular sheet, however, there was an interesting item of news, in addition to the gloomy intelligence that an animal on which a friend of mine had put his shirt—neither of the blue nor of the hair variety—had failed to run sufficiently quickly at Stockton. I refer to a report of a boys' international golf championship.

YOUTHFUL PRODIGIES.

I glanced through the report, and learnt how Master So-and-So had shown magnificent form against some other callow youngster. One boy of six foot five and a half inches in height had either won or lost his match—I forget which. Another, aged twelve, showed distinct promise through the greens, while yet another, just inside the 'teens, apparently would have done a great deal better if he had not been a victim of temperament. There was much more of this kind of stuff, which would have made the fingers of an old schoolmaster of my acquaintance itch to get at some of those juvenile golfers.

What are we coming to, in the name of all that is boyish and decent? It is not so very long ago, after all, since I and most of my readers went to school, and I wonder what our teachers would have said if they had been informed that "Master Tommy will not be at school for the next few days, as he has gone over to Carnoustie to compete in the international golf championship." I can give a fair guess at the remarks of one dominie of the ancient school, who presided over the destinies of a "Model" establishment in an Irish country town. That man believed firmly in a Spartan upbringing for his boys; and they certainly got it. Our games were vigorous, but simple. Handball in the school alley—none of the tennis ball stuff you see nowadays, but the real game, played with alley-crackers; "soccer" football, with coats and caps as goalposts, and a ball that cost half-a-crown, if the twenty-two of you were able to raise so much money between you; the immemorial game of "taw holes," with inexorable "knucklers" as the penalty of defeat, and a seven or eight-mile paper chase on Saturday afternoon—such were the organised games of about thirty years ago.

UNORGANISED FUN.

We also had unorganised fun. Rarely a day passed without a rattling good fight—none of your eight-ounce glove affairs, but a stand-up tussle with bare fists, in which the participants strove bravely to hide the tears that sprang to their eyes as a nose was bashed or a tooth displaced. You had to win your spurs in those days, not clad in bulging plus fours, with a variegated pullover and beautifully smarmed hair, but with your own grimy little fists, and with a wardrobe which would precipitate a nervous crisis among the elegant precocities at Carnoustie.

If we played golf at all, it was with an old walking-stick and a half-solid ball, over weird courses of our own. Real golf was a game for our fathers, and, as for tennis, we regarded it much as we regarded the hockey that was played at a neighbouring school for girls—as something entirely effeminate, and unworthy of anybody who aspired to be a man some day. I daresay we were all wrong. We knew all about Ranji's cricket scores and the number of wickets that Walter Brearley or Wilfred Rhodes had taken in any given match. We treasured photographs of Steve Bloomer, and could deliver learned discourses on the styles of Rugby players such as Ronnie Poulton or Basil MacLear—whom none of us ever had seen, or, indeed, ever hoped to see. But we never stooped to golf or tennis. If we had heard of Harry Vardon, we thought of him much in the same way as we should have thought of the Hungarian table tennis champion—we should have called it "ping pong" then; and the fabulous doings of the Dohertys left us completely cold.

When I read now of the prowess of the jeunesse dorée, with its costly variety of golf clubs, its obsequious caddies, and, above all, of that youth with the temperament, I realise how uncouth we must have been as small boys. None of us, however he might have been gifted as a golfer, ever could have faced the ordeal of an international match. We were far too self-conscious, and I, for one, almost certainly should have fled giggling from the first tee, especially if I happened to see a Press photographer in the offing. As for the "temperament," I am afraid that that particular young gentleman would have got short shrift from the bunch of scallywags that constituted my immediate circle as a twelve-year-old. Our old schoolmaster would have called it temper, and a couple of clips across the ear would have gone a long way towards its cure; for there was no nonsense about the ill-treatment of schoolboys then. You got what was coming to you—generally half-a-dozen of the best on each hand, and, if you complained to your parents, you probably got another skelping from them.

BOYS AND MEN.

As I have remarked, we probably were unpleasant little urchins, who would not have been "known" by the superior children who are breaking golf records at Carnoustie; but some of us had our points. At least a dozen of a particular gang that robbed orchards, "schemed" from school whenever they got the chance, threw stones at their enemies, and generally behaved like healthy young rag-a-muffins, did not live to see the day of golf championships and "temperaments"; for they went West in the war—one was a sergeant at Gallipoli when he was sixteen; another is a nabob in India, having survived his soldiering; another made a fair fortune on the Stock Exchange, and promptly got rid of it in ways known only to himself; and yet another, when I heard of him last, was driving a bread-van.

One thing is quite certain—their sons never will pose for Press photographers at an age when they ought to be climbing trees and coming home with the seats torn out of their trousers. If they have temperaments—unless their fathers have changed since I knew them—the cure will be rough and ready, but it will be effective. Somehow I feel sorry for those little lads at Carnoustie, just as long ago I used to feel sorry for the little musical prodigies, all dressed up in Little Lord Fauntleroy suits, and thinking of their "public" when they ought to have been thinking of peg-tops and catapults. But how I should love to turn the gentleman with the temperament over to the head master of that Model School. He would larn him!

"H. B."
Milk
"Heaps Better"

DID you ever stop to think that there's a lesson in your milk bottle? Well there is . . . and it's an easy lesson to learn. First of all, milk is the only food (besides being a delicious milk) which contains all the elements necessary to help you grow. That's why from the moment you're born milk is your first food! The energy you need to play games and run around . . . strong bones and teeth, and good, firm flesh—resistance against winter colds—those are the signs of a healthy, growing boy and girl—and those are all the good things contained in your milk bottle. Just think—if Robinson Crusoe couldn't have had milk when he was lost on the Island, he and Friday could never have lived to tell their story. Of course you want to grow big and strong, too—so every time Mother gives you milk to drink think of how it will help you to be like your story book hero or heroine. Besides—our milk is so delicious and creamy that it's fun to drink it! How about a glass right now?

Dr. Edward Lasker, the middle-western chess champion, "checkmated" two bandits who attempted to hold him up in Chicago. The bandits, states Reuter, stopped his car, climbed into the seat and commanded: "Don't stir, and hand over your cash." But Dr. Lasker sprang out of the car and jumped in front of passing motorists to attract attention. The would-be robbers fled.

This is the advice contained in an almanac of 1782, which has just been presented to the museum at Wakefield, Virginia, George Washington's birthplace, states Reuter from Washington. "Take ye heed, those among ye who may be bald, and rub that part morning and evening with onions till it is red, then rub with honey."

GIFT OF ROLL OF NOTES.

MUSSOLINI AND AGED PEASANT.

INCIDENTS DURING MANOEUVRES.

TWO characteristic actions of Signor Mussolini during the military manœuvres round Garessio (Piedmont) have endeared him further to the hearts of the people of Italy.

As he passed through a little Alpine village in the "war zone" an old man of eighty quavered, "I must talk to Mussolini."

The Duce pulled up the racing car that he was driving, jumped out, shook hands with the villagers who welcomed him, and listened patiently to the tale of poverty of the old man.

"I, too, know what it means to be poor," said Mussolini, and thrust a roll of bank notes into the old man's hand. Before the astonished recipient could voice his thanks the Duce had jumped into his car and driven off.

The second instance occurred as he was driving up the Bricchetto Pass. Signor Mussolini met a battery struggling with a gun "Wait a second," he shouted, at the top of his voice, "I'll give you a hand," and, getting out of his car again, he tugged with all his might, obeying the orders of the non-commissioned officer in charge, and labouring under the grilling noon-day sun, with the perspiration pouring down his face.

In every village through which he passed the Duce had to stop, since the entire population had turned out to welcome him. One old woman to whom he talked said as he departed: "Thank you, Mussolini. Now I can die in peace."

"Don't do that," he replied, laughing, "or I shall have you on my mind."

All day long he seemed to be very happy, but never more so than when he marched for a mile at the head of a battalion of the 67th Infantry Regiment at a quick pace, or when he was talking to reservists of his own Bersagliere Regiment about episodes of the Great War. He hailed several of the older men by name.

At another place he pased outside a vineyard and asked the busy owner about vintage prospects. He kissed the children, shook hands with the men and women, and was off again.

Before witnessing a fight between two contingents of troops at Bric Boccola he carefully examined their equipment. He and King Victor Emmanuel met in the Tanaro Valley. Each left his car for a short talk in the road, and then went their way.

Signor Mussolini was out with his troops from five o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon, and had his midday rations under a tree with General Baistrocchi, the Under-Secretary for War.

IRISH TOURIST TRAFFIC.

PROPAGANDA IN CANADA.

For the third year in succession, the Travel and Industrial Development Association of Great Britain and Ireland has taken a stand at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

The Association will display a selection of the best travel posters of the past year supplied by the four British railway companies and the London Passenger Transport Board, who are members of the Association, in addition to the Association's own posters.

The seaside resorts, spas, cathedral cities and industrial areas who are members of the Association, have sent supplies of publicity literature.

The Irish Tourist Association, the Ulster Tourist Association, and the Scottish Travel Association, who are affiliated to the Travel Association, have also take advantage of the opportunity, with the result that, including the Association's own publications such as the Guide to British Hotels, in four languages, there will be over two tons of descriptive matter about the industrial activities and travel facilities of the British Isle for distribution to Canadian, United States, and other visitors to the exhibition.

PIGEONS OF THE OLD BAILEY.

A TEMPORARY BANISHMENT.

Scores of pigeons which have nested and brought up their young in the alcoves and on the ledges surrounding the Central Criminal Court have been temporarily banished from their home.

Now that the fire insurance trial has been concluded that portion of the Central Criminal Court which faces Warwick lane and Warwick square, London, E.C., where the cells are situated, is being renovated for the first time for fifteen years. The pigeons have built their nests between the massive iron bars which guard the exterior of the cells, on broad window ledges two feet wide. The work will involve the destruction of these nests, but any young birds found in them will be well tended. The parents will probably migrate to St. Paul's.

One of the favourite nesting places of the pigeons of the Central Criminal Court has been the space beneath the judges' retiring rooms, which affords them the best protection against the weather. The outer section of the Sessions House which is now being renovated includes a part of the old Roman wall of the City. Efforts are being made to complete the work by September 12, when the next Session at the Central Criminal Court begins.

DUBLIN CHILD ARTISTS.

The Children's Theatre Company, under the direction of Miss Barbara Astley, will start rehearsals next Friday at 17 Ely place, in preparation for the performances which it will give during the Christmas season. The company will celebrate its second anniversary in October, and a broadcast programme may be arranged to mark the occasion. Several of the children will probably also take part in the Gate Theatre's productions during the coming season.

For the Christmas performance a one-act comedy by Miss Astley will be performed, and also a play entitled "Strephon Half-and-Half," which has been written by one of the children—Marjorie Coote.

ASPECTS OF FASHION.

A "POWERFUL FORCE."

Many aspects of fashion were dealt with by Mr. Trevor Fenwick in an address at the Drapers Summer School, at Oxford.

Fashion, he said, is a more powerful force to-day than it has ever been. It compelled motor car makers to alter the style of car bodies and the number of speeds in the gear-box. Even men joined in the movement. They had thrown off convention this year with their gay shirts, open necked and short sleeved, and were delighted with their new-found freedom.

Dress and fashion were a wonderful indication of character, and fashion changes to-day showed how quickly the world was moving. We could no more get on without style in dress than an army could do without a uniform of its own.

The cinema was having a tremendous influence on dress. Hollywood left nothing to chance in these matters, and he hoped it would not be long before we could say the same about the many excellent pictures now being made in England.

A sound knowledge of psychology was needed to select merchandise which would make customers' mouths water. When a woman went shopping she wanted to be entertained as well as to buy. Properly planned windows and advertisements could put a woman in a buying frame of mind before she actually reached a department. The newspapers provided the finest medium, because fashion advertising was at its best there—it was "hot news in newsy surroundings."

Good advertising space would never be cheap, but brains mattered more than cost in advertising.

Two cucumbers have grown together, so that their final form represents a perfect swan. The smaller cucumber curls right round to make the arching neck, states Reuter from Warsaw. This freak growth was found on a farm near the village of Przybyszew, Grojec, Poland.

A hen, in Flemington, New Jersey, has laid an egg with three yolks, two contained within an outer shell, and one in an egg within the egg, states Reuter. The egg was five inches long and three inches through its greatest diameter. It weighed 5¾ ounces.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

The Phœnix Park Races : Professor J. S. Baxter.
"Clauber" : A Students' Conference.

Professor J. S. Baxter.

I was grieved to learn of the sudden death on Thursday at Portrush of Professor J. S. Baxter, M.A., LL.D., K.C., Regius Professor of Feudal and English Law in Dublin University. Professor Baxter was an outstanding figure in the School of Law, and was recognised as one of the best lecturers in the University. Very many of the present generation of barristers and solicitors in Ireland have been pupils of his at one time or another, and all will deplore his untimely passing. In addition to his work in Dublin, Professor Baxter held the Professorship of English Law in Queen's University, Belfast (of which university he was a graduate), and was also Speaker's Counsel to the Northern Parliament. His book on the Law of Property is a standard text-book in many universities—"Strahan and Baxter" being a sine qua non for all beginners of the study of law.

The Phœnix Park Course.

I believe I am correct in stating that this second August meeting, which takes place to-day, represents the thirty-first anniversary of the opening of the Phœnix Park course. It was in 1902 that a group of influential sportsmen, which included Sir John Arnott, Major Eustace Loder, Mr. W. B. Purefoy, Mr. A. P. Cunliffe, and Mr. E. H. H. Peard, V.S., decided that Ireland ought to have a fashionable race meeting. Ashtown was selected as the site, and Mr. W. C. Manning, a famous racecourse architect, was brought from Newmarket to design what is more or less a replica of Sandown Park. No expense was spared to make a successful beginning, and for the past thirty-one years no other meeting has ever rivalled what we have now come to call "The Park."

On its completion the concern became a limited liability company, and, though two of the big five who created the idea have since died—Major Eustace Loder and Mr. W. B. Purefoy—the others are still hale and hearty, and, despite changing times, the Park is going as strong as ever.

Fashion Parades.

I do not know how the Dubliner would exist now without his Saturday afternoon at Ashtown during the flat race season. During those thirty-one years the course has never lacked regular patrons, who are generally pleased to recall the opening meeting which occurred on a Friday of Horse Show week so long ago. Those were the days of great fashion parades, when women vied with one another in their display of finery—sometimes beautiful and sometimes barbarous.

Royal patronage was also extended to this attractive meeting. Shortly after his accession, King Edward VII. visited Ireland, and, with Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria, their third daughter, went to the Park. King George and Queen Mary also went to see the racing there on the occasion of their visit, and those who remember will tell you how much they admired the Countess of Shaftesbury and the Duchess of Devonshire, who accompanied them. A special race was featured in honour of King Edward's visit, and for this His Majesty presented a silver cup, which was won by a horse belonging to Mr. Peard. Next day the King presented the cup to Mr. Peard at Leopardstown.

The Phœnix Plate.

The Phœnix Plate, which is regarded as the biggest two-year-old race in Ireland and the coveted prize of many owners, was on the card from the beginning. On the death of Major Eustace Loder his place was taken by his nephew, Colonel Giles Loder, who makes a point of attending the meetings about three times a year. Mr. A. P. Cunliffe, who will be remembered as the owner of the famous Druid's Lodge at Salisbury, now spends most of his time at his London home in Upper Grosvenor street.

"Clauber."

Fresh from hearing the word "clauber" used fairly often in Mr. Montgomery's little play, "The Jezebel," at the Abbey Theatre (writes a correspondent), I was surprised to hear it from the lips of a native of Dublin. He was describing to me how certain work had to be done, and the word that he used to describe an accumulation of dirt was the Ulster-Scottish "clauber." Never before have I heard the word on the lips of a native of Dublin, or, indeed, of any part of Ireland outside a few Ulster counties, and it was a coincidence that it should be used the day after I had been struck by it in an Ulster play. The word usually used by the Dublin man to describe what the Ulsterman calls "clauber" is either "muck" or "mud," and in other parts of Southern and Western Ireland I have heard it generally called as "clay" or "dirt." The curious thing about its use by my friend is that he has never been in Ulster, and never has had contact with Ulster people. He says he heard it from his mother, and, since he is now well over sixty years of age, it may be that the word was current in Dublin in the middle of the last century.

Students at Geneva.

I am interested to hear that Ireland will be represented at the British and Dominion Students' Conference, which will meet at Geneva from the 7th-17th September next, by Mr. J. Harold Douglas and Mr. Christopher Preston, who are both students at Trinity College, Dublin. The Conference is under the auspices of the British Universities League of Nations Society, and will be addressed by leading Empire statesmen and by distinguished foreign visitors. The agenda of the Conference will include discussion on inter-imperial relations; and I have no doubt that the Irish point of view will be found very interesting to the delegates. Mr. Douglas, who is a son of Senator Douglas, is President of the Dublin University League of Nations Society, and is Librarian to the Historical Society for the forthcoming session. Mr. Preston is Auditor of the Commerce Society and a member of the Committee of the Historical Society. During the Conference the delegates will attend the meetings of the General Assembly of the League of Nations.

QUIDNUNC.

NEW MEDICAL INSTITUTE.

RESEARCH MOVE IN FREE STATE.

INTERNATIONAL SCHEME

THE following are the members of a sub-committee appointed by the General Committee of the Hospitals participating in the Free State sweepstakes of 1934 to draw up a plan for research work on an international basis:—Dr. de Burgh Daly, Dr. H. Moore, Dr. P. T. McArdle, Dr. A. Stoney, Dr. R. J. Rowlette, Dr. J. P. Brennan and Sir Joseph Glynn.

The object for which the sub-committee is set up is to develop a scheme for the establishment in Dublin of an institute of research, upon which a committee of the Academy of Medicine in Ireland reported some months ago. The Academy of Medicine scheme, however, was merely national, whereas the Hospitals Committee have in view an international institute.

FIGHTING DISEASE.

A statement issued by the Hospitals Trust indicates that the Irish Research Institute will be run on ambitious lines. It will work in harmony with similar institutes throughout the world, and its activities will include the study and development of means to fight cancer, tuberculosis and other diseases.

In considering the Research Institute plan, the new sub-committee will meet with the committee of the Academy of Medicine. At present some leading members of both committees are absent from Dublin, and it is unlikely that the first meeting will be held until early in September.

An international scheme, it was pointed out yesterday, will make a much greater appeal to the world than a local institute. Funds for research are urgently needed, and much valuable assistance can be rendered by the Hospitals Sweepstakes in that direction.

HOSPITAL NOMINEES.

The sub-committee whose members' names are given above was not appointed by the Hospitals Trust, which has nothing to do with the distribution of the sweepstake surpluses remaining after expenses, prizes and the Government share have been paid. It was appointed by the General Committee, composed of two members from every hospital participating in the benefits of the sweep.

When the sub-committee have deliberated they will report back to the General Committee, which is, of course, greatly interested in the allocation of the sweepstake money. If it approves of the scheme, it will go before the Minister.

UNITED SCHOOLS.

An interesting development, to take effect in the coming term, is the amalgamation of two well-known Dublin schools, Sandford Park and St. Stephen's Green. Sandford Park, under the headmastership of Mr. G. S. B. Mack, is in a flourishing condition, and the amalgamation will have great effect in consolidating its position. St. Stephen's Green School was founded in 1881 by Dr. Leonard Strangways, and afterwards came under the control of Mr. W. S. Chetwode Crawley. It has produced a very large number of men who became eminent in every walk of life. These include Lord Justice Andrews and Mr. Justice Meredith, besides many other well-known members of the legal profession. Doctors who were educated there include L. G. Gunn, Adrian Stokes, Ninian Falkiner, F. J. Henry, Charles Drennan, of Kilkenny; R. H. Micks and G. C. Dockeray, who recently read a paper before the British Medical Association. The Warden of St. Columba's College, the Rev. C. B. Armstrong, and the headmaster of Aravon, Mr. A. B. Craig, are also old boys. As regards sport, Dublin is full of old boys whose names are more than well-known—James Kempster, D. Pigot, J. H. Pigot, J. P. Pigot, A. E. Fannin, G. W. Kennedy, J. C. Cherry, and C. H. Manders.

Sandford Park, although a more recent foundation, has already acquired a fine tradition for learning and sport. The combination of these two schools should prove an important influence in Irish education.

TEXTILE MISSION TO INDIA.

PROBLEM OF JAPANESE COMPETITION.

The cotton and artificial silk mission to India left St. Pancras Station yesterday for Tilbury, where they will embark on the steamship Maloja.

The delegates are to engage in tripartite discussions with representatives of the textile industries of India and of Japan.

Arrangements have been made whereby the Government of India, who are about to enter into negotiations for a new commercial treaty with the Government of Japan, have agreed to hear the views of the delegation.

The mission, headed by Sir William Clare Lees, consists of seven delegates from Lancashire representing the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' Associations, the Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association, and the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, and two representatives of the Silk Association of Great Britain and Ireland.

The discussions will concern trade in the Indian market in cotton and rayon goods, and probably in colonial cotton markets, which are important to the export trade of India. The conference in India will be followed by discussions in Britain between British and Japanese industrial representatives. These will concern Japanese competition in other textile markets.

Sir William Clare-Lees told a reporter in London: "Our object will be to bring back with us for consideration by the industry at home, and the British Government, plans and proposals which will hold out promise for Lancashire of a more satisfactory volume of export trade in the Indian market, and in other markets where we share an interest with the Indian mills. We are to have discussions with Indian industrialists, with representatives from Japan, and with the Indian Government. We have various alternatives in our minds. Some solution for the problem of Japanese competition in the Indian market, which will be of a permanent character, is obviously a primary necessity for the Indian mill-owners, as well as for Lancashire, and this gives a valuable common ground on which to begin.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS SOCIETY.

EDUCATION FOR PEACE.

After the close of the World Education Conference in Dublin, a representative of the International Disarmament Committee interviewed Mrs. Bird H. Frazer, Dean of the State Teachers' College, Trenton, New Jersey. Mrs. Frazer believes in education for peace by means of a different method of the teaching of history.

"Education for peace," said Mrs. Frazer, "means education for world understanding. While individuals or nations pursue their plans without regard for the rights of others there can never be peace in home, state or nation. . . . We educators in America believe that the more people of different nations can understand each other the more they realise what the leaders in other nations are striving for, and the more difficulties they have to overcome the more they will work together, and the further they will get from the use of arms. So let us get as many stories of the heroes of other countries into our schools as we can. It is very interesting to me to hear of your plans and organisation for promoting the cause of mutual sympathy and understanding. Especially good is the method of story-telling among the younger children. I feel that you are to be commended for helping to bring this work into your schools.

"Our visit to the Irish Free State for the Conference has been delightful, and we go away with a lasting memory of its charms hoping that we Americans shall have the opportunity to return the kindness we have received."

FROM THE NORTHERN CAPITAL.

Housing : A Good Harvest : Labour Conference : The Football Season : The Motor Race.

BELFAST, Friday.

THERE is a demand in Belfast for a cheap "kitchen house" for the working class at a rent ranging from 6s. to 7s. per week. The various housing schemes undertaken by the Corporation and private builders in the past did not cater for this type of dwelling, but rather for larger houses at higher rents, which workers are unable to pay. The Belfast Corporation Estates Committee is anxious to see a scheme inaugurated for the erection of at least 3,000 houses, which, the members believe, are urgently needed, and, as a beginning, they propose to purchase the old Ulster cricket ground, Ormeau road, as a site for 250 houses. The Committee is of the opinion that if the Corporation restored the subsidy of £25 per house, this, together with the Government subsidy of £25, would be sufficient to enable houses to be built at a cost that would permit a rent as low as 6s. per week.

The Finance Committee of the Corporation, however, appears to have set its face against any more Corporation housing schemes—no doubt owing to the fact that they are saddled with over £7,000 per annum in respect of deficits on former housing schemes, and, in addition, have on their hands a large number of houses which are gradually depreciating in value. The Finance Committee is prepared to recommend the restoration of the Corporation subsidy of £25 (making £50), together with the exemption from rates for a definite period, provided the new houses will be let at rents not exceeding 7s. per week. In other words, they wish to encourage private building with a rent limit. This would seem to open the way for building by a utility society, as advocated by Mr. W. J. Stewart, M.P. for South Belfast.

THE HARVEST.

A "record" harvest is reported from every part of Northern Ireland. The season has been exceptionally fine, and not for years has the harvest been so bountiful or the crops gathered so early. Under these conditions it would be assumed that the agricultural community had struck, for once, a patch of good fortune, but this is not the case. Prices for all produce are so low that the farmer is faced with a serious position. Dumping of continental potatoes and German bounty-fed oats has depressed the price of these primary commodities. Consequently the farmers, with well-filled stock-yards, are worse off than when the crops were sown; for they have had to meet the cost of the labour in gathering the crops. Oats are being sold at 6d. per stone, and potatoes are a glut on the market. Local authorities in the North are realising the seriousness of the position, and demands are being made upon the British Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Walter Elliott) to curtail the activities of the dumper, and enable the farmers to secure a reasonable return for their labour.

FARMERS' RIGHTS.

As Northern Ireland is in the British fiscal union the Northern farmers claim the full rights of that free trade relationship, and also the benefits which were promised from the Ottawa formula. This laid down the principle that home producers (and Northern farmers are "home producers" in the British market) should have first claim upon that market, that Dominion produce should get next consideration, and that the foreigner should get the balance, if any.

The fact that the British Minister of Agriculture has reiterated that principle has given great satisfaction to Northern farmers. Northern and Scottish agriculturists, however, are not satisfied with the manner in which the restrictions on the imports—particularly of frozen meat—have been applied for the first two quarters of the present year. Instead of a decrease in foreign and Dominion frozen meat imports they declare that there has been a considerable increase. The British Minister has admitted that an excess amount has been imported, and declares that for the last quarter of the year there will be a 25 per cent. "cut" on foreign frozen beef imported into Great Britain; a 15 per cent. "cut" on Argentine chilled beef imports, and that these two items will mean a reduction of upwards of 20,000 tons on the figures for the last quarter of 1932. New Zealand had imported a whole year's allowance of frozen beef in nine months. Consequently, the release of New Zealand frozen beef would be virtually suspended during the next three months—which meant a reduction of 8,000 tons. This seems to indicate better beef prices for the latter part of the year. The Minister also is taking steps to curtail the importation of continental potatoes.

PRICES.

The new Northern Pig Marketing Board has quickly set about the big task which is confronting it—to raise the price of pork to an economic level, and increase the number of pigs and the amount of pig products exported to the British market. A preliminary meeting of the Board has been held, and arrangements made for the appointing of a secretary and office staff. Under the direction of Dr. James Gordon, the efficient Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture, who is Chairman of the Marketing Board, everything is being done to bring the marketing scheme into operation from September 16, synchronising with the introduction of a similar scheme in Great Britain. Negotiations already have been opened with bacon-curers in regard to the guaranteed price to be given to producers for the various grades of pork offered. The curers have intimated their desire to co-operate and give the scheme a fair trial, and it is generally believed that the average maximum price will be in the region of 65s. per cwt. for the first grade, and for the lowest grade the price will not fall below 60s. It is significant that there has been a steady increase in price in Northern markets during the past few days, and that 60s. per cwt. has been paid. The Northern Ministry of Agriculture also is devoting considerable atention to the marketing of milk, with a view to introducing a scheme similar to that in Great Britain, and stabilising prices.

LABOUR CONFERENCE.

The Northern Ireland Labour Party is not a large organisation, but it is a political party with ambition, and is hopeful of securing several seats in the next election for the Northern Parliament. At present there is only one Labour member in the Northern House of Commons, and the only Labour member in the Senate—Mr. Dorman—was defeated a few months ago by Mr. James Gyle, an Independent Unionist. At one period, under proportional representation, there were three Labour members in the Northern Parliament, and the party is anxious at least to restore this position. In several Belfast divisions there is a strong Labour vote, and, provided there is a straight contest with the Unionist candidates and no Nationalist intervention, the Labour Party leaders in the North believe that their representation in Parliament can be increased.

The annual conference of the Northern Labour Party will be held to-morrow, the annual trades holiday, in Belfast, and a series of resolutions of a political and social nature will be discussed. The Executive Council will bring forward a resolution protesting against the inaction of the Northern Government in not making final provision to give effect to the Slum Clearance Act, and also that an extensive housing programme should be initiated to provide employment and give ample housing accommodation. Other resolutions deal with shorter working hours, superannuation schemes, municipal secondary schools, land annuities and outdoor relief.

FOOTBALL AGAIN.

The Association football season opened in the North this week, when seven matches in the Irish League programme were played in Belfast, Lurgan, Larne, Newry and Coleraine. This great winter sport has lost none of its attraction for the masses of the people. New players have been introduced by all the clubs, although many of those whose play last year delighted large crowds have been retained. Every year efforts are made to improve the accommodation at the various grounds for the comfort and convenience of both players and spectators. At Windsor Park, the headquarters of the Linfield Club and the venue of many recent international matches, appliances for electrical massage and treatment of injuries, including violet ray, radiant heat, etc., have been installed. The new gymnasium can also be used as a tea room on match days, if required. A feature of the game in the North in recent years has been the manner in which centres outside Belfast have been able to maintain senior teams, such as Ballymena, Newtownards, Bangor, Newry and Coleraine. Twenty years ago the senior teams were confined to Belfast.

MOTOR RACE.

The Ulster Tourist Trophy Motor Car Race next Saturday promises to be as great a success as any of its predecessors. An interesting visitor to the race will be Sir William Morris, Bart., who is visiting Northern Ireland as the guest of the Governor, the Duke of Abercorn. His interest in the race, apart from the fact that the M.G. Magnette cars entered are the product of his works, is shown in his gift of £1,500 for the prize money. The race this year will be five laps of the Ards course longer than in former years, or an additional 66¼ miles, and this has involved a complete rearrangement of handicaps. The total length of the 35 laps is 478 miles, and the winner will cover this distance under six hours.

BEAU PARC SALE.

GOOD PRICES FOR SHEEP.

In the grounds of Beau Parc, the property of Lady Lambert, in County Meath, yesterday the 83rd auction of sheep was held, the auctioneers being Messrs. Robert B. Daly and Son, Ltd., M.I.A.A., Drogheda.

One of the oldest—if not actually the oldest—sales in Ireland, this event is always looked forward to with much interest. Beau Parc is renowned for the quality of its sheep. Formerly several cattle were offered for competition at this sale, but on the present occasion it was confined to sheep. Prices were better than expected, particularly in the ram section, bidding was brisk, and there was a swift clearance. The auctioneers did their work admirably. Lady Lambert and her son, Sir Oliver Lambert, were present at the sale.

The following were some of the prices:—

WHY FRENCH BARGEES GAVE WAY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Friday.

All is quiet at Conflans this evening, following the bloodless victory of the Prefect of the Seine and Oise Department over the striking bargees this morning.

When their barrage of barges across the Oise was broken it appears that one reason for the Prefect's success was the action of an old man on one of the barges, who approached him waving a slip of paper. This was a doctor's certificate stating that his wife was lying ill on board the barge.

The aged bargee asked for favourable treatment, to which the Prefect at once agreed, whereupon all the other bargees, not only ceased to offer any resistance, but even gave the gendarmes a hand in breaking up the barrage.

FREE STATE EGG-LAYING TEST.

WHITE LEGHORNS LEADING.

THE eleventh four-weekly report issued by the Free State Department of Agriculture in connection with the egg-laying competition which is being conducted at the Munster Institute, Cork, covers the period October 12 to August 15, and states that the health and general condition of the majority of the birds during the eleventh period was satisfactory. The current monthly period will bring the competition to a close. Moulting was prevalent, but there was no appreciable decrease in the egg yield on this account, as many of the birds continued to lay in spite of the moult. A total of 133 birds were broody. Four deaths were recorded during the four weeks.

In the duck section heavy moulting was general, but the health and condition of the flock was well maintained. The greater number of the birds, however, went off production when they commenced to moult, and, in consequence, the egg yield was very low.

Excluding eggs which were under the weight prescribed for second grade, and making allowance for the death of fifty-eight pullets and one duck since 12th October (the date of the commencement of the test), the average egg yield per bird for each of the competing breeds was as follows:—

PULLETS.	Eleventh Period July 19 to Aug. 15.	To Date. Oct. 12 to Aug. 15.
White Wyandotte (247 pullets)	13.0	188.0

Light Sussex (11 pullets)	7.4	139.7
DUCKS.
Khaki Campbell (23 ducks)	2.8	205.8
Indian Runner (8 ducks)	5.3	215.5

Pen No. 7 (White Leghorn), owned by Miss K. I. Cunningham, Monriade Poultry Farm, Naas, Co. Kildare, leads with a score of 1,406 eggs, value £6 12s. 11d.

In the duck section, Pen No. 5 (Indian Runner), owned by Mrs. E. Loughrey, Drumumna, Crusheen, Co. Clare, still leads with a score of 1,016 eggs, value £4 1s. 5d.

ON THE WIRELESS

(CONDUCTED BY OBBLIGATO.)

TO-DAY.

DUBLIN: Irish Music, 8.35 to 9.45.

BELFAST: "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni), 6.45.

B.B.C. NATIONAL: Light Orchestral Concert, 7.5.

NORTH REGIONAL: Promenade Concert, 8.

STUTTGART: Operetta, "Bewitching Miss" (Benatzky), 8.

ROME and VIENNA: Opera, "Andrea Chénier" (Giordano), 8.30.

ALTHOUGH there is for the moment a slackening of interest, we shall soon have to wake up to the need for "wireless" preparations and decisions, if we are not to miss things we want to hear in the early concerts of the season, favourite operas when the continental opera houses re-open, or first "talks" in courses that are likely to be of interest or value.

Already a fortnight has passed since the opening of the Promenade Concerts. That is the gauge which tells some of us how rapid is the approach of fireside evenings. Is it to be a new set this winter or a change over to all-electric equipment? Ought one to be getting valves tested and so on, to make sure that the existing set will be thoroughly ready when wanted? A month hence programmes will be very different from what they are to-day in the matter of broadcasts, for which the best possible reception and reproduction will be desired by the cultured listener.

"ANDREA CHENIER."

There will be another broadcast from Italy to-night of Giordano's tragic opera, "Andrea Chénier." Rome is the transmitting station, and Vienna also is taking a relay. Unfortunately, Italian programmes rarely state the place of performance of operatic broadcasts. Turin is the headquarters of the North Italian broadcasting system, and on this account one often reads that an opera is "from Turin," when as a matter of fact it is from the Scala Opera House, Milan—though one must add that Turin itself can put up a first-rate performance, its opera house having been the scene of Puccini's earlier successes.

Where the performances of "Andrea Chénier" are taking place at present, therefore, cannot be stated. It is certain that one of the greater opera houses of Italy is concerned; for "Andrea Chénier" is a big opera, and requires not only elaborate staging, but also singers and orchestra of high class. Its action is set amid the scenes of the French Revolution, its hero being a poet of the time, who, although a supporter of the revolution raised his voice in protest against some of its horrors and himself became a victim of the Terror. Giordano's music for the lovers' final duet is worthy to rank with Verdi's closing scene in "Aïda."

ITS COMPOSER.

Umberto Giordano received the chief part of his musical education at Naples, but it was at Milan that "Andrea Chénier," which still ranks as his most successful work, was first produced in 1896. It is said that he competed for the prize offered by an Italian music publisher, which was actually won by Mascagni with his "Cavalleria Rusticana." To-morrow is the anniversary of his birth in the year 1867.

UNWELCOME REFORMS.

CUBA BACK TO FORMER CONSTITUTION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

HAVANA, Thursday.

The Cabinet of Dr. de Cespedes, which took power when the Dictator, General Machado, fled from office, has decided to dissolve Congress and return to the Cuban Constitution of 1901.

This action throws out of their places all State officers elected under the 1928 constitutional reforms.

The Canadian Government has cabled to the Governor of the Bahamas stating that arrangements will be made for the ex-President Machado to enter Canada as he desires after leaving Bermuda. He is sailing to-morrow for Bermuda.

NEW ITALIAN FLIGHT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ROME, Friday.

Italians are planning a new flight across the world. Ten aeroplanes, commanded by Colonel de Bernardi, are to leave Rome in the early part of next month to fly to Shanghai.

The route arranged is:—Athens, Aleppo, Bagdad, Bushire, Karachi, Delhi, Calcutta, Rangoon, Hanoi and Canton. It is expected that the aircraft will return by the same route.

BORROWING OF £250,000.

BOON TO HOUSE SEEKERS.

SMALL DWELLINGS ACT BENEFITS.

THE Free State Government has granted the application of the Dublin Corporation for sanction to borrow £250,000 for advances under the Small Dwellings (Acquisition) Act. It is possible that at the next meeting of the City Council the Housing and General Purposes Committee will ask the Corporation to seek for sanction of another such sum in order to enable them to meet the continued demands from applicants for loans on small dwellings. It is expected that the £250,000 now sanctioned will be exhausted within three months. By that time it is expected that there will be an accumulation of applications for advances on small dwellings amounting to not less than £100,000. It is probable that the rate at which the citizens are now applying—and have been for the past twelve months—will not diminish, and in the circumstances again a quarter of a million of money will have to be raised to maintain a rate of advances commensurate with the demand. When this further quarter of a million of money is sought by the Dublin Corportion it may be hoped that it will receive more prompt consideration at the hands of the Free State Minister for Local Government and Public Health than did the Corporation's last application.

On January 14th last the Housing and General Purposes Committee recommended the City Council to authorise the City Manager and Town Clerk to make application to the Minister for sanction to the borrowing of £250,000 for advances under the provisions of the Small Dwellings (Acquisition) Act. In the following month the application was duly made. Sanction was only obtained on August 16.

SPEEDING UP.

That there must be a speeding up on the part of the Government Department would appear from all the circumstances of the operation of the Act since last December.

At the beginning of this year it was reported to the City Council by the Housing Committee that up to December 13, 1932, the applications received for advances under the Small Dwellings (Acquisition) Act amounted to approximately £156,000, to meet which there was available £155,000. The Housing Committee, in their report to the Corporation in January,, 1933, said on this head—"Accordingly no further advances could be made pending the provision of additional funds." In three months time the Housing Committee will probably find itself in exactly the same position, which will necessitate a repetition of the note.

THE APPLICATIONS.

Out of the sum of £155,000 advances were made on some 300 houses. The City Manager has, however, received 708 applications for advances to the amount of more than £362,000. The sanctioning of a quarter-of-a-million will enable the City Manager to dispose of the outstanding 400 odd applications. These applications at the average valuation of the houses for the Corporation's purposes will absorb £200,000 of the quarter-of-a-million, and as the Corporation, in its anxiety to put no stay on the operation of the Act, actually advanced £190,000 on completed applications, to meet which there was only £155,000 in hand, not less than £235,000 of the sanctioned £250,000 will have been spent when the outstanding 400 applications are completed next November.

If the 708 applications are completed in three months' time, the accounts will probably show a balance in hand of £15,000 to £20,000. But the City Manager is receiving new valid applications for advances at the rate of three and four a day. Last week 17 applications were received of an average amount of £600 each. This week applications have been coming in at the same rate. It is thought that there will be no diminution in the demand.

The Dublin householder is evidently much enamoured of the Act. Its advantages are fully appreciated in the building trade, and those concerned with the unemployment problem regard this method of meeting the housing difficulty as a safeguard against the increase of distress in the coming winter.

The recent sanction of the borrowing of £250,000 for the purposes of the Act does not mean the immediate issue of stock by the Corporation. The probability is that the whole housing position will be reviewed, and that the next issue of stock will be for a much larger amount. There is, however, nothing in the financial position which should have the effect of impeding the operation of the Small Dwellings (Acquisition) Act.

LICENSED PREMISES VISITED.

REQUEST FOR BOYCOTT OF BRITISH BEER.

Several Dublin publicans were visited on yesterday by young men, who urged that no British beer should be sold in their premises, and, further, that signs advertising British beer should not be exhibited.

The men stated that they had been instructed to carry out these visits by a Boycott Committee. They were told in some public-houses that customers would be served with their requirements.

Two persons yesterday visited all the licensed premises in Killarney and requested the owners not to give any further orders for "Bass," and not to display any signs advertising it. They also urged the owners to support Irish beer.

LABOUR MATTERS.

CONFERENCES AND AGREEMENTS.

(FROM OUR INDUSTRIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Yesterday a conference was held between the Irish Maltsters' Association and the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, at which it was agreed that the agreement made between the Union and the Association, dated September 25th, 1931, should continue in force, without change in any respect until 1st September, 1934. This is the annual agreement covering wages and working conditions.

No decision has yet been reached by the unions having members employed by the Electricity Supply Board regarding the position of the meter-readers employed in the Dublin area. A conference between representatives of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, the Electrical Trade Union (Ireland), and the Irish Engineering Industrial Union, which was held at the Labour Hall, Lower Gardiner street, Dublin yesterday, to discuss this and other questions, was adjourned until Thursday next

At a conference held under the auspices of the Free State Department of Industry and Commerce, at Lord Edward street, Dublin, between the Drogheda Master Bakers' Association and the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, a satisfactory settlement of the dispute between the Drogheda Master Bakers and the Bakery Workers' Section of the Union was reached, thus averting a strike of bakery workers in the town.

Senator Michael Duffy, Administrative Council, Irish Labour Party, will attend the annual conference of the Northern Ireland Labour Party, which opens in Belfast to-day, as fraternal delegate.

ITALIAN CONSUL IN BELFAST.

Mr. Raymond A. Burke, D.L., Italian Consul for Northern Ireland, has received an intimation from the King of Italy that, on the recommendation of the Italian Ambassador in London, the honour of Cavaliere della Corona d'Italia (Knight of the Crown of Italy) has been conferred upon him by decree dated May 24th, 1933.

Mr. Burke has the singular distinction of being the only non-Italian Consul now in the whole Italian Diplomatic Service.

LIMERICK DOG SHOW.

In Class 116 (Sealyhams) at the Limerick Show Boxer's Pride was awarded first prize.

EXPLOSION ON A YACHT.

PIER ALSO CATCHES FIRE.

TWO PERSONS SERIOUSLY INJURED

A MOTOR yacht moored on the end of Shanklin (Isle of Wight) pier caught fire late yesterday afternoon and set fire to the rear part of the pier.

The Shanklin Fire Brigade hastened to the scene and the fire on the pier was got under control.

The yacht was towed out to sea by a smaller boat and for a time was a mass of flames in the open sea.

The fire followed explosions on the yacht, in which three people were injured, two seriously.

Mrs. Bishop, mother of Mr. Stewart Bishop, a London man, who owns the yacht, lived on board. She was in the kitchen at the time and was trapped by the flames, which spread with great rapidity. When she was rescued by men from the pier she was badly burned.

Albert Taylor, one of the crew, was blown into the water and sustained shock and serious burns to the hands and face.

Both were taken to the Arthur Webster Hospital and detained.

The yacht, a small cruiser of eight tons, named The Iberia, used for giving passenger trips to holiday-makers, "blew almost to pieces."

Many people on the pier felt the force of the explosion, and the flames and dense clouds of smoke from the vessel afforded a spectacle to hundreds of visitors on the shore.

Mr. William David Bartlett, of Ramsgate, mate of the yacht, who was shot twenty feet into the air by the force of the explosion, gave a graphic account of the accident to a reporter.

"We were pouring petrol into the tank," he said. "We had already got rid of 55 gallons when there was a terrific explosion. The boat was blown to pieces. The deck and the whole of the deck house were blown out. Enormous flames shot into the air.

BLOWN INTO WATER.

"Taylor was blown into the water, and I was blown twenty feet on to the pier. I escaped with only a cut on the foot, but Taylor and Mrs. Bishop, who was in the kitchen, were seriously hurt I was almost stunned by the explosion, the noise of which was deafening. The yacht, a mass of flames, was towed out to sea by another boat, and burnt right down to the waters edge."

Taylor, the engineer, was engaged with the mate in refuelling prior to a pleasure cruise, which was to have taken place last evening. When he was thrown into the water he imperilled himself considerably by clinging to a dinghy moored at the stern of the blazing yacht.

Mr. Scott D. V. Rogers, of Kenley, Surrey, who is on holiday, dived fully clothed off the landing stage and dragged him away.

Some alarm spread among the spectators, who lined the pier, when it became known that forty gallons of petrol still remained in the tanks of the yacht, and there was a general rush when a second explosion occurred.

While fire fighters were at work a pleasure paddle steamer called with hundreds of day trippers, but it was quickly despatched.

After burning for over two hours a motor boat towed the yacht ashore and she was beached.

The yacht was to have returned to London during the week-end.

NEWRY LABOURER'S DEATH.

YOUNG MAN CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER.

A large crowd gathered outside the Petty Sessions Office, Newry, on the occasion of the hearing of the charge of wilful murder brought against Thomas Patrick Burns, a young farm labourer, of Carrickbracken, Camlough,, who was charged with the murder of Francis Campbell (33), farm labourer.

Mr. J. P. Best, solicitor, prosecuted, and Mr. P. Collins (Messrs. Collins and Collins, Newry),, defended.

Mr. Best said that he had been instructed to appear by the Attorney-General, and asked that the accused be returned on the charge of manslaughter.

John O'Hare, porter, of Newry Workhouse, gave evidence as to the prisoner having called there for a doctor and the ambulance on the 17th August. He told witness: "We fell out over the number of sheaves we were tying. He lifted his fist and hit me, and I got a stone and hit him."

Dr. E. F. O'Connor, Newry, said that he made a post-mortem examination of the dead man on 18th August, and found that death was due to concussion, with hemorrhage, following a blow on the jaw. The injury could have been caused by the stone (produced).

James O'Hare, farmer, Carrickbracken, said that on the date of the tragedy he employed Burns, Campbell and another man named O'Hagan to help him in cutting and tieing his corn. About 6.45 p.m. they temporarily ceased work, and witness asked Burns to lift the straddle on the horse. He did not do so satisfactorily, and witness asked Campbell to do so. Campbell did it, and witness put a mat under it. He then heard Campbell laugh, and Burns asked what he was laughing at; they seemed to have a difference, and Burns went to the ditch very quickly, lifted something and threw it at Campbell.

Mr. Best asked that the prisoner be returned for trial to the next Assizes for Co. Armagh on a charge of manslaughter. This was agreed to, bail being fixed at £150, with two securities of £75 each.

COUNTY KERRY RATES COLLECTION.

SERIOUS POSITION.

The County Secretary informed a finance sub-committee of the Kerry County Council that the nett warrant for the current year was £142,997, as against £79,615 the previous year.

The demand notes were issued this year on the 28th July, and the amount collected to date was only £2,927, as compared with £4,617 for the corresponding period of last year.

The Secretary added that, if the rate collection did not improve, and improve quickly and considerably, they would have great difficulty in meeting their commitments.

No order was made on the matter.

HOW 3 LIVES WERE LOST.

PANIC ON BEACH AT BLACKPOOL.

SEA UNFIT TO BATHE IN, SAYS CORONER.

COLONEL H. PARKER, the District Coroner for Blackpool, and the Deputy Town Clerk, Mr. T. T. Jones, figured in a "breeze" yesterday at the resumed inquest on the victims of last week's triple bathing accident on the south shore.

At the opening of the inquest the Coroner criticised the patrols on the south shore, and yesterday the Deputy Town Clerk said that the criticisms were unwarranted.

The Coroner—In what way? You have no right to make a remark like that. I will not accept it whether you belong to the Blackpool Corporation or any other corporation.

Mr. Jones—There was a series of remarks. You alleged, in the first place, incompetency and insufficiency of patrol men. I want to tell you that the service is purely voluntary. The Corporation are under no obligation to provide it. They realise the danger, and they are anxious to assist visitors. It is the safest bathing in the country.

The Coroner said he wanted to wake them up. He was not trying to take a rise out of anybody.

Mr. Jones—Then I withdraw what I said.

A WARNING NOTICE.

Earlier in the inquiry Mr. H. Banks, the Deputy Borough Surveyor, had stated that a warning notice had been put up at the scene of the accident, and if people were foolish and reckless any place was dangerous. "With reasonable care," he said, "I do not think there is any foreshore in the kingdom to equal that at Blackpool for safety."

The victims of the accident were:—Miss May Ashton (40), of Highgate, South Shore, Blackpool; Stanley Thompson (22), a grocer's assistant, of West street, Kendal, and Joan Wilding (14), of Barrowford, near Nelson.

A party of children were bathing when one of them got into difficulties, and a number of people rushed to help them and got into difficulties themselves. At the spot there is a large outfall pipe running across the sands into the sea.

Walter Croft, a sand patrol man employed by the Corporation, said that he had about one and a quarter miles of the shore to look after, and at the time of the accident he was looking after a party of six hundred children from Manchester. He was three-quarters of a mile from the spot, and he did not consider it his duty to leave the children and go to the scene. He knew the police had already arrived. He continued his duty of looking after the safety of the six hundred children.

CAUSED BY PANIC.

Mr Banks, giving his opinion of the patrol system said he considered that the beach was sufficiently patrolled, and expressed the view that the accident was caused by panic.

The Coroner—My view is that the sea was unfit to bathe in, and that for the twenty-five minutes they were drowning no one in authority had arrived. In view of that, do you think it was adequately patrolled? Don't you think that the patrol man was rather caught out of his duties on that day?

Mr. Banks—It would appear so.

Mr. Banks said that people were very cheeky and sometimes used bad language when they were spoken to about their own safety.

"We have a lot to put up with," he said. "There is no danger if people will take care to do as they are told."

The Coroner found that Miss Ashton died as the result of shock from immersion; that Thompson was accidentally drowned while attempting to save another person's life, and that Joan Wilding was accidentally drowned while bathing.

WOMAN'S BODY IN BOGHOLE.

ATHLONE DROWNING ACCIDENT.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

ATHLONE, Friday.

A verdict that death was due to asphyxia, due to accidental drowning, was returned at an inquest held by Mr. H. Macken, Deputy Coroner, on the body of Mrs. Margaret Collins (65), a widow, of Annagh, Athlone, which was found in a bog-hole about 200 yards from her house.

It was stated that Mrs. Collins was in the habit of getting up at six o'clock in the morning to get breakfast for her sons, who had to be at work at seven o'clock. When the sons got up the fire was not lighted, and the mother was missing from the house. After a search the body was found in the bog-hole at about ten o'clock. The morning was wild and misty, and she could have missed her way and fallen into the hole.

KILKENNY POST.

DEBATE ON DOCTOR'S APPOINTMENT.

KILKENNY, Friday.

At a special meeting held to-day, Kilkenny Mental Hospital Committee (the Most Rev. Dr Collier, Bishop of Ossory, Chairman, presiding), adopted by four votes to three the recommendation of the Local Appointments Commissioners, and appointed Dr. Daniel J. O'Sullivan to the vacant position of Assistant Medical Officer.

Following the threat of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to take mandamus proceedings against the members of the Committee if they failed within fourteen days from the date of his communication to give effect to the recommendation of the Local Appointments Commissioners, a special meeting was held a week ago. The Committee did not then make the appointment, but directed the attention of the Department to the fact that Dr. O'Sullivan was a married man, contrary to Rule 53 of the bye-laws governing the mental hospital. They further asked the Department why this rule was contravened, and requested that a reply be sent by Wednesday of this week, so that if necessary another special meeting could be held within the fourteen days time limit granted for the making of the appointment.

The Clerk said that he had received no reply from the Department since the holding of the special meeting a week previously.

Mr. O'Hanrahan said that it struck him as being very great discourtesy on the part of the Local Government Department. It was very unfair treatment on the part of the Local Government Department that they had not the common courtesy to acknowledge their letter. The point raised was regarded as an extremely important one, and dealt with one of the rules under which the institution was run.

Dr. Collier—The responsibility will now be on the Department. Dr. O'Sullivan will be as welcome here as any other doctor, since, on a technicality, we are not allowed to keep Dr. Clifford. In order to show that our protest is neither trivial nor unreasonable it may be well to point out that Rule 53 was drawn up to exclude married assistant medical officers, because we have no room here for two married doctors. Rule 53 foresaw that if the assistant medical officer was married it would be necessary to provide a house for him or build one.

Mr. Grace—I move, as an amendment, that we refuse to appoint Dr. O'Sullivan until we get a communication from the Department relative to our letter.

Mr. O'Hanrahan, in seconding, said that he was afraid that by appointing Dr. O'Sullivan they might be doing a malignant thing in regard to their rules.

The amendment was defeated by 4 votes to 3, and the resolution appointing Dr. O'Sullivan was carried on the same voting.

Many tributes were paid by the members to the skill and efficiency of the present assistant medical officer, Dr. Louis Clifford.

"SENTENCED" CHILDREN.

MAINTAINING HOME TIES.

VALUE OF SOCIAL WORKERS.

WHEN a child is "sentenced" by a Court to some treatment that separates him from the parents, the problem always arises, what are his contacts to be with his home? writes a correspondent. Except in the cases of those children who are placed for adoption or for whom there is no prospect of reunion with their families, there is now a much greater appreciation that it is important to maintain and develop relationships between "placed out" children and their own relatives. Such a contact is needed both for the child's sake and for the parents'. It fosters interest and keeps responsibility active; it preserves natural affection; it gives the child an assurance that he is not forgotten by his own, and encourages the parent to keep up a connection to bridge a gulf that is only too apt to widen. Annually or oftener every situation of the sort should be reviewed to learn how conditions are, and whether the purpose for which the child was removed is being accomplished. This valuation must, of course, include the condition of the original family, the two being inseparable in any good scheme for the child himself.

It is in these adjustments that the experienced social workers are essential, and they must not be so overtaxed with cases that they cannot be leisured and sympathetic in their investigations. To gain the confidence and co-operation of two households (the old home and the new one) is a more complex task than the primary one of gaining the confidence and co-operation of the young offender, but it is a necessary condition for the successful carrying out of the Bench's decision and desire.

THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.

A most natural and wholesome contact results from the requirement that parents should contribute according to their means towards their children's support. Here, too, when, as inevitably happens, there is sometimes failure to meet the obligation, it requires a well-equipped agency with children's workers to provide the discretion to make decisions as to the enforcement of the agreements, when "dunning" should be resorted to, when a visit or personal letter will bring better results, when abatement of demands should be made, and so on. The desirability of parents contributing towards the maintenance and good training of even the naughtiest of their children is always admitted, but let no one think it is the easiest method of finance!

To send to one of the richly endowed institutions of once upon a time was a simpler way than an attempt to allocate responsibility and watch its fulfilment. That includes the disciplining of a whole family into a way of thinking. Perhaps no greater skill is required in any phase of work in connection with a Court than making the proper adjustments between a parent and a child whose home is for the time in some family other than his own. The child, its home, and its foster-home make a triangular problem and co-operation among all three must be obtained at the outset.

It is only within recent times that the idea has evolved of training foster parents, and even now there is a misty sentiment round the subject. It has been assumed that instinctive love of children was justification for asking some eager woman to solve the intricate puzzle of making a good citizen of somebody else's child, a child usually with the handicap of a bad start, who needs to be pretty thoroughly changed in physique and in outlook. To-day we stress the importance of preparing prospective guardians of difficult little charges by some instruction in the science (or art) they must employ. We have learnt to expect expertness in institution staffs. When a Magistrate judges—as often he must do—that a young delinquent would benefit more from the individual attention of a domestic household than from the training-school team, ought he not to feel assured that qualified families do exist?

The practical working of any boarding-out principle is probably to give a very free hand to the guardian in minor details so long as the standards of the employing authority are conformed with. Contacts are maintained and advice given and consultations held, but the balance of responsibility is placed in the hands of the foster parents. These, then, must be chosen carefully, and be in constant communication with whatever channels the Magistrate uses to supervise the cases he has dealt with. Then the data he gets and the experience he gains from reports will not only make his work of great interest to himself but will go to form the character of the Children's Bench.

MISADVENTURE VERDICT.

INSURANCE BROKER'S DEATH.

When the inquest was resumed at Altrincham yesterday on Geoffrey Burton Heap, a Manchester insurance broker, of Elm Grove, Alderley Edge, Cheshire, who died in Altrincham General Hospital last Saturday, the jury returned a verdict of death by misadventure. They found that Mr. Heap had caught his head against a beam when he was coming downstairs.

The Coroner stated that on August 16 Mr. Heap was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Malcolm Ross at Boxgrove Bowdon. He retired to bed early on August 17, and shortly afterwards was found knocking at the front door of the house, with his nose bleeding. He was put to bed and afterwards removed to hospital.

James Malcolm Ross, cotton spinner and manufacturer, said that when at about five o'clock in the morning Mr. Heap knocked at the front door he let him in. Mr. Heap had his pyjamas on and a rug wrapped round him, but nothing on his feet. His nose was bleeding slightly and his eye was slightly black. He went upstairs to bed unaided. There was a small speck of blood on a beam on the staircase, a slight scratch on the plaster, and a dark bloodstain half-way down the staircase.

Sister Doris Meredith, of the Altrincham General Hospital, said that when she asked Mr. Heap how he got his black eye he replied "fighting." He was semi-conscious, and smelt strongly of alcohol.

Mr. Ross said that there had been no dispute of any kind, and Mr. Heap was quite sober when he went to bed.

Detective Sergeant Mathers stated that the beam on the staircase was five feet eleven inches above the stairs. Mr. Heap was six feet tall, and would have had to stoop to get past it. It was possible for him to have got a black eye by knocking his eye against the ceiling.

Dr. Giles, of Altrincham Hospital, said that the cause of death was heart failure, due to severe injuries to the scalp and brain.

SISTERS KILLED IN ROAD ACCIDENT.

Two women who were killed in a motor smash on the Preston road outside Blackpool late on Thursday night were identified last night as Doris G. Griffith, aged 25, and Bertha W. Griffith, her sister, aged 22, dressmaker, of Mount Pleasant, Blackpool lane, Cadley, near Preston. They went to Blackpool on Thursday afternoon, and had been dancing in a Blackpool ballroom. They were to have returned home by 'bus.

Mr. John D. Wilkinson, of Great Sankey, Warwickshire, was giving them a lift home in his car when the car collided with a lorry.

Mr. Wilkinson is in the Blackpool Hospital with head injuries.

WOMAN LANDS BIG TUNNY.

Late last night a telegram was received at the British Tunny Club at Scarborough stating that Mrs. Sopwith, who is fishing for tunny in the North Sea in the yacht Vita, had landed, single-handed, a tunny weighing 505lb., on the Dogger Bank. Early this month Lady Broughton caught a 564lb. tunny, also on the Dogger Bank.

Miss Claudette Colbert, the film actress, has been taken to hospital suffering from appendicitis. The surgeons are deliberating whether to operate.

KIDNAPPED BY BANDITS.

BRITISH OFFICERS' ORDEAL.

PORT GLASGOW MAN WRITES HOME.

MRS. BLUE, mother of Mr. A. D. Blue, the Port Glasgow man who, with three other British mercantile officers, was kidnapped last March by Chinese bandits, has received from her son a letter dated August 2. It was handed to intermediaries returning to Newchwang, and then forwarded.

The letter relates that the men are in as good condition, physically, as can be expected, but naturally Mr. Blue has had to be very reticent in his remarks.

The bandits have been trekking across country with their captives from farm to farm to evade the search parties.

"The country," wrote Mr. Blue, "is very fertile, but the farms and dwellinghouses are very poor."

The bandits are on intimate terms with the peasantry, who regard the captives with great curiosity.

From a statement that they have been wandering about for four weeks it is evident that the bandits abandoned their junks about the beginning of July, which was the period when they were first actively attacked by the Manchukuo forces.

IN DANGER.

A member of the family said to a reporter: "Naturally, Mr. Blue wrote in a cheery tone, but the captives have been in considerable danger, as in the various encounters between bandits their lives have been threatened, and they are just as liable to injury as any of the combatants. Mr. Blue says that they had hoped for a speedy release, but this has been a continually recurring hope since the very beginning. At one time they expected to be released in a day or two, but the intermediaries demanded too much 'squeeze,' and the negotiations fell through."

A letter has been received by the authorities in Newchang from the prisoners requesting them to exert every effort to effect their release, and suggesting to the authorities that they release the large number of bandits' relatives at present held as hostages by the Government troops.

BANDITS' THREAT.

Continued demands from the bandits, accompanied this letter, threatening that if their terms were not complied with they would turn the captives over to wilder and fiercer brigands in the interior. The bandits are quite capable of doing this, as they are not alone actuated by the hope of receiving some ransom, either in money or kind, but they have every desire to embarrass the new overlords of Manchuria.

The officers who were kidnapped while waiting to enter Newchang Harbour after the break up of the ice, are:—W. E. Hargrave, of Ripon; C. Johnson, of Colwyn Bay; F. L. Pears, of Newcastle, and A. D. Blue, of Port Glasgow. Mr. Pears was soon released to bring back a message from the pirates, but since then the other three have been retained in captivity in the hope that their relations, the authorities or the shipping company would pay a handsome ransom.

The prisoners were first concealed in junks, which moved about the innumerable waterways, shrouded by tall grass and reeds, but about the beginning of July the bandits "went to ground," and since then the Britishers have been hauled about all over the countryside.

TRIPLE MURDER CHARGE.

A triple murder charge was preferred at Bargoed, Glamorgan, yesterday when Henry John Dennis (41) a butcher, of Bargoed, was charged on remand with the wilful murder of his wife, Gert de May Dennis (45), and his two children, Leonard, aged 11, and Jean, aged 3, on or about August 10.

Police-Inspector Herbert Evans said that when he saw Dennis at Merthyr Public Institution he said: "It's all over now. We agreed to go together. The only trouble is I am left. The gas gave out. I did a clean job. They did not suffer one bit. I did it at 7 o'clock." When charged Dennis said: "I am sorry it happened."

Dennis, who had pleaded not guilty, was committed for trial at the Assizes.

What a blessing-every year is a 15th year

The mellow goodness of nineteen thirty was put in bond in fifteen. In spite of universal ups and downs, Bagots put their whisky into bond —year after year. It is foresight to know that every 15th year someone somewhere needs the comfort of this rich full drink? No—it's a necessity. The ups and downs are increasing daily—that's where the blessing of 15 mellow years comes in.

TITHE DISPUTE.

FASCISTS SEIZE BARN FROM BAILIFF.

Fascists in camp at Gestingthorpe, Suffolk, yesterday invaded a farm on which a bailiff was distraining for tithe arrears, and took possession of a barn in which the bailiff had established himself.

The incident occurred on the premises of Mrs. Margery Pickett Gardiner, of Delvyn's Farm.

When the Fascists arrived the bailiff refused to carry on. He informed Mrs. Gardiner of the new development, and she offered him telephonic facilities for communication with the police or the County Court, and she herself communicated with Mr. J. O. Steed, solicitor for the Suffolk and Essex Tithepayers' Association, at Long Melford, near Sudbury.

Interviewed by a reporter, Mr. Steed said that Mrs. Gardiner had placed every facility in the way of the bailiff to carry out his duties.

It is learned that an effort is being made to bridge the tithe difficulty. Prominent farmers have been invited to meet Mr. George Middleton, Chairman of the Tithe Committee of Queen Anne's Bounty, and a meeting will be held next week, probably at Saffron Walden.

GAS WORKER'S DEATH.

FALL INTO REVOLVING MACHINERY.

A man's death as the result of falling into a coal hopper and being hurled head foremost into the revolving coal-crushing machine below is described at an inquest held at Leeds yesterday on Edward Robinson Kerfoot, aged sixty-one, of Langham place, New Wortley, Leeds, who since he was eighteen years of age had worked at the New Wortley Gasworks of Leeds Corporation. Frank Rowbottom, hopper hand, of Fourteenth avenue, Leeds, said that shortly before midnight on Wednesday he opened the doors of the hopper to allow coal to fall into the crusher, when he was shocked to see Kerfoot shoot down head foremost into the revolving machinery. He was unable to do anything to save Kerfoot.

Roland Newell Webb, works manager of the Gasworks, said that Kerfoot had apparently overbalanced into the hopper when he was shovelling coal from a wagon. The machine had to be partly dismantled to recover his mangled body, which was not reached until 7 o'clock next morning.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, and recommended that something should be erected to prevent workmen from falling into the machinery.

PROPOSAL TO DONEGAL BODY.

The Free State Local Government Department has recommended favourable consideration by the Donegal County Council of the case of Mr. Neal Blaney, who, they agree, was refused office in 1924 for political reasons. They suggest that he be offered a similar appointment in the local service.

The Only Way.

The political situation in the Free State to-day is not only dangerous, but dismal. It is dismal because plain citizens are peering at one another through a fog of political uncertainty. The plain man likes a plain programme, but now the fog lies thickly upon all the forces of opposition to Mr. de Valera's Government. Nobody knows the intentions or hopes of the various parties, and it is improbable that any of them at this moment could make a successful appeal for funds. What causes keep in separate camps Cumann na nGaedheal and the Centre Party, whose common and prime motive is the ending of the economic war? What relations exist between Cumann na nGaedheal and the National Guard, which has fallen under the ban of the Public Safety Act? Some prominent members of Cumann na nGaedheal—notably Mr. Blythe, a former Minister for Finance—have identified themselves with General O'Duffy's movement. Does this fact imply any weakening of their allegiance to Mr. Cosgrave? General O'Duffy has outlined an ambitious scheme of political reform, which seems to be inspired by Signor Mussolini's great work for Italy. He proposes, by means of a chastened franchise and by various methods of vocational representation, to break the stupid rigours of the present parliamentary machine. How far, if at all, does Mr. Cosgrave approve of these ideas?

Since all these uncertainties are strengthening Mr. de Valera's hand, the national interest demands that they shall be dispelled quickly. A clear statement by Mr. Cosgrave on the whole situation not only would improve the Opposition's moral, but might make, at this time of confusion and alarm, a very useful contribution to the country's peace. We invite him, in the first place, to explain the obstacles which still prevent a fusion, or at least a working agreement, between Cumann na nGaedheal and the Centre Party. Such an explanation is due to the supporters of both parties; certainly it would fix the responsibility for a cleavage which the plain citizen regards as an almost criminal waste of political effort. In the next place, we invite Mr. Cosgrave to explain his party's attitude to General O'Duffy's political ambitions, as distinct from those militant aspects of the General's movement which have incurred the Government's ban. Here, again, explanation is due to Mr. Cosgrave's own party, and it might help General O'Duffy's political followers to adjust themselves to a precarious and perilous situation. The events of the last few days have shown that the Government's attitude to the National Guard is exceedingly careful and, from its own point of view, not unwise. It has banned the National Guard, but has acted hitherto with a restraint which reveals its unwillingness to commit the first breach of the peace—if a breach must come. In other words, the Government desires, very naturally, to put General O'Duffy in the wrong. If he is really a statesman, he will refuse to oblige it.

Mr. de Valera's Government will not be dethroned by shirts of any tinge; the real instrument of its downfall must be the plain black-and-white of the ballot paper. The immediate need—as we have urged and shall continue to urge—is a coming together of all the constitutional forces in a single policy and a single purpose. If Mr. Cosgrave can secure such a unity, he will do the greatest of all his services to Ireland; for he will infuse the whole country with a new spirit of hope and confidence. Directed by one political machine, the three parties of opposition could lay a sure foundation of victory at the polls. Agreement, for the time being, might be limited to means for the present Government's defeat; all questions of portfolios and of domestic policy could be postponed until that essential aim had been achieved. As a semi-military dux and the head of a banned organisation, General O'Duffy can create nothing except trouble. As an organiser of much ability, with a large political following in the country, he can make himself really formidable to the Government, and can smile at the vain terrors of the Public Safety Act. To rally the electors, to promote a campaign of political enlightenment, to secure a safe atmosphere for frank discussion, to provide against orgies of personation at the polls—these, as Mr. de Valera must agree, are lawful tasks of citizenship, and can be done just as effectively in white shirts as in blue. The great mass of the Free State's quiet citizens is waiting for such a lead.

Health in Belfast.

Interest in matters of public health, with its welcome suggestion of a growth in civic spirit, assures a large and critical public for the official reports which are issued annually in our cities. The welfare of Belfast is brought to notice this week by the Medical Superintendent of Health in a lengthy statement upon which, on the whole, the citizens may be congratulated. Belfast and Dublin, as cities in continual growth, may compare notes with advantage on many aspects of the social services, but upon one point their problems differ widely. Dr. C. S. Thomson was able to point out that the city in his care has escaped the worst features of the slum problem. Rents in central Belfast have become so high that the wealthy householder and the poorer worker alike have been driven out to the suburbs. Crowded alleys and lanes—all that was left of the picturesque, but unhealthy, old Belfast—have been cleared away to make room for commercial buildings. This compulsory removal has led, indeed, to one of the gravest problems that now confront the city. The need for modest houses of the "kitchen" type, with two or three bedrooms and a small yard, becomes daily more acute. Some progress has been made by means of subsidies from the Government, but the report suggests that in future the State should provide only the ground, and that the erection of the houses should be the responsibility of the local councils. If the plans were submitted to contractors for open competition, Dr. Thomson believes, the houses could be constructed at a price that would allow them to be let at five or six shillings weekly. Outbreaks of infectious disease in Belfast during the past year were of minor importance. It is clear, however, that much remains to be done before diphtheria and scarlet fever cease to be a very serious threat to the young. The inoculation of all children while they are under six years of age remains the goal of medical endeavour; but before it can be brought into force much money must be provided, and the indifference or suspicion of the people must be overcome. In the meantime the schools and welfare centres can do much to induce parents to take this precaution, which has proved to be of the greatest value in other cities. The high rate of infantile mortality still is a reproach to the Northern capital. Of every thousand infants born 111 do not survive. Ante-natal supervision is suggested as the remedy for a "deplorably bad" state of affairs.

Bargees on Strike.

An air of romance invests the "war of the barges," which has paralysed transport on the French inland waterways during this week. Last Sunday night a body of three thousand bargees, controlling a fleet of six hundred barges, struck work. They represent the "conservative" bargees—those whose vessels are propelled either by horses or by an electrical cable in the canal-bed—and they demand the same treatment that is accorded to the "progressives," whose barges are equipped with Diesel engines. Only this latter class of vessel may travel by night on the French waterways, thus possessing what is regarded as an unfair advantage. The strikers insist that no night travel shall be permitted to any barge, and, to stress the claim, they declared a blockade of the waterways last Sunday night. They barricaded the River Oise with barges, forbidding all traffic between Paris and the canal system of Picardy and Flanders; and their example has been followed on other rivers and canals. Already two or three pitched battles have been fought; for the Government has been compelled not only to call out armed guards, firemen and gendarmes, but to conduct an assault upon the barricades with boats full of bluejackets. Yesterday the authorities gained a notable victory, which has broken the resistance of the strikers on the Oise without the loss of a drop of blood; but the strike is not over, and many rivers and canals throughout the country are still closed to traffic by dense ranks of barges. This conflict is a serious matter for France. Very great use is made of her extensive waterways, and the strike already has prevented the delivery of more than 250,000 tons of goods. It is a colourful affair, however, and one must admit a sneaking sympathy with the militant bargees.

Telephones.

Britain's Post Office is making a resolute effort to increase the number of telephones in use throughout the United Kingdom. Not very long ago it announced that a considerable number of the existing exchanges, including Belfast, would be converted to the automatic system. Now the Postmaster-General, Sir Kingsley Wood, has visited Sweden, where the telephone is an essential of domestic life. It is found in every hotel bedroom, around the walls of restaurants and in the smallest flats; chauffeurs, engine-drivers, tramway men, labourers of all kinds have their own instruments. This widespread use of the telephone is ensured, partly, by a number of helpful services which are offered to Swedish subscribers. There is, for example, an elaborate "information bureau," which will answer questions and will perform jobs for subscribers; and there is a service that enables one to call a taxi-cab without trouble. The principal allurement, however, is the low cost of the telephone in Sweden, which puts its services within the reach of people who could not afford it in Ireland or England. Sir Kingsley Wood hopes to imitate some of the features of the Swedish system; for he realises that far too few telephones are used in the United Kingdom. We hope that the Free State Department of Posts and Telegraphs will keep an eye on his activities, and will make a parallel effort to popularise the telephone in the twenty-six counties. The Free State's service is a good service, so far as it goes; but its range of facilities is limited, and nobody could call it cheap.

IRELAND RE-VISITED.

PROFESSOR ROBINSON'S VIEWS.

Professor Robinson, who is Dean of the Faculty of English and Celtic at Harvard University, has been re-visiting Ireland after a lapse of thirty years. Portion of his summer holiday was spent in London, and later he travelled to Ballinderrig to inspect the Harvard excavations there. Speaking of the American School of Celtic Studies that has been suggested for Ireland, he said:—

"The Ballinderrig investigators might form a nucleus of the school. They would help to promote co-operation between the American Universities and various institutions of learning here. At the present moment there would be difficulty in raising money in America for any project, but the opportunities for archæological investigation in Ireland are greater than in most other countries. An American School here would probably be on the lines of the School of Celtic Studies in Athens and in Rome."

Speaking of the American situation and its effect on University life Professor Robinson said:—"Many Universities have suffered considerably from the economic depression, and the staffs and salaries have been reduced. Harvard was fortunate in that its stipends were maintained."

Professor Robinson spent many years working in the Library of Trinity College, the Royal Academy, and the Franciscan Monastery in Dublin. At that time he numbered Dr. Mahaffy, Professor Ingram and Professor Dowden among his friends. Later Professor Robinson studied in Freiburg, re-visiting Ireland almost every summer from 1895 to 1900.

Professor Robinson will go to London early next week on his way to America. He hopes to re-visit Ireland next year, and renew friendships with the various Dublin University scholars and other men of letters formed this year.

SUGAR-BEET FACTORIES.

A deputation from County Louth which waited on Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, yesterday at Government Buildings put forward a strong case for the establishment of one of the proposed sugar-beet factories in that county.

Dr. Ryan informed the deputation that the decision as to where factories will be erected will be made by the directors of the proposed new company, and all applications are now being referred to them.

HARMSWORTH TROPHY CHANCE.

BRITISH CHALLENGER IMPRESSES AMERICA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ALGONAC (MICH.), Friday.

It is now revealed by Mr. Scott-Paine that during his so-called "cruise" last night Miss Britain III. did between 90 and 95 miles per hour. The British driver refused to reveal more than this rough estimate, which he at first tried to keep to himself. He stated, however, that the challenger was far from being all out and was doing about 150 revolutions per minute less than she had done during her trials in England.

Miss Britain III. is the talk of America to-day. Many motor-boat enthusiasts, competent critics, and veterans who have watched the Harmsworth Trophy Race run since its inception, frankly admit that Great Britain has never had such a formidable challenger. Miss Britain's trial impressed them immensely, especially the way she turned, negotiating the sharpest angles without difficulty.

The first race for the Harmsworth Trophy will take place at 4 p.m. on Saturday, September 2nd; the second and, if necessary, third races on the 4th and 5th of September.

PREMIER TO SEE HIGHLAND GAMES.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald will be present at one of the largest Highland games at Fochabers, the Scottish seat of the Duke of Richmond and Gordon to-day.

LONDON LETTER.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S PLAN.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

When launching his enormous enterprise for national recovery, Mr. Roosevelt and his economic advisers evidently underestimated a difficulty which their bold policy must face. The problem confronting Mr. Roosevelt is the case of the millions of small traders in America. Their position in the matter inevitably must retard the President's scheme, but need not upset it. In common with all other employers they are expected to engage more labour and to pay higher wages, but they are forbidden to recoup themselves for this increase in working expenses by an increase of prices to the public. It is argued, with some amount of justification, that the small trader will benefit by increased turnover, which will more than cover increased working costs; but the rub is in the fact that this huge army of little shopkeepers is without the necessary capital to enable it to tide over the interval until the promised good times come.

Disarmament.

The hope that important new proposals would be brought by Mr. Norman Davis, the principal United States delegate to the Disarmament Conference, is not likely to be fulfilled. Mr. Davis is returning to Europe early next month, and, according to the latest advices from Washington, the United States policy has undergone little change, except that it may accept the French proposal for a scheme of supervision and control of the manufacture of armaments by a joint international commission. The object of this proposal, which did not receive the support of the United States when it originally was suggested, is to limit the manufacture of arms to pre-arranged standard, and to inquire into reports of secret arming, which have done much to disturb international relations.

The Milk Scheme.

Voting papers in connection with the British milk marketing scheme will be issued to dairy farmers to-morrow, and can be returned up to the following Saturday, after which date votes will be invalid. The whole system under which the milk trade of the country will be carried on depends on the result of the poll. Only the dairy farmers who have registered themselves as eligible to participate will take part in the voting, but it is known that the register includes a substantial majority of the farmers. If the scheme is agreed to, the country will be divided into eleven areas, in which regional boards will administer the industry and will register all contracts for the sale of milk, though there will be no interference with the farmers, who will be allowed to make contracts with any other parties at a price arranged by the board.

Prosiness in Parliament.

When Parliament rose for the summer recess, a movement for fixing a time-limit to speeches had been revived, and on the resumption of business in November the earliest opportunity will be taken to bring the matter definitely before the House. This is by no means a new proposal. Not long ago it crystallised into the suggestion that the speeches of Ministers and of ex-Ministers on the Front Opposition Bench should be restricted to three-quarters of an hour, and those of private members to fifteen minutes, with extensions at the discretion of the Speaker. As a whole, the House has always been loath to interfere. It prefers to leave the matter to the exercise of individual good taste, and there is no indication of change in that attitude so far as members generally are concerned. What has brought the subject again to the fore is a growing all-round tendency to speak at great length. The fault is common to all parties, and some members require as much as an hour to work off their carefully-prepared orations, which, more often than not, are delivered to empty benches.

The Football Season.

To-morrow Association football, professional and amateur, begins another season. Some clubs are hoping to make good the financial deficits with which they ended up last year, while others expect to add to the comfortable balances lying at their bankers. Arsenal's revenue and profits last season beat all "records" in League football; for that club finished up with a net gain of no less than £25,000. Forty-eight years have passed since professionalism was legalised, and there was a time when the world of sport looked aghast at the payment of such a colossal sum as £250 for a player. Nowadays transfers at £3,000 are common, and the "record" price paid is £10,340, which Arsenal gave for David Jack. The first final for the English Cup was played at Kennington Oval in 1872, when a crowd of under a thousand mustered on the ground. Attendances at Wembley now reach 100,000.

War Trophies.

Large numbers of once-prized trophies of the Great War are being sold as scrap metal or given away if their possessors cannot find purchasers. Altogether more than 4,000 German guns and howitzers of all calibres were distributed up and down the country after the Armistice. They are no longer valued by their owners—mostly, local authorities—who, having allowed them to rust and their wooden wheels to rot, are busy trying to get rid of what have become public eyesores. Regimental units value their trophies more as the War period recedes, and take proper measures for their preservation. The twenty or so pieces, however, which confront the public at Wellington Barracks would be improved by a coat of paint and by a little attention from the regimental artificer. It is strange that the Guards, otherwise immaculate in all matters concerning polish and burnishing, do not clean up the brass inscription plates more often.

Army Bands.

Professional musicians are protesting again against the competition that they must face by the acceptance of engagements by Army bands. The latest complaint is that students at Kneller Hall, the military musical college, are competing unduly with the profession. There was never a time when so much unemployment existed among private bandsmen. For years the Musicians' Union has been trying to induce the War Office to prohibit the acceptance by Army bands of any engagements outside their military duties, but without success. The War Office takes the view that soldier musicians ought to be at liberty to reinforce their Army pay during their spare time. However, it has issued regulations that engagements shall not be undertaken except at recognised union rates, and has enforced other restrictions which, to some extent, lessen competition.

A "Record" Tunny.

The North Sea has delivered up yet another great tunny—this time to the rod of Lord Egerton, who was smashed up by a big fish the day before. His capture was the biggest of the season, weighing 647 pounds, or just nine pounds more than the fish caught last week by Captain Dugdale, M.P., which had held the "record" for size. It was landed after two hours' grim struggle. This was Lord Egerton's first tunny in home waters; for all his efforts last season had been unsuccessful. Between fifty and sixty tunny anglers are making their headquarters at Scarborough. Many use their steam yachts as base ships, and others have chartered trawlers.

GOVERNMENT BAN ON BEAL-NA-BLATH.

NO MEETING TO BE HELD AT ANY PLACE.

PROCLAMATION BY MINISTER FOR JUSTICE.

LABOUR'S ATTITUDE TO THE SAFETY ACT.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE Free State Government has proclaimed the meeting fixed for to-morrow at Beal-na-Blath, Co. Cork.

This decision was apparently taken at a prolonged meeting of the Executive Council which was held yesterday morning at Government Buildings, Dublin.

The Sunday meeting was announced as a celebration of the anniversary of the death of Michael Collins, which took place during the Civil War at Beal-na-Blath, where a cenotaph has been erected to mark the spot.

It has been customary every year since the death of Michael Collins to have a commemoration ceremony about this time.

According to an announcement published in the Cork newspapers, General O'Duffy was to have delivered an oration at to-morrow's meeting.

The following official announcements, issued from the Department of Justice at Government Buildings, at about six o'clock last evening, conveyed the Government's decision.

"The Minister for Justice has made an Order proclaiming the meeting proposed to be held at Beal-na-Blath on Sunday next, the 27th August.

"This meeting has been organised by the National Guard (otherwise known as the Army Comrades' Association).

"The purpose of the meeting is to further the aims and objects of this body, which has already been declared to be an unlawful association.

"25th August, 1933,

"Government Buildings, Dublin."

"PROCLAMATION."

"I, PATRICK J. RUTTLEDGE, MINISTER FOR JUSTICE, in exercise of the power conferred on an Executive Minister by Section 24, Article 2A, of the Constitution, and of every and any other power me in this behalf enabling, do by this Proclamation prohibit the holding of the meeting proposed to be held on Sunday, the 27th day of August, 1933, at, or in the neighbourhood of, Beal-na-Blath, in the County of Cork, at the time and place at which it is proposed to be held as aforesaid, or at any other place, within one day before or within three days after such time.

LABOUR PARTY DIFFICULTY.

AN AWKWARD SITUATION.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

Certain members of the Labour group in the Dail are not happy over recent developments in the Free State. They are especially concerned about the bringing into operation of the Constitution (Amendment 17) Act.

It will be recalled that when this Constitution Act was going through the Oireachtas in October, 1931, the Labour Party took a strong line in opposition to it. A resolution of the party decided that the measure should be opposed.

Because two deputies, members of the party, took an independent line and voted for the bill, they were expelled. They were deputies Dan Morrissey, of Tipperary, and Richard Anthony, of Cork.

A SILENT PARTY.

Now that the Act is being put into operation by the present Fianna Fail Government, no voice from the Labour Party has been raised in opposition. In the debate on Senator Sir John Keane's motion in the Senate on Tuesday last the members of the Labour Party were mostly silent. In fact, only the leader (Senator Thomas Johnson) spoke, and his speech was entirely devoted to a justification of the Government's action, and to an attack on General O'Duffy's policy.

In this connection it is recalled that, during the first Fianna Fail Administration, when Labour held the balance of power, it was the Labour Party who intervened when the Government had virtually decided to remove General O'Duffy from his post as Commissioner of the Civic Guard, and, under threat of a withdrawal of support, dissuaded the Government from pursuing their intended action.

Several members of the Labour Party feel that, in view of their well-defined policy on the subject of the Constitution Act, and of the fact that they regarded contravention of their policy as so grave a breach of discipline that they expelled two members, they now are placed in the invidious position of appearing to approve the exercise of powers by the present Government, which, in 1931, they refused to grant to any Government.

SENATOR JOHNSON'S ATTITUDE.

Senator Johnson, when the bill was passing through the Upper House, resisted it at all its stages, and in the vote on the final stage the six members of the Labour Party in that House were among the fifteen, all told, who voted against the bill.

In one of his speeches Senator Johnson was clearly defining the Labour Party's policy when he observed:—

"I say that this bill, and all that is embodied in this bill, is a greater danger to social stability, because it establishes in the minds of the ruling classes a sense of absolute power, a feeling that no matter what may be the reason for agitation, they, at least, are authorised by the publicly-elected Legislature to act as autocrats—to act ruthlessly—with the full sense that they are protected by the law."

The information is that when the next meeting of the Labour Party takes place a good many matters will require explanation; but there will be no further expulsions.

FERMOY MEETING PROCLAIMED.

GENERAL O'DUFFY URGES OBEDIENCE.

The Free State Minister for Justice yesterday proclaimed the meeting at Fermoy, County Cork, which was to have been addressed by General O'Duffy. A large force of Civic Guards was drafted into the town early in the day in anticipation of disturbances between the rival factions, such as occurred at Waterford on Thursday night, when the first of General O'Duffy's meetings in the South was proclaimed.

Many people crowded into the town during the evening from the surrounding districts, and the news that the meeting would not be held was received unfavourably by some sections of the crowd, particularly as there is a large body of "Blueshirt" sympathisers in that part of the county.

The crowds, however, were orderly, and when General O'Duffy appeared there was an outburst of cheering and shouting. Having obtained the permission of the Civic Guards to address the people, General O'Duffy advised them all to go home quietly, and said that he did not wish to disobey the Government. He added that a meeting had been arranged to take place at Midleton, County Cork, another stronghold of "Blueshirts," and he proposes to address that meeting if it is not banned.

General O'Duffy then retired to his hotel and the crowds began to break up and return to their homes. There was intermittent cheering and singing in the streets of the town until late at night, but the Civic Guards kept the crowds moving, and there was no disturbance of any kind.

It is understood that General O'Duffy will proceed to Midleton to-day, but, in view of the ban on the Michael Collins commemoration ceremony which was to have been held on Sunday, it is uncertain whether or not he will prolong his tour of the South, and visit Beal-na-Blath on Sunday, as he had planned.

DRUGS DUMPED ON ROADSIDE.

GUARD'S FIND NEAR DUBLIN.

Mystery surrounds the ownership of a dump of nearly one hundredweight of poisonous drugs which was discovered by a Civic Guard while on patrol duty at Fortunestown, near Tallaght, County Dublin, yesterday evening.

Guard Synnott, of Tallaght, was patrolling the road in the townland when he noticed a number of paper packages which had been thrown under a bush by the roadside. When he opened one of the packages he found that it contained a substance which he thought was a drug. Other packages contained a similar substance.

An expert brought to the scene declared that the packages contained drugs of a very poisonous nature.

Apparently no effort had been made by the person who had deposited the packages to hide them, as they were easily visible from the road, and had the appearance of having been thrown down. They were quite accessible to children, who frequently play on the roadside near the spot where the drugs were found.

Inquiries by the Civic Guards and detectives at city and suburban chemists and drug stores during the evening elicited the fact that no drugs of any kind have been reported missing, and complete mystery surrounds the origin and ownership of the packages.

A careful check is kept on all drugs imported into the Free State, and for an unauthorised person to have possession of such a large quantity of poisonous drugs is considered remarkable.

MILLION SEE THE HOLY COAT.

MAN RESCUED FROM MOB.

LIVELINESS IN WATERFORD.

SCENES AFTER FIANNA FAIL MEETING.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

WATERFORD, Friday Night.

EXCITING scenes marked the close of a Fianna Fail meeting, which was held in Waterford to-night. The principal speakers were Messrs. P. J. Little, T.D., and Sean Goulding, T.D.

As their supporters left the Town Hall where the meeting was held there was a rush towards a tobacconist's shop on the opposite side of the Mall, from which a young man named Downey, believed to have been identified with General O'Duffy's visit last night, was forcibly taken and subjected to rough handling by members of the crowd. Only a small force of Civic Guards was in attendance, and it was only with considerable difficulty that they were able to cope with the unexpected development.

While two members of the Civic Guard were protecting Downey and endeavouring to get him into the fire station close by, men in the crowd made repeated attempts to strike him, and for a short period it looked as if a nasty situation would develop.

WINDOW SHATTERED.

With a hostile gathering pressing round them the Guards and their charge were forced back to the footpath, where the large plate-glass window of Messrs. McDonald's bakery and confectionery premises was shattered.

In the meantime additional Civic Guards, under Inspector Harte, had arrived on the scene, and eventually Downey, who received several injuries to the head and face, was rescued from the mob, and pushed into the fire station. He was later escorted to his home through the rear entrance to the municipal buildings.

For some hours afterwards crowds remained on the Mall, cheering loudly and singing, but no further untoward incidents occurred.

DEPUTY'S VIEWS.

Referring to the banned National Guard, Mr. Little said that they intensely disliked having to use coercive measures against brother Irishmen, but the responsibility of government was upon their shoulders, and they were bound to protect the lives and peace of the Irish people and the credit and prosperity of the country. All these things were involved, and would have been wrecked if they allowed the movement to go ahead and develop into a movement of violence such as had already been seen in other parts of the world. In their action the Government had found support from those who claimed to be even stronger Nationalists and from those who differed politically from them, but who desired the maintenance of stable conditions in the country. In their hearts all their political opponents knew that the Government did right in acting firmly in the situation.

He regretted that Waterford had been chosen as a place to create disturbance, it being obvious to every sensible man, or woman, that the proclaimed meeting would have led to disturbance had not the State forces intervened.

THE ECONOMIC WAR.

If General O'Duffy's movement were allowed to develop it would lead to the dreadful and disastrous ending of the economic war. What had been done was done in order to protect their policy and to give stability to the country.

He expressed the hope that they would be able to deal with the present situation, acting with all the firmness necessary, and, if needs be, punishing where punishment was required.

Mr. Sean Goulding also spoke. Alderman William Jones presided.

NARROW ESCAPE OF LORD MILNE.

YACHT SUNK OFF GALWAY COAST.

GALWAY, Friday.

Lord Milne, his party of friends and a crew of thirty-six, had a narrow escape from drowning at 7.30 this evening when his yacht, Roussilka, struck a rock known as the Frathlin Rock, outside Killary Bay, Leenane, Connemara, and sank.

The Roussilka had put in to Killary Bay earlier in the afternoon. She was returning to Galway when she struck the rock and sank within seven minutes.

The passengers and crew took to two motor boats, which were accompanying the yacht, and returned to Leenane Hotel, where they are staying for the night.

Lord Milne (formerly Field-Marshal Sir George Francis Milne, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., D.S.O.) is among the recently created peers. He has had a distinguished military career, and had been Chief of the Imperial General Staff since 1926. He has been Master Gunner of St. James's Park since 1926. He was appointed Field-Marshal in 1928. His service included the Sudan (with Khartoum); South Africa (1899-1902), and the European War (1914-1918). He was Lieutenant of the Tower of London (1920-23) and A.D.C. to the King, 1923.

REQUEST FOR INSULL'S EXTRADITION.

NEW CHARGES UNDER BANKRUPTCY LAWS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Friday.

The Department of Justice announces that another formal request had been presented to the Greek Government for the extradition of Mr. Samuel Insull, who for some months has been living quietly at Athens. The new request is based on a new indictment charging him with violation of the bankruptcy laws.

Officials are most reticent as to the exact grounds for the fresh application, but the Federal District Attorney in Chicago has disclosed that the new indictment which has been preferred against Mr. Insull and ten other persons charges them with transferring property in contemplation of bankruptcy.

Mr. Forest Harness, an official from the Attorney-General's office, has arrived at Athens from Washington in connection with the request for extradition, states Reuter's Athens Correspondent.

Mr. Insull himself declared to-day that he was unaware of any proceedings being taken against him. He added that for some months past there had been rumours, which had grown more persistent recently, that a move was imminent.

CODES FOR 14 U.S. INDUSTRIES

RECOVERY PACE SLACKENING.

WHY NEW CREDIT PLAN WAS LAUNCHED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Friday.

THE promulgation by President Roosevelt to-day of the rayon (artificial silk) weavers' code, which follows the lines of the textile agreement, brings the total number of codes now in force in American industry to fourteen.

The National Recovery Administration headquarters are busy digesting codes for all manner of industries, and thirty have been set down for hearing before September 1st.

The motor car industry code is at present under revision with a view to preserving somehow or other their declaration that they intend to continue employing, promoting, and discharging men regardless of their union affiliation.

A concession to shops and factories claiming special hardships has been decreed by the National Recovery Administration, which has ruled that such stores are authorised to paste a white stripe across the blue eagle emblem of the National Recovery Movement pending a decision whether their claims are to be allowed. After the decision either the stripe may be removed or the blue eagle must come down.

BANKERS DUBIOUS.

A code providing for a fifty-six hours week for ordinary drug-store employés is being considered by the Administration. These are the longest hours yet proposed for any trade or industry, and it is claimed that they are necessary because drug stores are open longer than ordinary retail establishments.

The morning papers interpret the sudden credit expansion action of the Federal Reserve Banks as apparently designed to assist the recovery programme, to placate the rising clamour of inflationists, and as a substitute for currency devaluation.

The bankers, they say, regard the development with mixed feelings, contending that there is already a plentiful supply of credit, but a scarcity of good borrowers, so that no amount of additional credit will enable the banks to make loans that they do not consider safe. They are hopeful, yet dubious, that this policy may meet the demands of the inflationists.

A pronounced slackening in the pace of the recovery campaign is also believed to have contributed to this vigorous action by the Federal Reserve banks.

Mr. Woodin, the Secretary of the Treasury, had a long conference with President Roosevelt to-day, and on leaving declared that neither inflation nor his resignation had been discussed.

HEALTHY TREASURY.

He had assured the President, he added, that the Treasury was in a healthy condition and well able to handle a programme of an expenditure of 3,300 million dollars (£660,000,000 at par) on public works.

The President and Mr. Woodin also discussed the proposed executive order defining gold for the purpose of enforcing the anti-hoarding decree. President Roosevelt is expected to sign the order shortly.

Mr. Roosevelt has ordered the Budget for the next financial year to be restricted to the economy limit fixed this year. He has suggested to Mr. Douglas, the Budget Director, that the estimates should be submitted in time for the Congressional Committees to get into full swing before the next session of Congress opens in January.

While inflation is reported not to have been mentioned in the talks to-day between President Roosevelt, Mr. Woodin, and Mr. Douglas, there is no doubt left, however, that the President, in pursuing his policy for an upward trend, would take such action as he deemed necessary, but that no new move is in prospect.

It was explained after the talks that there are probably fifty different ways of keeping prices up, and, as time and necessity required, the various plans would be employed.

President Roosevelt does not, it is stated, regard the foreign exchange fluctuations as a criterion of progress towards price recovery.

The State Department and the Department of Commerce have announced for economy reasons discontinuance of the practice of assisting individual firms carrying on business abroad. The joint announcement is heralded as "an important change of policy."

SPAIN AND INVASION OF ANDORRA.

RUMOURED RESIGNATION OF CO-PRINCE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MADRID, Friday.

The political unrest in the tiny mountain Republic of Andorra appears to be coming to a head, with strong rumours in the Press that the Spanish Co-Prince, the Bishop of Urgel, will resign.

To-day the French and Spanish Veguers (Acting High Commissioners) received a delegation from the people and agreed to recognise the authority of the six Consuls in place of the rebellious Council General.

The Catalan ecclesiastical authorities, meeting under the presidency of Cardinal Vidal of Tarragona, discussed the situation with regard to alleged French domination of the republic, and also considered the reorganisation of the Catalan episcopacy.

Meanwhile, the commander of the French police, to which objection is taken by the Spanish authorities, has left for Perpignan.

"It is not the first time that French police have occupied Andorra, and it is to be hoped that the present instance will not only be of short duration, but the last of its kind," said Señor de Zulueta, the Spanish Foreign Minister, referring to the situation to-day.

The Foreign Minister expressed astonishment that there was a tendency in the foreign Press to suggest that, in the Franco-Spanish co-souverainty of the republic, France controlled the secular power and that the Bishop of Urgel was nothing but a "puppet Prince." The power of the co-souverains was exactly equal.

Press opinion here considers it unlikely that the French Government will accept a co-Prince appointed by the Spanish Government in place of the Bishop of Urgel.

DEATH PENALTY FOR KIDNAPPERS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ALBANY (N.Y.), Friday.

Mr. Lehman, Governor of New York State, to-day signed a bill providing for the infliction of the death penalty on kidnappers in cases in which the victims are not returned before the trial of the kidnappers.

The bill also provides for life imprisonment in some other cases.

AGREEMENT ON WHEAT.

A WORLD PRICE FIXED.

BIG REDUCTION OF ACREAGE.

IRISH FREE STATE A PARTY.

THE first step in world co-operation for trade recovery was achieved last night, when an agreement was signed in London which should bring order out of chaos in the production and marketing of wheat.

A statement was afterwards issued declaring that the Governments of Germany, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, France, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Greece, Hungary, the Irish Free State, Italy, Poland, Rumania, Spain, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, the U.S.S.R., and Yugoslavia, having accepted the invitation extended to them by the Secretary-General of the Monetary and Economic Conference on behalf of the Governments of Argentina, Australia, Canada and the United States of America to take part in a conference to consider the measures which might be taken in concert to adjust the supply of wheat to effective world demand, and eliminate the abnormal surpluses which have been depressing the wheat market, and to bring about a rise and stabilisation of prices at a level remunerative to the farmers and fair to the consumers of breadstuffs, had agreed to the following:—

1—The Governments of Argentina, Australia, Canada, and the United States of America agree that the exports of wheat from their several countries during the crop year August 1st, 1933, to July 31st, 1934, shall be adjusted, taking into consideration the exports of other countries, by the acceptance of export maxima fixed on the assumption that world import demand for wheat will amount during this period to 560 million bushels.

U.S.-CANADIAN SURPLUS.

2—They further agree to limit their exports of wheat during the crop year August 1st, 1934, to July 31st, 1935, to maximum figures 15 per cent. less in the case of each country than the average outturn on the average acreage sown during this period 1931-33, inclusive, after deducting normal domestic requirements. The difference between the effective world demand for wheat in the crop year 1934-5, and the quantity of new wheat from the 1934 crop available for export will be shared between Canada and the United States of America as a supplementary export allocation with a view to the proportionate reduction of their respective carry-overs.

3—The Governments of Bulgaria, Hungary, Rumania and Yugoslavia agree that their combined exports of wheat during the crop year August 1st, 1933, to July 31st, 1934, will not exceed 50 million bushels. This undertaking is made on the understanding that the aggregate may be increased to a maximum of 54 million bushels if the Danubian countries find that such a supplementary quota is required for the movement of the exportable surplus of the 1933 crop.

4—They further agree that their combined exports of wheat during the crop year 1934-35 will not exceed a total of 50 million bushels, and recognise that the acceptance of this export allocation will not allow of any extension of the acreage sown to wheat.

RUSSIAN EXPORTS.

5—The Government of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, while unable to give any undertaking in regard to production of wheat, agree to limit their exports for the crop year 1933-34 to a figure which will be arrived at upon the completion of negotiations with the Governments of the overseas wheat-exporting countries. They also agree that the question of their export of wheat during the crop year 1934-35 shall be the subject of further negotiations with the wheat-exporting countries represented upon the Advisory Committee.

6—The Governments of the wheat importing countries, in signing this instrument (1) agree henceforth not to encourage any extension of the area sown to wheat, and not to take any governmental measures the effect of which would be to increase the domestic production of wheat; (2) agree to adopt every possible measure to increase the consumption of wheat, and are prepared to bring about the progressive removal of measures which tend to lower the quality of bread-stuffs and thereby decrease the human consumption of wheat; (3) agree that a substantial improvement in the price of wheat should have as its consequence a lowering of Customs tariffs, and are prepared to begin such adjustment of Customs tariffs when the international price of wheat reaches and maintains for a specified period an average price to be fixed. It is understood that the rate of duty necessary to assure remunerative prices may vary for different countries, but will not be sufficiently high to encourage their farmers to extend wheat acreage; (4) agree that, in order to restore more normal conditions in world trade in wheat, the reduction of Customs tariffs would have to be accompanied by modification of the general régime of quantitative restriction of wheat imports, and accept in principle the desirability of such a modification.

TO INCREASE TRADE.

The exporting countries, for their part, agree that it may not be possible to make substantial progress in these modifications in 1933-34, but the importing countries are prepared to make effective alterations in 1934-35 if world prices have taken a definitely upward turn from the average price of the first six months of the calendar year 1933.

The objective of these relaxations of the various forms of quantitative restriction will be to restore a more normal balance between total consumption and imports, and thereby to increase the volume of international trade in wheat.

It is understood that this undertaking is consistent with maintaining the home market for domestic wheat grown on an area no greater than at present. It is obvious that fluctuations in the quantity and quality of the wheat harvest resulting from weather conditions may bring about wide variations in the ratio of imports to total consumption from season to season.

CONSUMERS' OBLIGATIONS.

The obligations of the importing countries under this agreement are to be interpreted in the light of the following declaration:—

It is recognised that measures affecting the area of wheat grown, and the degree of protection adopted, are primarily dependent upon domestic conditions within each country, and that any change in these measures must often require the sanction of the Legislature. The intention of this agreement is, nevertheless, that the importing countries will not take advantage of a voluntary reduction of exports on the part of the exporting countries by developing their domestic policies in such a way as to frustrate the efforts which the exporting countries are making in the common interest to restore the price of wheat to a remunerative level.

BLACK LISTS OF GERMANS.

NOTED MEN LOSE NATIONALITY.

NO OPPORTUNITY OF DEFENCE GIVEN.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Friday.

TO-DAY'S black list of thirty-three "traitors" who have been deprived of their German citizenship is the first one of several which are to be issued, according to the Press.

As the Boersen Zeitung puts it, "none of the traitors and defilers of their own country have been forgotten, and their names will duly appear in further lists."

Germany has thus followed the example of Soviet Russia, and Europe will soon have hundreds of Germans without nationality wandering from land to land.

Dr. Frick, Minister of the Interior, in agreement with Baron von Neurath, the Foreign Minister, has annulled the German citizenship of the following famous Germans, now abroad, who have "injured German interests by behaviour which conflicts with the duty of loyalty to people, nation and Reich."

PROPERTY CONFISCATED.

The property of these men has, at the same time, been confiscated.

They include:—George Bernhard, formerly editor of the Vossische Zeitung; Dr. Rudolf Breitscheid, Socialist Reichstag leader; Leon Feuchtwanger, the famous author; Helmuth von Serlach, a distinguished pacifist; Max Hoelz, Communist, and "Robin Hood" of the revolution days; Dr. Alfred Kerr, formerly dramatic critic on the Berliner Tageblatt; Heinrich Mann, well-known author; Philip Scheidemann, Socialist ex-Chancellor; Friedrich Stampfer, editor of the Socialist Vorwaerts; Ernst Toller and Dr. Kurt Tucholski, well-known authors; Otto Wels, Socialist leader; Robert Weissmann, for many years Prussian Secretary of State; Albert Grzesinski, formerly Police President of Berlin; Bernard Weiss, former Vice-Police Chief of Berlin; Emil Gumbel, Professor of Heidelberg University; Professor Soester, the Communist deputy; Pieck, the Communist millionaire; Muenzenberg and Ruth Fischer.

All the persons on to-day's list have been deprived of their German citizenship without being summoned to return to Germany to answer for their alleged misdeeds. Their wives and children retain German nationality, which can, however, also be taken from them by order of the Minister of the Interior.

APPEAL TO LEAGUE.

After a stormy session, lasting all night, the Zionist Congress at Prague adopted a resolution calling on the League of Nations to help Jewry against the German persecutions, and calling on the mandatory Power—Great Britain—to throw Palestine open to German Jewish refugees.

Figures given by Dr. Arthur J. Ruppin, an economic expert, who has been making investigations in Germany, show that 8,000 Jewish doctors, 4,000 lawyers, 2,000 dentists and thousands of other Jews in that country have been left without any means whatever of earning their livelihood, and are living on their small savings. When these savings give out, he said, the real tragedy of the German Jews will begin.

"It is no exaggeration when I state that, if the present German régime lasts, one half of German Jewry will be left without any means of subsistence whatever, and the other half will be earning so little that it will be reduced to pauperism."

BOYCOTT FEARED IN SOUTH AFRICA.

HERTZOG APPEALS FOR RESTRAINT.

Suggestions of an anti-German economic boycott on the part of South Africa, and also a possible anti-Nazi outbreak in South-West Africa, have prompted General Hertzog, the Prime Minister, to an unusual step.

The Prime Minister has appealed officially to South Africans to realise the gravity of the situation in Germany, and to abstain in word or action from anything that may harm the Union.

He says that the Government has noted with concern the reaction in the Union to events which have occurred in Germany recently. He points out, further, that "Germany is actually in the throes of revolution, and history teaches us that in times of revolution it happens that the innocent suffer with the guilty."

General Hertzog stresses that each country is entitled to treat its own nationals as it likes, without outside interference.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

A SUCCESSFUL CONFERENCE.

The Times observes in regard to the agreement reached by the important wheat-producing and wheat-consuming countries: More important than the actual terms of the bargain is the fact that, in the case of the most important of all primary commodities, it has been found possible to reach an agreement acceptable both to the exporting and to the importing countries. This has necessarily involved concessions on both sides, but during the negotiations the terms of the bargain have been examined closely from every angle, and those who have negotiated it and signed it are confident that all the countries participating will stand to gain from it more than they are called upon to sacrifice. The greatest gain in prospect is, of course, the revival of international trade in general—not merely the wheat trade—which can hardly fail to follow if wheat-growing becomes once more a profitable occupation.

The success attained has been largely due to the driving power of Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bruce, who were able, with exceptional authority, to define the policies of the two great wheat-producing Dominions. A notable feature of the agreement is that it sets up an advisory committee, on which both the exporting and importing countries are represented, to supervise the execution of the programme agreed upon both between the exporting countries themselves and between them and the importing countries. The failure to create any such body for the British Empire was one of the chief flaws in the work of the Ottawa Conference, a flaw which unhappily was left completely unrectified by the Committee on Economic Consultation and Co-operation, which was appointed to study the question, and which produced its unsatisfying report in June last. In this respect, the Wheat Conference, representing thirty countries of widely different degrees of development and widely different traditions, has shown surprisingly a keener sense of the practical conditions for economic collaboration than was shown at Ottawa by the representatives of the British nations. The whole agreement may be regarded as a first instalment of the programme for economic recovery which the World Conference was called together to frame.

INDUSTRIAL TRUST CO. OF IRELAND.

APPOINTMENT OF LIQUIDATOR.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED.

WORLD DEPRESSION BLAMED.

AN extraordinary general meeting of the Industrial Trust Company of Ireland, Limited, was held at the company's offices, 15 St. Andrew street, Dublin, yesterday, for the purpost of receiving the directors' report and statement of accounts for the fifteen months' period ended 30th June, 1933, and of considering a motion that the company be wound up voluntarily and that a liquidator be appointed.

When representatives of the Press arrived for the meeting they were informed by Mr. David Telford, Chairman, that the proceedings would be strictly private, that the Press would not be admitted, and that a statement would afterwards be issued. The proceedings lasted about an hour and a half, and later the following statement was issued:—

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. David Telford (Chairman) said:—"Gentlemen, this is an extraordinary general meeting, called for a special purpose, but for the information of the shareholders the directors have issued a report and accounts made up to the 30th June last, which has been in your hands for some days. I cannot add anything very useful or informative to what is contained in this report, but if you will bear with me for a few minutes I would like to put a very brief summary of the company's operations and history since its inception before you.

FORMATION OF THE COMPANY.

"It may be remembered that when the First Trade Loans Act was passed there was some difficulty in getting the banks to finance the loans owing to the extended period over which they were payable, and a suggestion was then made that a Trust Company should be formed which, amongst other activities, would finance these loans. I and my colleagues were asked to become directors. The Government invested £50,000, the banks put up a substantial sum, a further contribution was obtained from a few American sympathisers; the directors and some members of the public found the remainder of the issued capital, and Mr. Smith Gordon was appointed managing director. We cashed such Government guaranteed loans as were presented to us, and engaged in underwriting, investing in approved securities, and such operations as are usually carried out by Trust companies.

A SUCCESSFUL START.

"For the first years of the company's existence we made a good deal of money, and I am convinced that if the world of finance had remained in the same condition as it then was, that the company would have had a fairly successful career. No investments were made unless on the recommendation of the managing director during his term of office, after consultation with financial houses with which he was in close touch. These investments were, in the main, sound, but were bought at the wrong time. If we could have foreseen the future, we would have been safer in keeping the money unproductive in the bank. Up to the end of 1927 we paid dividends and had started a reserve fund. During the year 1928 the fall in securities started, and, although the accounts of the company to the 31st March, 1929, showed a profit of £24,000, sufficient to pay a handsome dividend, the directors in their discretion did not recommend any dividend owing to depreciation of the investments, which at that time amounted to £50,000.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE.

"For the following year—viz., to the 31st March, 1930—a handsome profit was also earned; but, unfortunately, no improvement had taken place in the value of our investments, as was shown by the accounts issued for that period. For the year to the 31st March, 1931, there was again a surplus income sufficient to pay a dividend, but the securities of the company had further depreciated, and stood in the books at £96,000, more than their market value. You will remember that this also was disclosed in the accounts to that date, and I should here state that during all this period we took the best advice obtainable as to what stock should be sold and what should be retained until normal conditions prevailed. We still had a good surplus income for the year to 31st March, 1932, but there was still no further improvement in the market value of our investments.

BANK OVERDRAFT CALLED IN.

Now, gentlemen, that brings us up to the accounts in your hands. As stated in the directors' report, our bankers formed the opinion that the account carried some risk, and requested us to pay off the overdraft. We have no grievance against the bank, because they must protect their shareholders; but, as it has turned out, their action was most unfortunate for us. If the tide had turned some months earlier we would not be in the position we are in to-day; the bank in that case would have had plenty of cover, and we would have carried on until such times as existed three or four years ago returned.

"WORLD DEPRESSION."

"If you ask me why our investments depreciated to such an extent, I can only answer in two words, 'World depression,' and, incidentally, one of the minor results arising from this was moratoriums declared by certain foreign countries in whose bonds we were interested, and which were bought under the best advice. It is not much consolation to us, but I do not think there is a trust company in Great Britain who has not had the same experience we have had. I was reading a report the other day of a trust company whose investments had depreciated to the enormous extent of nearly £400,000, but these old-established companies had large reserves to fall back on, and we had none.

LOSS ON GREAT SOUTHERN PREFERENCE.

able prospect of success, and no application was turned down without the most careful and sympathetic examination. The results were anything but satisfactory. As a matter of fact, however, the greatest loss sustained in Irish securities was in the Preference Stock of the Great Southern Railways, an old-established undertaking. This investment produced a good return at the price we paid for the stock, and no one could have ever thought that the greatest trunk line of railways in Ireland would have defaulted on their Preference dividend.

"I think you will agree with me that we are very largely the victims of circumstances. I do not say that all the investments we made were wise, because a limited number of them were not, as events have turned out; but I can truthfully say that practically every investment was carefully examined, and advice taken from those whose business it is to watch the markets.

FINANCE MINISTER'S DIRECTION.

"The Minister for Finance knows the position of the company and the circumstances which led up to it. He has informed us that we should wind-up, and, much as I regret it, I have to agree with him. Since the date of the accounts in your hands we have disposed of the Kilteragh mortgage, and realised the major portion of the investments. The Liquidator will realise the balance, pay off the debentures, arrange with a bank to take over the guaranteed loans (no difficulty is anticipated in doing this), and distribute the balance amongst the shareholders."

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

A number of shareholders present asked questions as to the investments of the company and who was responsible, and certain criticism of the directors took place.

In reply to a specific question, the Chairman stated that the major portion of the losses incurred by the company were outside this country.

A representative of the Minister for Finance was present, and stated that he wished it to be clearly understood that the losses of the company were not as a result of their investments during the last few years, and that he wished to make it clear on behalf of the Minister that the Government are not in any way responsible for the policy of the company.

The following resolution was passed unanimously:—

> "That the company be wound-up voluntarily, and that Mr. Michael Lynch, of 27 Westmoreland street, Dublin, be and he is hereby appointed Liquidator for the purpose of such winding-up."

The following resolution was proposed by Mr. Michael W. O'Reilly and, having been accepted by the directors, was passed unanimously:—

> "That the Liquidator, Mr. Michael Lynch, be instructed to make a full investigation of the activities of the company since its inception, with particular reference to the investments made, and upon whose advice the investments were made and all relevant matters in connection therewith."

SHARP CRITICISM.

Our representative learned afterwards that the directors' report and statement of accounts had come in for sharp criticism from the shareholders present.

Senator Mrs. Wyse Power wanted to know who was responsible for the general management of the company up to 1929 and then in the years 1930, 1931 and 1932, and who were the directors in these years. She asked what share, if any, in the management had been taken by the directors, and wanted to know whether the shareholders had any redress for the loss they had sustained. The balance sheet submitted showed that for the fifteen months period ended 30th June, 1933, there had been a loss on realisation of investments of the sum of £146,536 0s. 1d. The Senator inquired how the finances of the company were invested, and asked for the particulars of every investment, with the names of the stockholders.

A CALAMITOUS POSITION.

Mr. R. N. Tweedy pointed out that the company had been started as an attempt to foster backward Irish industries and to improve the position of all Irish industries needing help, but that actually from the start none of that investment had been in that form, and that only seven short years had been needed to reduce the company to the calamitous position in which they now found themselves, with not a single penny to be divided amongst the ordinary shareholders. He took himself as typical of the small shareholders in this country and in America. He had taken out of an absolute gilt-edged Irish security the sum of £1,000 and put it into the Industrial Trust Company, with the sole object of helping on his work of assisting Irish industries. He would not have done that if he had not thought that there would have been a return of five or six per cent. coming in. He and other investors, particularly those in America, were entitled to that belief, seeing the company had on its Board some of the best-known businessmen in this country. His feeling was that no money should have been invested except in Irish securities, such as came under the Trades Loan Guarantee Acts. It was in that belief that he and many other people invested their money. He was not making any suggestion of dishonesty, but the present position of the company suggested to him that the Board was either incompetent or guilty of neglect. The excuse of the chairman was that they got very few applications for loans, and that if they had not started these investments they would have to sit doing nothing. His (Mr. Tweedy's) answer to that was it would be far better to sit idle than to invest the money as it had been. He thought, too, it was a pity that they did not have the liquidation three or four

LORD MARLEY IN JAPAN.

TRUNKS BROKEN OPEN AND BOOKS SEIZED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SHANGHAI, Friday.

Lord Marley, who was forbidden to land in Japan because he was a delegate to the Anti-War Conference in Shanghai, gave a graphic account of his experiences at Kobe to Reuter's Correspondent when he arrived here to-day.

For four hours, he said, he was submitted to a searching cross-examination by Japanese officials, who repeatedly telephoned to Tokyo to report his answers. He was eventually allowed to land on condition that he promised to obey the orders of the police, the alternative being to remain aboard until the vessel reached Honolulu.

Lord Marley said that while waiting for a ship to Shanghai he was not allowed to see anyone, not even the British Consul. The Japanese police broke open his trunk in the bonded Customs warehouse, and confiscated works of Voltaire and Descartes and a number of French novels.

Lord Marley expressed the opinion that the Japanese Government was most uncertain of its position, and that the condition of the workers in Japan was appalling. He bought a pair of shoes in Kobe for 4½d. which he would be lucky to buy for 3s. in London.

He declared himself more convinced than ever that war was inevitable. The Japanese were increasing their Air Force to guard against air raids from Vladivostok. He predicted a race in naval armaments at the conclusion of the London Naval Treaty.

Asked what the position would be if the United States whittled down its navy, he replied that the result would be to put the United States in the same position as China, as a market for Japanese goods.

SHRAPNEL REMOVED AFTER 16 YEARS.

For sixteen years ex-Private Edward Morgan, of The Moor, Cockermouth, Cumberland, has been within an ace of death. A piece of shrapnel the size of a pebble has been embedded in his skull an inch from his brain. It went in at Passchendale in 1917.

Army surgeons in France and specialists at Leeds and Carlisle endeavoured to remove the metal, but without success. An operation was impossible because of the danger of injury to the brain. Recently the shrapnel began to move away from the brain. The point of the metal had turned outwards.

In Carlisle Infirmary it was found that the long-awaited operation was possible at last. Dr. Caird removed the shrapnel, and now Morgan is out of all danger.

years ago, when it would have been much better for the shareholders.

Mr. Fintan Murphy supported Mr. Tweedy in his criticism.

MR. J. J. MCELLIGOTT'S EXPLANATION.

Mr. McElligott, of the Ministry for Finance, who was also present, said it was desirable in the interests of the State and industrial credit, to make it clear that the difficulties which had led to the proposal to wind up the company were in no way connected with any losses sustained in these investments, they would have to sit Irish industry. So far as such investments in Irish industry were concerned, they were in virtually all cases covered by Government guarantee, and, where the original borrower had defaulted, the Government guarantee had been fully honoured. It was also desirable to say that the difficulties of the company were not of recent growth. Its position had become steadily worse over a period of years, and the present Government could accept no responsibility for the situation which had now arisen—a situation due, it might be remarked, to non-observance by the company of the purposes for which it was originally set up.

Mr. McElligott also said that the liquidator would, in his report, advert to the history of the company and the transactions which had led to such substantial losses. The division of the company's investments as between home and foreign securities would bring out the fact that virtually all the losses which had brought the company to its present condition had been incurred in respect of its foreign securities.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED.

Mr. M. J. O'Reilly, manager of the New Ireland Assurance Company, Ltd., a shareholder, urged that there should be an investigation into the affairs of the company since its inception. This should be done in the interests of the State's credit and the industrial credit of the country, and also to make it perfectly clear that the failure was in no respect due to investment in Irish securities.

Mr. O'Reilly asked for a full list of the investments of the company, and was assured that it would be supplied to the shareholders later.

The motion to wind up the company and appoint Mr. Michael Lynch as liquidator was then passed, and, after the discussion given above, a further resolution was unanimously passed, on the motion of Mr. O'Reilly, that the liquidator be instructed to make full investigation into the activities of the company, with particular reference to the investments and the persons upon whose advice these investments were made.

The attendance of shareholders was small in number, there being only two or three more than those who spoke, but it is understood that they represented almost all the capital invested.

EXOTIC GEMS STOLEN.

LONDON MUSEUM RAID.

EXPERT GANG'S SILENT WORK.

GEMS to the estimated value of £1,000 were stolen from the Geological Survey and Museum in Jermyn street, London, during last Thursday night. The stones, which were uncut, included many of the exotic type, and were taken by a gang, expert in the knowledge of gems. Detectives who investigated the robbery were unable to find signs of any forcible entry. It is thought that the robbers concealed themselves in the building before it was closed on Thursday night. The show-cases were broken open by jemmies.

There are two watchmen on duty at the Museum. They heard no sound, and the robbery was not discovered until one of the watchmen walking round the building about 2 a.m. saw the empty show cases.

FUTILE SEARCH.

A telephone message was sent immediately to the police, and a watch was placed on all the exists from the building in case the thieves had not made their escape. A search of the Museum was made, but nobody was found.

There were indications that the thieves had left by the front door and gone down the steps into Jermyn street. A chisel, which had apparently been used to force open the glass lids of the show-cases was found.

The stones include jewels such as chalcedonyx, sardonyx and chrysoprase, chrysoberyl, jade and topaz, as well as the better-known precious stones and massive lumps of gold.

A warder told a reporter that the Museum closed at 6 p.m. on Thursday. "When I came on duty at 10 a.m. yesterday," he said, "there was no sign that any of the cases had been tampered with. I made a close examination of all the cases, and apparently no damage has been done to them."

THEORIES.

It is believed that the thief, or thieves, obtained entry through some adjoining property, and forced their way through the glass roof. Another warder stated, however, that it was possible that the intruders came in before 6 p.m. on Thursday and hid themselves on the premises.

The reason why at 10 o'clock there was no sign of any show case having been tampered with is explained by the fact that immediately the robbery was discovered the one case affected was removed.

This case was one of two containing unique exhibits possessed by the Museum. They stand one on either side of the main staircase approaching the Gem Room. Both cases had in them recent additions. The one broken into was about four feet long by two feet deep, with a glass sloping lid and glass sides.

The thieves left behind a number of stones, chiefly opals, but they were of much less value than those taken.

No official statement has been issued regarding the value of the stolen gems, but the view was expressed that, as the stones were uncut, they would have a small commercial value, and altogether might be worth less than £1,000.

SEVEN DEAD ON MONT BLANC.

MOUNTAIN DRAMA OF SELF-SACRIFICE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CHAMONIX, Friday.

A drama of self-sacrifice is revealed in the news which has just reached here of the death of seven Italian tourists, who had been climbing the Italian peak of Mont Blanc, known as Monte Benito Mussolini.

The seven tourists, after climbing this mountain, went on to the still higher French peak, but lost their way and wandered about for three days until they were completely exhausted, and five of them could not proceed any farther.

The two other members of the party then volunteered to seek assistance, and descended to the Vallot Hut, some thousand feet below the summit. There they made known the plight of their companions, and secured the help of a rescue party of twenty-one Italian guides.

They insisted in trying to lead the party back to the spot where they had left their comrades, but the effort was too great for them in their exhausted condition, and they both succumbed on the way.

Meantime the five others had perished of cold and exposure, and the heroic gesture of their brave companions had been in vain.

THE PRINCE'S LENTON FARM SOLD.

The Prince of Wales's farm at Lenton, Nottingham, was sold yesterday to Mr. G. R. Shelton, of Ruddington, Notts, with the exception of the herd of shorthorns, which was bought by Mr. Shelton's brother, Mr. W. B. Shelton.

The sale followed negotiations in London.

A four-year-old boy, Harold Clifford Staddon, of Compass street, Manselton, Swansea, was killed yesterday when he fell from a motor coach in which he was travelling through Llanharan, Glamorgan. He was with his parents, and was apparently playing with the strap of the door when it flew open.

THE WHEAT AGREEMENT.

conference agree to set up a Wheat Advisory Committee to watch over the working and application of this agreement.

THE INTERNATIONAL PRICE.

In an appendix it was explained that the "international price of wheat" mentioned in the draft agreement shall mean a duty-free gold price c.i.f. on a world market.

This price shall be calculated according to the method followed by the Food Research Institute of Stanford University, California. It is the average price of all parcels of imported wheat of all grades sold during each week in all the ports of Great Britain.

The Secretariat of the Wheat Advisory Committee set up by the conference shall undertake the regular communication of indices of prices calculated as above to all Governments adhering to the agreement.

The minimum average gold price, calculated as indicated above, to be maintained for a period of sixteen weeks before it will be necessary for importing countries to adjust their tariffs shall be twelve gold francs per quintal (63.02 gold cents per bushel).

The period during which the average quotation for wheat is to be maintained before it will be necessary for importing countries to adjust their tariffs shall be sixteen weeks.

Each country will decide upon its tariff adjustment in accordance with the principles enunciated in the draft agreement, and every considerable and lasting change in wheat prices shall be followed by an adjustment of tariffs proportionate to such change.

SOME DID NOT SIGN.

The Press Association was informed that those countries whose delegates have not signed the agreement may do so at any time. The fact that they have not signed it does not mean that they have refused to sign it. Certain States have signed a referendum and may withdraw their signatures within a period of fifteen days.

The States which did not sign were Latvia, Finland, the Netherlands, Lithuania, Denmark, Estonia, Portugal and Turkey. The last two had already indicated their probable inability to sign. Twenty-one nations signed, and Argentina will sign.

India and Iraq were on the list of delegates, but did not take part in the discussions and did not sign.

The Russian representative stated that his Government was considering the question of ratifying the agreement if due allowance was made for Russia's essential requirements.

WHEAT FUTURES RISE.

The decision had an immediate effect on the Liverpool Corn Exchange, where futures were sent up by ninepence per quarter, operators caught short being in haste to cover.

"We do not know what to make of the position," said a prominent Liverpool operator. "Unless each Government ratifies the conference decision, any country will be able to break away at short notice, rendering the scheme useless."

In authoritative circles in Washington last night the reaction expressed to the wheat agreement was that it was "both satisfactory and highly significant."

The Chicago grainbrokers, however, paid little attention to the agreement. While buying at advanced prices was ascribed by some to the agreement, others said that it was due to the strength of securities, which in turn was ascribed to further credit expansion.

Grain experts professed not to know what benefits could be derived by America from the lowering of tariffs.

The opinion is expressed in Washington, however, that the agreement will be in complete harmony with the programme of adjusting the American wheat acreage downward under a voluntary domestic allotment plan.

Encouraged by higher prices at Liverpool and by the agreement the Winnipeg grain market responded, with closing quotations registering gains of approximately 1¼ cents a bushel. The market closed strong.

Export orders for approximately a million bushels May option were placed, the closing price being 78¼ cents a bushel.

TOBACCO-CURING HINTS.

DANGERS TO GUARD AGAINST.

THE REV. T. F. SWEETMAN, Mount St. Benedict, Gorey, gives the following hints in regard to air-cured tobacco—tobacco cured in an ordinary farm-ing building:—

1—The principal leaves of all tobacco planted in May or the first half of June should be in the curing shed before the end of this month—most of it should have been harvested early this month.

2—It is better to harvest leaves than the whole plant, as, among other reasons, the plant draws from the weight of the leaves before it dies, and lessens the weight and value of the crop considerably.

3—The leaf can be hung in any one of the many different methods recommended by experts, either on thin wire or canes passed through the leaf, on twine, on sticks (3ft. to 4ft. long by ¾in., square sawn), on either side of which the leaves are alternately suspended with hemp, or any strong thread, passed once round the top of each leaf.

4—The sticks should be placed on beams, or strong wire, passed from wall to wall of the building, supported, where necessary, from the roof. The distance between the wires should be two inches less than the length of the sticks.

5—The leaves should be spaced about one inch apart, smaller leaves can be hung in pairs. The distance between the sticks should be about six inches, but it varies according to the size of the leaves.

IN DRY WEATHER.

6—If the dry weather continues the sticks should be placed closer. In the case of tobacco that has been already harvested, if it is showing signs of drying green—i.e., if the leaves, or the ends of them, are becoming crisp without having turned yellow or brown—moisture must be conserved and added, either by bringing in other green tobacco, by watering the floor of the building, by closing ventilation, or by putting the sticks closer together.

7—If, on the other hand, we are in for a spell of damp weather, the treatment should be the reverse of this—i.e., more space should be given in every direction, and when the sun is shining and the air dry free passage of air should be allowed through the tobacco. During damp periods the damp air should be shut out as much as possible. The best results follow from constantly changing weather—damp one day, and dry the next, which is so usual at this time of year. If the tobacco shows a tendency to mould, or to become soft and begin to rot (watch the least ventilated portion of the room), then fires should be lighted from any fuel except coal, and the smoke allowed to circulate as far as possible through the tobacco. Also exchange the leaves from the least ventilated to the best ventilated section of the shed.

There are thus two dangers to be guarded against—drying too quickly (drying green instead of curing brown), and going too far the other way, with the results of mould and some of the leaves becoming soft and rotten. But in nine seasons out of ten the tobacco need never be touched or the ventilation be interfered with from the time when it is hung up till the finished article is taken down.

WHEAT SCHEME.

PAYMENTS TO GROWERS.

STANDARD AND AVERAGE PRICES.

THE British Wheat Commission are now preparing the final payments due to wheat growers under the Wheat Act for the first cereal year, which ended on July 31. The full amount for the year will be paid in the case of those growers who have not been paid an advance on account.

As a preliminary step, the Minister, under the Wheat Act, has made an order, on the advice of the Wheat Commission, prescribing two figures on which the calculation of the payment to growers has to be based. By this order the Minister has prescribed 5s. 4.46d. per cwt.—equal to 24s. 2d. per quarter of 4½ cwts.—as the "ascertained average price" of home-grown wheat at farm obtained by registered growers in 1932-33.

The order also certifies that the quantity of home-grown millable wheat sold by registered growers in 1932-33 was 20,400,000 cwt.—4,533,000 quarters.

The Wheat Act specifies 10s. per cwt.—45s. per quarter—as the standard price.

The total sum that will actually be paid to each registered grower as deficiency payments, representing the difference between the "ascertained average price" and the "standard price" will be equivalent to paying him 4s. 5¼d. per cwt.—19s. 11⅝d. per quarter—in respect of all the wheat recorded to his credit from wheat certificates.

The deduction for costs of administration is equivalent to just under 3d. per quarter, reckoned on the total quantity certified as sold.

This states the Wheat Commission, finally disposes of the fear that the cost of administration might seriously eat into the deficiency payments.

The Wheat Commission expect to be able to send out the cheques for final payments a few days after September 21st. Those registered growers who have already received an advance on account for any wheat at the rate of 3s. per cwt. will be paid only the balance of 1s. 5¼d. per cwt. in respect of that wheat.

THE FUND.

The first accounting period under the Wheat Act began in June, 1932, and ended on July 31st, 1933. The Wheat Commission are now in a position to give approximate figures for the income and expenditure of the wheat fund, attributable to the first period. These figures are, however, subject to slight revision when the final returns are made up, and are also subject to audit.

The actual deliveries of flour for 58 weeks have been approximately 92,100,000 cwt.; for which the quota payments have been £4,778,000, averaging 2s. 7¼d. per sack.

There also has been a small amount of income from investments of the fund, which brings the total income of the Wheat Fund attributable to 1932-33 up to £4,784,000.

For the purpose of the October estimate of liabilities to be met the Commission assumed that the average price of home-grown wheat for the whole season would work out at 5s. 3½d. per cwt. It has actually worked out at 5s. 4.46d. The fund has, therefore, to provide for deficiency payments, administrative expenses, and certain other small liabilities, the total of which is expected not to exceed £4,586,000. There is, therefore, carried forward a surplus of income over expenditure attributable to 1932-33 amounting to approximately £198,000.

GUNPOWDER IN A STREAM.

BOYS THROW IT ON A FIRE.

Two Leicester boys are suffering from serious burns and other injuries following an explosion of gunpowder found in a package floating in a stream.

The boys are William Goodman, aged 9, of Birstall street, and Eric Lambert, aged 8, of Willow Bridge street, and it was stated yesterday that they were playing with two others when they saw the package in the water. They fished it out, and when they found that it contained powder only they threw it on the fire which they had lit. There was a loud explosion, and the boys were hurled to the ground. The other boys escaped injury.

It is feared that Lambert's sight is affected. Investigations are being carried out to discover whence the gunpowder came and how it came to be in the stream.

WELSH SHEEPDOG TRIALS.

TEAM FOR INTERNATIONAL SELECTED.

The Welsh National Sheepdog Trials concluded at Margam yesterday, when all previous attendance records were broken. Darkness had set in when the trials concluded, and the team of twelve best dogs had been selected to represent Wales at Ayr next month at the international trials.

At a meeting during the day it was decided to hold next year's Welsh National Trials at Llandudno and to hold the international trials in Wales next year. If a suitable site could be discovered South Wales would be the venue, failing that they would be held in North Wales at Llandrindod. Porthcawl was mentioned as a likely centre for South Wales, and a committee was appointed to investigate its possibilities.

INQUEST WITHOUT A BODY.

CHILD WHO FELL INTO A RIVER.

An inquest without a body was held at Nottingham yesterday. It concerned a child named Elsie Wilson, aged seven years, of Truman street, Ilkeston Junction, who had not been seen since she fell into the River Erewash at Ilkeston Junction, when it was in flood fifteen months ago.

The Coroner, Mr. H. Bradwell, told the mother that he had done all he could to help her to get the matter concluded. He added that as a result of the inquest the police would be able to give the necessary certificates to enable Mrs. Wilson to get the girl's death properly registered without an inquiry. This could not be done unless the relatives went to the High Court, which would be expensive.

The Coroner recorded a verdict of "Accidentally drowned."

"RECEIVER APPOINTED"

Messrs. Malcomson and Law, solicitors, state that, in regard to the application for the appointment of a receiver over lands in the Counties of Dublin and Kildare in the ownership of Michael and Bina Carr, made before the Vacation Judge in the High Court, Dublin, last Wednesday, "no profits were derived from the lands for many years past, and that the current income tax is at present under adjustment by the Revenue authorities in respect of certain allowances which the authorities admit the debtors are entitled to receive."

"Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Carr is in occupation of the lands in the County of Kildare, and, therefore, in receipt of no income from these lands."

Mr. Justice Meredith granted the application for the appointment of a receiver.

BODY IN DITCH.

The body of a man, about sixty years of age, who has since been identified as William Giltrap, of Finglas, County Dublin, was found in a ditch near the roadside at Finglas yesterday morning by two men on their way to work. Apparently Mr. Giltrap was taking a short cut across the fields to his home last Thursday night when he became ill and stumbled towards the roadway before collapsing. He had been in poor health for some time, and an inquest was not considered necessary.

TARIFF ON FREE STATE CATTLE.

SCOTTISH CRITICISM OF THE SYSTEM.

Criticism of the system of valuing Free State cattle imports for the purposes of Customs duty was made at a meeting of the Scottish Chamber of Agriculture at Edinburgh.

The Chairman (Mr. J. B. Douglas) said the duty on Free State store cattle was creating dissatisfaction, but the Government was in the difficult position that it had to collect its money from the Free State somehow.

Mr. Hugh Miller suggested that the duty on stores should be removed and the burden placed on fat cattle.

Mr. W. F. Bosomworth declared that the position was most iniquitous and chaotic. The cattle were "tariffed" according to age, and that was determined by development of molar teeth.

If the Customs veterinary inspector's valuation was higher than the trader's valuation, the higher valuation applied, plus a fine. If lower, there was no rebate. In actual practice the system was absolutely scandalous. So much was often due in tariff and expenses that at present there were 47 cattle on the hands of the Customs authorities at Glasgow, because it was not worth anyone's while taking possession of them. A weight basis was the better method, and would get at the fat beast, as their farmers desired.

It was agreed to press for a change in the tariff based on cattle weights.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

IRELAND IN THE GREAT WAR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Mr. David Boyd accuses me of inaccurate statements regarding the percentage of Irishmen serving in the various Irish Divisions during 1916. He quotes figures from the recruiting returns as if they were final and conclusive arguments. He quite misses my point (apropos to Sir Basil Brooke's tirade) that the Irish Roman Catholic element in the three Divisions greatly out-numbered the pro rata percentage of Ulster Protestants who fought for their "King and country." The Belfast Telegraph ends its leader of August 22nd thus—"Essential war work in the shipyards and linen factories prohibited many men from enlisting." As Mr. Boyd knows full well, though, for a moment, I do not suppose he will acknowledge it, the situation in the Northern factories, etc., has ever been, "No Catholic need apply."

Mr. Boyd may not know of a certain "return," called for in 1916, asking for the numbers of Irishmen serving at the time in the 16th (Irish) and 36th (Ulster) Divisions. As it happened, I was serving, in a very humble position, on the staff of the 16th (Irish) Division, and I was present when the rendition of this form was discussed between the two Divisional Commanders. On hearing that the 16th (Irish) Division—and I stress "Irish"—was composed of 75 per cent. Irishmen, the General Officer Commanding the Ulster Division remarked that all he could boast of was 75 per cent. English.

It was never my intention to belittle the Ulster ex-Service man, and the "stand" made in the present instance by the North is quite in conformity with their usual policy of "beating the drum." My plea for "toleration" seems to have fallen, as I imagined it would, on deaf ears. Can Sir Basil Brooke or Mr. David Boyd quote extracts from speeches made in the South against Protestants akin to those continually made against Roman Catholics in the North? Can either of them instance any act of bigotry or intolerance against their religion? Can they instance any acts so disgraceful as the enacted attacks on Roman Catholics from the North proceeding to take part in the Eucharistic Congress? Yet they boast of living under a flag which brings liberty to all men.

It was as a Roman Catholic, a loyalist, and a relative (not descendant) of the 'Liberator,' that I wrote to you, sir, in protest against the bigotry and intolerance of a certain section of the North.—Yours, etc.,

"AN OXFORD PRANK REVEALED."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—My attention has been drawn to an account given in your paper of the 22nd inst. of an incident that happened fifty years ago, when Mr. Chavasse, a don of Oxford, was "screwed into" his rooms by undergraduates. It was doubtful taste of the narrator of the incident, Mr. Linford, to have brought this out, without ascertaining if the principal person of the drama were alive or not, and he might have made sure of all his facts. According to the account in your paper, "Mr. Linford, who was at Magdalen College, Oxford, said that the trouble arose in 1880 over Mr. Chavasse, one of the Proctors, afterwards Bishop of Liverpool," etc. This is absolutely contrary to the fact. The late Bishop of Liverpool was never at University College, and it was often said of him that the was the "best loved man in England." The don of "Univ." was a distant cousin.—Yours, etc., H. CHAVASSE, Major.

When the oats, owned by Mr. George McKitterick, Carrickmacross, was being cut with a binder, the hare jumped on to the canvas, and must have been tied up. ECONOMIC AID FOR AUSTRIA.

FOUR-POWER MEETING IN ROME?

Though nothing official is known in London of Signor Mussolini's reported desire to bring about a meeting in Rome in October of the British, French and German Foreign Ministers under his chairmanship, much diplomatic interest is taken in the possibility.

It is associated with communications which are passing between London, Paris, and Rome on suggestions for securing the economic independence of Austria. The meeting in Rome would be concerned with the economic condition of Austria and the other Central European States.

Informed observers in London are impressed by the fact that the idea of such a conference is being discussed not unfavourably in Berlin. The German Government has special reasons for taking note of proposals for Austria's financial and industrial improvement.

Commercial assistance to Austria was discussed at an important inter-Ministerial conference in Paris yesterday, summoned by M. Daladier.

The principal question considered was that of facilities for the importation of Austrian timber into France. Besides M. Daladier there were present the Ministers of Foreign Affairs, Finance, Agriculture, and Commerce.

French commercial policy in the light of the results of the London conference also came under review.

The Munich Radio Station to-night broadcast another anti-Dollfuss speech. The Nazi broadcaster said that the German Austrians would not tolerate the present Austrian Government much longer, and contended that foreign countries were aware of this fact. The present Austrian Government was a "separatist Government," and it had lost every right to call itself honest, he said, and recounted a series of atrocities which he declared had been committed by Austrian gendarmes.

BRITISH BACON PRICE RISES.

QUOTA SCHEME BLAMED.

A rise in the price of bacon in Britain is being blamed on the Government's quota scheme, but in other quarters it is held that an increase is a normal happening at this time of the year.

It is attributed (says a Daily Telegraph Correspondent) to the fact that people on holiday are inclined to eat an extra rasher or so at breakfast, thereby causing a higher demand. The rise this year with the quota in operation is less than it was last year, when there was no quota. The quota has raised the general price level, which was the declared intention of the Government. It has steadied prices at a time when there seemed no limit to the low levels they would reach, and it has improved pig prices for the home farmers by a few shillings per score.

The new pig scheme will not beign to operate until November 1st, and thus to blame it for failing to correct a temporary bacon shortage is, at least, premature.

The Ministry of Agriculture has decided to alleviate the present shortage by allowing additional quantities of foreign bacon to be imported immediately. Some 20,000 bales of Danish bacon are believed to be available for this purpose, although it is extremely unlikely that the whole of this quantity will be required. This additional consignment will involve no increase in the yearly quota.

MANŒUVRES NEAR DUBLIN.

FREE STATE TROOPS TO BE ACTIVE.

AIR CORPS IN "MOCK" BATTLE.

UNDER actual conditions of warfare, the Free State Army will hold manœuvres on a large scale from September 17th to September 27th. Five thousand troops will take part, and all units will be placed on a war basis by the mobilisation of their reservists; while the area of operations will extend almost from Dublin to the Curragh, covering parts of County Kildare and County Wicklow.

The two forces (the "Blues" under Colonel McGoran, and the "Yellows" under Major A. T. Lawlor) will mobilise at the Curragh and at the Phœnix Park respectively on September 9th. After carrying out a period of preliminary training there, they will commence actual operations on the 17th, carrying their field equipment. They will sleep in the open, their only protection being the small "shelter tents" they carry, and the presence of "hostile aircraft" will probably mean that most of the operations and movements will be carried out under cover of darkness. For this reason, the Army authorities are asking motorists and others to exercise caution in the area after dark, as large bodies of troops, guns and transport will be using the roads.

AIR CORPS' PART.

Every branch of the Army, except the Tank Corps, will take part in the "battle." As well as infantry, artillery and cavalry, there will be armoured cars, ambulance detachments and supply services. The Air Corps will take a very prominent part; armed with dummy bombs, the aeroplanes will endeavour to wipe out their opponents' positions, while anti-aircraft guns and searchlights will oppose them. Even gas attacks have not been forgotten, though, for fear of inconveniencing civilians, the harmless "training gas" usually employed will not be used. Operations will be controlled from a central camp near Brittas, which will keep in touch, by wireless and other means, with the various units and with the umpires.

REGULAR TROOPS.

The troops engaged this year are drawn almost entirely from the Regular Army, and, as a result, the numbers are comparatively small. The manœuvres, however, are considered to be of the highest importance for training purposes, for the officers will be given an opportunity of handling units organised and equipped as they would be in war, while the Staff will gain valuable experience in command and administration. Hitherto such instruction has of necessity been confined to theoretical training at the military colleges and service schools of the separate arms.

The "Blue" force is a normal reinforced Brigade. It consists of the 1st Infantry Brigade (2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th Infantry Battalions), 1st Field Artillery Brigade, 1st Light Battery, 1st Anti-Aircraft Battery, 1st Cyclist Squadron, 1st Engineer Field Company, 1st Field Signal Company, 1st Field Ambulance, 1st (Provisional) Field Company, Supply and Transport Services, detachments of the Air Corps, Armoured Car Corps, Ordnance Service and Military Police.

The "Yellow" force is much weaker in strength, but an attempt is made to counterbalance this by the allotment of a greater proportion of mechanised units.

It comprises—3rd (Provisional) Infantry Brigade (9th, 10th and 11th Provisional Battalions), 1st Co-Operation Squadron Army Air Corps, 1st Armoured Car Squadron, and 1st Horse Squadron, with detachments of artillery, engineers, signals, supply and transport services, medical services, and ordnance services Deficiencies in horses for artillery and transport in both forces will be made good by hiring several hundred animals from farmers in the eastern and midland counties.

At the close of the manœuvres a great review of the two forces will be held at the Fifteen Acres, Phœnix Park on Sunday, September 24th. The combined "blue" and "yellow" forces will concentrate at the Rest Camp in the Park, and will be reviewed with full war equipment.

MEATH APPOINTMENTS.

At a special meeting of the Meath Vocational Education Committee, Miss Margaret Menton, Dublin, was appointed teacher of domestic science. There were twenty-two applications received for the position from all parts of Ireland.

For the position of instructor in cabinetmaking there were six applications received. Mr. J. C. Long, North Circular road, Dublin, was the successful candidate. There were five applications received for the position of teacher of agricultural science, Mr. Matthew L. Hyland, Ballycrana, Kilross, County Tipperary, being appointed.

ULSTER MOTOR RALLY.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR FREE STATE COMPETITORS.

The Royal Irish Automobile Club, at the request of the Ulster Automobile Club, has undertaken the arrangements for the establishment of controls and "checks" for the Free State section of the Ulster Motor Rally.

Competitors in this section of the Rally will leave the starting control at St. Stephen's Green, South, Dublin, on Monday next between the hours of 12.30 p.m. and 1.30 p.m. Officials of the club will be on duty at this control for the purpose of starting the cars on their journey.

The route will be via Enniscorthy, Waterford, Fermoy, Cork, Limerick, Mullingar and thence across the border to Newry, Larne, Newcastle, Lisburn, finishing at Bangor, Co. Down, the following day.

The total distance traversed will be approximately 750 miles. In the Free State competitors will be checked at Waterford, Fermoy, Limerick and Mullingar, and at Cork there will be a control open at 8.50 p.m., to which competitors will proceed to have the times of their arrival recorded in their road books.

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE AND CORK.

TRADITION REFUTED.

The Journal of the Cork Historical and Archæological Society, in its current issue, contains a very interesting article on Sir Francis Drake by Mr. Frederick W. Knight, in the course of which he refers to "Drake's Pool" at Crosshaven. The place, which was formerly called Coolmore, got its present name from the tradition that Drake took refuge there from the Armada, and some years ago a sixteenth-century anchor was dredged up from the pool.

The tradition has now existed for two hundred years, and is mentioned in several topographical works. Mr. Knight quotes Lewis's Topographical Dictionary (1837) as saying that in 1589 Sir Francis Drake's squadron, "being chased by a Spanish fleet of greater force, ran into Cork Harbour, and sailing up Crosshaven River moored in a safe basin, sheltered by Currabinny Hill, close under Coolmore. The Spaniards pursued, but, being unacquainted with the harbour, sailed round the shore without discovering the English fleet, and, giving up the search, left it here in perfect security."

Mr. Knight, however, thinks that there is no evidence for this story, though he agrees that there is no inherent difficulty in supposing it to be founded on fact, as Drake probably knew the Cork coast well, and the harbour was constantly visited by adventurers of many nations. As regards the anchor, which was brought to the notice of the Society in 1931 through the instrumentality of Mr. Alexander Healy, it seems to conform with the type of anchor in use at the time, but there is, of course, no proof as to its origin.

The Journal also contains an article of George Chinnery (1774-1852), by W. H. Welply; "The Place-Names and Antiquities of Kinalmeaky, Co. Cork," by Sean P. O'Riordan; "Diary of an Itinerary in Ireland in 1831," by H. Hill, and a section of the "Downe Survey" relating to lands in County Cork.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

CLAUDINE AGAIN.

ROIBELL CAUGHT AND BEATEN HALF A LENGTH.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LEWES, Friday Night.

It has suddenly become blazing hot again, as if another heat wave were on the way, so the prospects of better going when the important York meeting begins next week are not bright.

I suppose it will be hard at Ostend on Sunday, when Solenoid runs for the Grand International Prize there, an event well worth winning; for it is worth in English currency something like £3,000 to the owner of the winner.

Since the war only two English-trained horses—Marvex and Embargo—have won this event. Last year's winner, Prince Rore, although he was bred by the late Lord Durham, was always trained in Belgium.

It is not often that the Belgians are able to keep this good prize in their own country, for the important French stables cast covetous eyes on it. I do not know the probable constitution of the field on Sunday, for Nitsichin at the moment of writing is a doubtful runner; but there are sure to be some good French horses there.

HENIN A LIKELY RUNNER.

One French horse, Henin, who has been for some time at Newmarket with Basil Jarvis, is a likely runner. Although he has not won in this country, yet I have seen him running well once or twice, and he made a successful journey to Deauville a few weeks ago.

The distance on Sunday is eleven furlongs, a journey which Solenoid, who will be ridden by Gordon Richards, has not hitherto attempted in public.

The going was quite good here this afternoon, for there have been some heavy showers in the area. Only one field cut up badly, the Rothschild Plate, for amateur riders, in which Mrs. Drummond's Miss Dewar beat the better favourite, Scintilla, ridden by Mr. Edward Lambton, by a length and a half.

TWICE WITHIN THE WEEK.

Mr. Armstrong had previously had a ride on Willy P., who started second favourite for the Southdown Welter Handicap, and was beaten a length and a half by Lord Carnarvon on the favourite, Claudine, whose second win within a week this was.

Gordon Richards added another couple of winners to his total. He began the day by winning the Newick Selling Plate on the three-year-old Ground Swell, by Duke of Buckingham, whom Frank Hartigan trains. Roibell was a good faovurite, but Richards, riding one of his best races, got up to beat Wootton's runner by a half-length.

Richards then won the principal race, the Newhaven Handicap, on the six-year-old mare, Bunch, from the stable of Miss Norah Wilmot. She was made favourite, as she was entitled to be, and, going to the front soon after coming into the straight, she won easily by a length and a half from Duncooler in a field of six.

AN EASY WINNER.

Wootton provided the winner of the Two-year-old Seller. This was the filly by Nothing Venture out of Puzzle, who started favourite, made all the running, and won in a canter by six lengths from Redouble.

Sir Edmund Findlay, who owns a group of newspapers in Scotland, has not been one of the luckiest owners in the Stockbridge stable since he joined it four years ago, and when his Salmon Trout filly, Christmas Cheer, won the Fillies' Two-year-old Plate it could only have been his third or fourth success since he registered his colours.

She had only run once previously, and, ridden by the apprentice, B. Morris, was a 7 to 1 chance, Mrs. Drummond's Good Harvest being a strong favourite at 2 to 1. None of them had a chance with Christmas Cheer, who was an easy winner by a length and a half and the same from New Leaf and the favourite.

SELECTIONS.

JUNGLE QUEEN has been showing smart form lately, and I expect to see her give the weight away and win the Larnach Two-year-old Plate here to-morrow.

The August Handicap may be won by SICCA, or, in her absence, by SARUM. HEVUSINA may win the Club Welter.

At Hamilton Park the Almeida Handicap should be won by the selected of Sam Armstrong's stable. The Holytown Welter may be won by SIMONSIDE.

GALTEE MORE.

DAYTOI'S CHANCE.

HEVUSINA PREFERRED IN THE CLUB WELTER.

Although we cannot expect more than half a dozen runners for the August Handicap at Lewes to-day the event is not by any means a cut and dried affair. Gordon Richards, who has ridden two winners each day this week, will be on the back of either Careful Sailor or Hush Hush, which is tantamount to saying that the one he chooses to ride will be well supported; but neither has done anything recently to warrant confidence.

Then there is Sicca who let her connections down badly when second to Ocean Wave at Bath on Wednesday. With that failure fresh in their minds backers will think twice before supporting her to the same extent again.

Don Bosco, the top weight, also disappointed last time out when failing to land the odds at Pontefract, his conquerer being Cardinal, who was only third of five at Stockton this week.

may be the best to rely on. Although she started at 20 to 1 when winning at Hurst Park last month I do not think there was much of a fluke about the performance.

As there is some doubt about Credenda colt running for the Larnach Two-Year-Old Plate I think the issue rests between Jungle Queen and Nevertheless. The former has been very consistent, and she gave a convincing display when accounting for Propaganda and Seascape Boy at Birmingham. Nevertheless lost ground at the finish of her last race which was on this course, but the three who beat her, Arcona, Bidou and Satyr, are vastly superior to anything she has to meet this time. However, is slightly preferred.

JUNGLE QUEEN

A very useful plater in the Firle Two-Year-Old is

and it is not my intention to look beyond him.

The Houndean Selling Handicap will also be interesting.

GAY LOVER,

Manchuria and Gloria Mia come out well on recent form, and it is only a slight preference that I give to the first-named.

HEVUSINA

should about win the Club Welter, and who is easy to handle, is my fancy for the Apprentices' Plate.

Fields may not be very strong at Hamilton Park, where I think F. Armstrong will win the West Plate and Clyde Plate with First Watch and Sans Espoir respectively.

NEWMARKET NOTES.

GOLD BRIDGE AND ROCK STAR IN GOOD TRIM FOR YORK.

NEWMARKET, Friday.

One of the first of our trainers to put in an appearance this morning was the Hon. George Lambton, who took his team to the Limekilns. After giving Scarlet Tiger useful five furlongs canters, Mr. E. Lambton got astride Servus and he accompanied Highlander, who was clothed in sweaters, in a useful seven furlongs spin. Canaletto (Wells), in company with others, compassed the same distance at a nice pace. Hyperion (Weston), with Adriatic, was given a useful five furlongs spin, and to-morrow all being well, will be given a good stripped spin.

Frank Butters stripped Parsan (Beary) and Dastkaj (Connorton) and sent them one mile and a half at a rattling pace, the first-named having the better of matters. She still retains a maiden certificate, but the daughter of Solario has been placed in four of her five races. She finished second on the last occasion to Eclair in the Leicestershire Oaks with some useful animals behind her, and she should win a nice long distance event before the season closes.

N. Cannon sent Suspense seven furlongs at a good pace. Miss Clayton's mare has done some good work of late, and although she is well up in the weights in the Loom Handicap at Manchester next Friday she will be difficult to beat, particularly if there is rain before the race.

Major Beatty stripped Gold Bridge (H. Beasley) and sent him five furlongs at a good pace with Golden Eagle II., Monte Carlo and Holy Grail, and he will make a bold bid to win the Nunthorpe Sweepstakes at York on Tuesday. Rock Star, who is engaged in the Lonsdale Handicap, had a good mile and a quarter spin with Red River and Copra, and no fault could be found with him.

Gilpin gave Sigiri, with Suede and Monseiur M., a good pace gallop over one mile and three furlongs, while the St. Leger colt, Foxbridge, came the same distance at a rattling pace with Colorado Kid and Orca.

We shall have only eight runners at Lewes to-morrow. Rose d'Amour filly I prefer to Fincurl gelding in the Firle Two-Year-Old Selling Plate, but I shall again rely upon who has run well on two or three occasions this year.

KUDI*

For the Houndean Plate I recommend the support each was of

Hevusina, although having won two races this season, I do not think is capable of beating

MOTI BEGUM (next best) for the Club Welter Handicap, and in the absence of Credenda colt, should win the Larnach Two-Year-Old Plate.

JUNGLE QUEEN

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Tralee Meeting Abandoned.

The Tralee meeting, arranged for the 13th and 14th September, not having received sufficient entries, has been abandoned.

St. Leger Scratchings.

The scratching of Melanos, owned by Mr. A. C. Ioannou, and trained by Walter Nightingall, at 10 p.m. on Thursday, leaves Galitzer as the sole representative of the Epsom trainer in the St Leger. The withdrawal of Sir George Noble's Jesmond Dene at 9 a.m. yesterday leaves him and his trainer, Lord George Dundas, without a representative in the same race.

G. Richards's St. Leger Mount.

Gordon Richards has been engaged to ride Sir Abe Bailey's Raymond in the St. Leger, provided he is not required by the Beckhampton stable. Beckhampton has several horses left in the race, and though it is doubtful if any will run, no definite decision has yet been made. Richards rode Raymond when he won the Princess of Wales's Stakes at Newmarket.

Horse's Racing Plates Removed.

The racing plates of all the runners at Lewes yesterday were examined by the veterinary surgeon attached to the course in pursuance of a circular of instructions recently issued by the Jockey Club to clerks of the courses. In his opinion the plates worn by Bright Armour did not comply with the requirements. This view was upheld by the Stewards and they were accordingly removed. As there was no time to replace them the filly ran in the Southdown Handicap without any.

Lord Beatty Buys Gold Bridge.

Gold Bridge will run in future in the name and colours of Admiral of the Fleet Lord Beatty. Gold Bridge is one of the fastest horses in training, and has won three out of five races this year. He is engaged in the Nunthorpe Sweepstakes at York next week, in which he can meet other famous sprinters in Myrobella and Concerto. Gold Bridge was previously owned by Mr. A. K. Macomber.

CODY'S NEW OWNER.

Cody, ch. c., 2 years, by Knight of the Garter out of Salmonette, which was purchased at the recent disposal sale of Mr. R. Croker's horses in Dublin by the Anglo-Irish Agency, of 27 Old Bond street, London, was bought on behalf of Captain the Hon. L. Montagu, and has joined Earl's team at Newmarket. Cody has won two races in Ireland this year, including the £500 Naas Grand Prize, and was also only narrowly beaten by The Immortal for the Patriotic Plate of £550 at Baldoyle. The Anglo-Irish Agency have also shipped to a client in India Magnitude, ch. f., 3 years, by Marcus out of Eagerloon. Magnitude is a winner of two races in Ireland this season and placed third once in four starts.

PHŒNIX PARK PROGRAMME.

GOLDEN DRAGON FANCIED FOR ENNISKILLEN PLATE : GOOD SPORT PROMISED.

Considering the difficulties under which trainers have laboured recently in order to give their horses work, the declared runners for the Phœnix Park meeting this afternoon are very satisfactory. Two-year-old racing, as usual, forms a big part of the programme, three of the events being confined to first season horses.

Tote Double on Third and Fourth Races.

For the valuable Enniskillen Plate six runners have been declared, but one of them, Bedsocks, is also in the Rathmines Nursery. Ussher's stable has two representatives, Golden Dragon and Veldt, and the better of this pair will take a lot of beating.

Another horse doubly engaged at the meeting is Istone, who appears in the Ratoath Plate as well as the Rathgar Plate, the latter a race confined to amateur riders, and whichever he runs for he must hold a big chance of winning.

Parched Corn, Galli Galli and Rahab suggest a trio likely to provide the winner of the Ratoath Plate, and Rahab may be the best to stand. Madame X. won in such good style at the last meeting that, even with 9st. 4lb. to carry, she must enter into the reckoning for the Rathmines Nursery, but she may not concede the weight to Golden Tol.

As the Rathcoole Plate is a race for maidens who have not been placed second or third, there is little form to go on. Black Points, who has only run once, may have the best chance; and Toland may atone for some recent failures by winning the Rathfarnham Handicap. Selections:—

Ratoath Plate—Rahab.
Rathmines Plate—Golden Tol.
Rathcoole Plate—Black Points.
Enniskillen Plate—Golden Dragon.
Rathgar Plate—Istone.
Rathfarnham Plate—Toland.

ESSEX DEFEATED.

BIG HITTING BY WALTERS : GOOD VICTORY FOR SUSSEX.

LANCASHIRE beat Essex at Liverpool, after an absorbing match, by 17 runs. The visiting county had to score 196 runs to win, with ten wickets in hand. The circumstances were suitable for the feat to be performed, but on a wicket in much firmer state than it had been at any period of the match, Essex lost half of their wickets in the space of 50 minutes for 41 runs, Watson taking three for 16. Seven wickets had fallen for 91, in spite of a 44 runs partnership by O'Connor and Eastman. Then P. Smith and Wilcox put on 37 for the eighth wicket, and this was followed by an association between Wilcox and H. T. O. Smith, which produced 52 runs in fifty-five minutes for the ninth wicket. Only 19 were required with the last pair together, but Booth beat Wilcox with a splendid ball, and Lancashire won the match.

Some remarkable cricket took place at Eastbourne, where Sussex, thanks to the clever bowling of Wensley, defeated Leicestershire by 70 runs. To such an extent did the ball beat the bat that when the match ended just after 4 o'clock, eighteen wickets had fallen in just under four hours for an aggregate of 199.

Brilliant batting by C. F. Walters and Nichol was witnessed at Bournemouth. They scored at such a tremendous pace that in the first four they added 110, while Walters played one of the best innings of his career, and when he declared at the fall of Nichols's wicket, he was only ten short of a double century. The power he put into his strokes may be judged from the fact that 102 of his runs were made in boundary strokes, including a six. Worcestershire's hopes of victory were dashed by Mead, who played another great innings, making his tenth century of the season and 141st of his career.

When the last stage of the game at Bristol began, Warwickshire were leading by 139, with all their wickets in hand. With the total at 181 for six Wyatt declared and left Gloucestershire to get 293 to win. The state of the pitch rendered the task practically impossible, and this led Lyon to instruct his men to get what runs they could instead of trying to save the game. They were all out for 112, and Warwick won by 180 runs.

The task of getting 302 proved too heavy for Middlesex, and Derby won the match at Lord's by 141 runs. While Mitchell, with six wickets for 53, deserved chief praise for the home county's dismissal in less than three hours for 160, no one contributed more to the victory than Alderman, who brought off three fine long-field catches. From the first ball of the day he disposed of Lee, who lifted a long hop to long leg. More important was the holding of a powerful hit from Hendren. Alderman ran across and took the ball with both hands. He also judged perfectly a lifted drive from Haig, who just previously had driven Townsend for four and six.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

THE FREE STATE SHIELD.

AN ATTRACTIVE LIST FOR THE WEEK-END.

LAST Saturday, twelve goals were scored in the five Free State Shield matches—three by Bohemians against Cork, seven of the teams scored a goal each, and St. James's Gate notched a couple, to beat the more fancied Dolphin by 2-1.

Mid-week, Bohemians, following an injury to Morton, crumpled up before the vigorous onslaught of Rovers, who, in the Shield match, barely scrambled home in front of Dundalk. No one, however, pays much attention to these evening matches; it is doubtful if even the teams themselves take a deal of interest in them, so that the setback to the amateurs at Milltown is not likely to have an adverse effect on their chances to-day with St. James's Gate.

Matches Start at 3.30.

It is a pity that this match, at Dalymount Park, clashes with the [illegible] Dundalk fixture, as each promises to be a stirring game. At Cork, Bohemians gave a distinctly bright and exhilarating display, and against Dolphin, St. James's Gate were likewise convincing, so that it should be a rousing struggle between them this afternoon.

For the second week Dundalk have to travel, their opponents being Shelbourne. The Louth team played the Rovers to 1-0, but Shelbourne have been strengthened during the week, and, on their own ground, should register their third point.

To-morrow, Rovers play Cork Bohemians, at Cork, and the result of the second venture of the home team, which is made up in the main by local players, will be awaited with much interest.

Drumcondra look to have the measure of Dolphin. Here there will be a distinct contrast in styles, Drumcondra being composed mostly of cross-Channel players, while Dolphin are relying in the main on home talent this season. Bray drew with Shelbourne last week, and they have another heavy task on hand at home, the opposition being Cork.

MISSS PENTONY IN SWEDISH FINAL.

IRISH CHAMPION'S BIG SEMI-FINAL VICTORY.

MISS PENTONY, the Irish champion, will contest the final of the Swedish championship.

After receiving a walk-over by the scratching of Miss Diana Plumpton, runner-up in the ladies' championship, Miss Pentony went on to beat another British competitor, Miss Jean Forsyth, in the semi-final by six and five, the latter having defeated Mrs. Karin Bauer (Sweden) 1 three and two.

AN ANGLO-SCOTTISH BOYS' FINAL.

To-day there will be an Anglo-Scottish final for the Boys' Championship at Carnoustie for the first time since 1927, when Eric Fiddian defeated Kenneth Forbes (Leven) to win the title. As a result of yesterday's play P. B. Lucas (Sandy Lodge) will oppose W. M. McLachlan (Old Ranfurly) over thirty-six holes.

Lucas played wonderful golf in gaining two easy victories. In the sixth round he beat A. G. Maitland (George Watson's) by 6 and 5, losing only one hole, and in the semi-final he defeated Leslie Hardie (Glasgow High School), last year's runner-up, by 5 and 4. He was level fours for the fourteen holes he played against Hardie. McLachlan, who beat W. Williamson (Crieff) by 2 and 1 in the sixth round, had a close match with J. C. Wilson (Cawder) in the semi-final. He was only 1 up at the turn, after he had lost the first and third holes, but on the homeward journey gradually assumed the upper hand, and finished the match at the seventeenth hole, where Wilson was twice in the burn.

Sixth round results were:—J. C. Wilson (Cawder) beat A. D. Findlay (Glasgow), 2 and 1; W. A. McLachlan (Old Ranfurly) beat W. Williamson (Crieff), 2 and 1; P. B. Lucas (Sandy Lodge) beat A. G. Maitland (George Watson's), 6 and 5; L. A. Hardie (Glasgow High School) beat F. R. Millar (Crieff), 3 and 2.

Semi-finals—McLachlan beat Wilson, 3 and 1; Lucas beat Hardie, 5 and 4.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE FOR AMERICA'S CUP?

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, Friday.

There may yet be another challenge for the America's Cup, interest in which seemed to have died with the passing away of Sir Thomas Lipton, whose challenges to America with his line of Shamrocks gave the event the great importance which it had.

If the challenge comes it will be from a British colony, backed by an American. It is reported here that Mr. William Vincent Astor, the famous American yachtsman, has announced his willingness to assist financially in the building of a yacht for Bermuda, manned entirely by Bermudans, for an attempt to wrest from the United States the America's Cup.

LAWN TENNIS.

BROWN-EGAN FINAL.

MISS MAXWELL'S GREAT FIGHT AGAINST MISS O'KEEFFE.

IN spite of a little rain in the morning, the Irish Juvenile Championships were brought out to the finals at Fitzwilliam yesterday, and many good contests should take place this afternoon.

In accordance with expectation, R. F. Egan and R. G. Brown have qualified for the last stage of the senior boys' championship, and their play through the week has shown them to be in front of all other competitors. Brown has dropped very few games, and in the semi-final yesterday he conceded only three to that very steady player, W. K. Roche. The latter played better than in any previous round, and drove with pace and precision, but Brown mixed his game so well that points slipped from his opponent after they had seemed within his grasp.

A BRIGHT GAME.

Egan's record does not look so impressive, but he is a player who sacrifices something to pace and enterprise, and these are qualities that are likely to help in the final. Yesterday he came against C. A. Kemp, who, next to the finalists, has been the outstanding player in the competition. The match produced plenty of bright tennis and hard hitting, and reached a higher level than any during the week.

Kemp could not get going in the first set, which Egan captured for the loss of one game. The second set was well fought, Kemp's driving on both wings was excellent, and, with Egan making a good many mistakes, especially overhead, the set went to Kemp at 6-4.

In the third set Egan launched a strong attack; he frequently came up; his volleying was brilliant, and his opponent finding no adequate reply he ran out for the set at 6-3.

Miss M. O'Keeffe qualified for the final, beating the Leinster champion, Miss B. Maxwell, who made a splendid fight, and surprised everyone by the merit of her display. Miss Maxwell relies for her winners chiefly on her forehand drive, and, using this with deadly effect, while she backed it with a useful backhand. She ran to a 5-2 lead in the first set, she led 40-15 in the next game, and thus had two points for the set, but Miss O'Keeffe pulled her back, and, playing with great brilliance, won game after game to draw level.

A STIFF STRUGGLE.

A stiff struggle ensued, but Miss O'Keeffe was now in command, and, running out for the set at 9-7, she took the second for the match at 6-2.

All the same, Miss Maxwell's performance had been a fine one. She had met a player quite out of the common for a juvenile contest, and she would have pressed her harder if her service had been better placed.

The second semi-final in this event found Miss O. Poole, who was runner-up for the Leinster title, making certain of at least the same distinction this week by beating Miss R. Davis. Miss Poole, after losing the first set, made a fine recovery, and took the second for the loss of one game. The third was hard-fought. Both girls played from the base-line, but Miss Poole's stronger backhand and pace about the court were the deciding factors.

THE JUNIORS.

In the semi-final round of the junior boys' event the holder, F. Kenny, had a hard fight against N. Boden, but came through in straight sets. W. Dawson won the other semi-final in impressive style, and the very small boy, A. R. Gillespie, whom he beat, showed great promise.

CRONIN AND DALY FOR CORK FINAL.

SURPRISE RESULTS AT RUSHBROOKE.

The feature of yesterday's play at Rushbrooke was the defeat of a strongly-fancied local pair, H. F. Cronin and Miss J. Harman, by H. B. Purcell and Miss McOstrich, the match running the full distance. The local pair won the first set, but thereafter fell away, and, with Miss Harman not playing up to her usual standard, lost the second set, winning only one game. In the third set they made an excellent rally from love-3 to 4-5, and then Purcell won the service and match.

Miss McOstrich will also figure in to-day's final of the Rushbrooke Cup, having overcome Miss V. Mahony in an excellent match, which was one of the best seen at Rushbrooke during the present week.

Cronin and E. Daly qualified to meet in the final of the Men's Singles for the county title, the former defeating G. B. MacNamara, whilst Daly surprised R. F. Scovell, the Scottish player, to win in two straight sets. The latter match provided brilliant tennis at times. Results:—

MISS ROUND BEATEN IN SEMI-FINAL.

FOREST HILLS, Friday.

After being kept anxiously waiting for four successive days, through rain and the failure of the courts to recover quickly, Miss Dorothy Round and Miss Helen Jacobs (holder) were able to play off their eagerly awaited semi-final match in the American women's championship at the West Side Club to-day.

Miss Jacobs won 6-4, 5-7, 6-2, and will meet Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody in the final.

Miss Jacobs had to fight hard for every game she won, as the points analysis—39 to 31—in her favour indicates. Miss Round took her to deuce in three of her six games.

In the second set Miss Round staged a great recovery after being 4-1 in arrears. Her only success had been in the second game, when she broke through Miss Jacob's service. Then Miss Round, with some fine cross-court shots, took the sixth and seventh games, but Miss Jacobs won the next by taking her service to love. Miss Round after this played brilliantly, and took the next four games for the set.

Miss Round broke through her opponent's service on four occasions during the set, and four games went to deuce before they were decided. The fourth game was fought to seven deuces before Miss Jacobs finally won it.

Miss Jacobs was in her best form in the final set, and produced tennis that would, probably, have beaten Mrs. Moody.

ATHLETICS.

THE INTERPROVINCIAL TEST TO-DAY.

The athletic season in the Free State will for all practical purposes be brought to a close to-day at Croke Park, where teams representing the four provinces will engage in what should develop into an extremely attractive contest.

The N.A.C.A. Council of each province picked the teams on the form in the recent provincial tests, but, while the Munster side is the strongest of the four, the Leinster men may be depended on to make it a most interesting affair.

Twenty-four events make up the programme, and an added attraction will be the attempt on the mile Irish tandem record by B. J. Donnelly and H. J. Breadon. The opening parade is timed for 2.45

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

NEW GROUND FOR THE MUNSTER BRANCH.

It is understood that the Munster Branch of the Irish Rugby Union has acquired a new ground in Limerick, situate on the Thomondgate side of the city. The purchase price has not been disclosed, but work on the ground will be commenced in a short time, the contract having been placed.

It is a seven-acre field, convenient to the city, and will, in all probability, be ready for the Munster Cup competition next February.

Guildford magistrates yesterday decided that there was not sufficient evidence to send for trial Samuel Edward Goodwin (22), of Council Cottages, Chatel lane, Milford, near Godalming, accused of the manslaughter of Samuel Edward Goodwin, his father. They dismissed the case against him.

GAELIC GAMES.

KERRY OUT FOR RECORD

WHY THE CHAMPIONS SHOULD BEAT CAVAN TO-MORROW.

(By PAT'O.)

TWO strong, well-trained sides stand between Kerry and their ambition—the wiping out of Wexford's record of four successive championships. Last year, in beating Mayo, Kerry tied with Wexford's 1915-1918 record. The title-holders are doubly anxious to set up a new sequence of five victories in succession, and have set about their preparation with grim determination.

Kerry's published team is watertight in every compartment. Some may find fault with their ageing back line, and the selection of J. Walsh in his old place as left-back was something of a surprise. The tall Listowel man proposed retiring in 1932, but so well had he played recently in local competitions that he was pressed into service, so that Kerry's defenders are identical with last year's champion side.

NEW CENTRE-FIELD.

Michael Doyle partners John Walsh (junior) at centre-field, so that we have said farewell to the old familiar association of Stack and Brosnan at centre-field. They gave yeoman service through twelve years' All-Ireland football, and are succeeded by a young pair of polished footballers with weight and resource. Gainey and O'Regan are comparatively new wings, who have played themselves on through severe home tests. Ryan, coolest of attackers, retains his position as extreme forward, and the Landers trio will give him ample scoring chances, whilst losing no chances of shooting themselves when least expected.

All round this is a team up to Kerry's highest standard, and I belive they have just that little extra "class" which means so much in a close struggle.

Cavan's preparation has been equally thorough. Their form against Mayo in home and home games marked them as a side of great power, and the Breffni Park venue, rather difficult to strangers, will help them a point or two. For several seasons P. Lynch at centre-half has been the outstanding man of the side. He has been on the injured list for some months, but is reported fit and well again. At his best the stoutly-built Bailieborough man has no peer in current football. L. Blessing, of Cavan town, was also indisposed. This is one of Ulster's speediest forwards, and his re-entrance adds drive to Cavan's attack.

The Northern captain—J. Smith, of the Garda—is an inter-county man of ten years' experience. He has been out of the lists for reasons of health on different occasions, but at his best would be assured of his place on any national selection.

The latest Cavan placings inspire much confidence, and the team will be called from:—Young (goal); Connolly, Crowe, Dinney; Coyle, Lynch, Phair; O'Reilly (3); Smith (captain), Devlin, Smallhorn, Morgan, Briody, Blessing, Magee, McGovern, Brady (2).

CAVAN'S CLAIMS.

Among our best scoring men the names of Devlin, Smallhorn, Blessing and Magee stand out as forwards with pace and accuracy.

Shrewd judges of football will plump for Cavan on Sunday, believing that Kerry's backs have slowed down considerably, and that Cavan's attack will get possession frequently. Overhead Kerry will have the advantage. I shall not be surprised if they are in arrear at different stages of the game, but there is such depth in the champions' make-up that I do not think their day is yet past. They have played well in Cavan of recent years, and should again qualify for the final.

The big game is supported by the Galway v. Antrim Minor hurling tie, and the Westerners should win with something in hand. The other Minor tie at Roscrea is far more open. There two brilliant young teams dispute the issue. Tipperary have come through the Munster series after close contests with Waterford and Cork, and Kilkenny minors have played with all the neat wrist action and speed of their seniors. Tipperary are heavier and more robust in style, and may score a double with their Juniors, who meet Laoighis.

Limerick and Kilkenny Seniors are in strict training in anticipation of the Senior final at Croke Park on September 3rd. Here we shall mark a contrast in styles—Kilkenny (holders) are more experienced, more accurate and quicker hitters, while Limerick are younger, more fleet of foot and longer strikers, though far less reliable close to goal.

FIXTURES.

Cavan—Kerry v. Cavan (All-Ireland Senior football semi-final), 3.45; Galway v. Antrim (Minor hurling), 2.30.

ANGLING.

INTERPROVINCIAL FLY FISHING COMPETITION.

That magnificent sheet of water, Lough Conn, Connaught, is to be the venue of the Interprovincial Fly Fishing competition on Saturday, September 16, instead of the Lakes of Killarney, the original choice. Teams representative of the North, East and West have been considered, but for some reason Munster has not entered, although an extension of time was granted to admit of its doing so. The teams are to be of a dozen rods each. The trophy is a cup presented by Captain Allan, a member of the Armagh Club.

ANGLING.—Menace of the Otter, etc. See to-day's issue of the "IRISH FIELD."—(Advt.)

WESTMEATH HOUSING.

At the meeting of Westmeath County Council in Mullingar, when the question of providing money for the financing of the Housing Acts was reached, the Secretary (Mr. John T. Roche) said that, as instructed at the last meeting, he advertised for a loan of £10,000, but got no reply. They had now either to get a loan from the Board of Works or from the bank. The latter would only give a loan repayable in 15 years.

It was decided that the Secretary be instructed to ask the Minister to sanction a special overdraft, repayable in the same way as the Council paid the Board of Works, and to hold that on until they were in a better position to borrow.

The thirty passengers of the steamer, City of Norfolk, which was caught in the American hurricane and ran aground, have been transferred to the City of Baltimore, and are now on their way to Norfolk.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN QUIET.

DISTILLERIES ACTIVE.

The section for Brewery and Distillery issues was the most active on Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday. Business elsewhere was on a small scale in view of the closing day of the old account.

Dublin Distillers Ord. rose 4 points to 38, and the "A" shares were ninepence better at 9s. 1½d. Distillers (Scotch) rose 1s. to 89s. 3d., and Power Pref. rose 3d. to 13s. 6d. Dunvilles shed 4½d. to 27s. Guinness units were 3d. easier at 97s., but there were strong buyers of the Prefs., which, after touching 15, closed 5⁄16 up at 14 13⁄16. Burke Ord. was 1s. 3d. up at 23s. 9d., and the Pref. rose 5s. to 35s. The Debs. were 5⁄16 better at 7.

Free State Funds were active and higher on balance. Banks were idle, and among Rails Great Southern issues were strong. The Pref. rose 2 to 12, Guar. ⅜ to 16¾, and the Debs. 3½ to 36½.

Alliance Gas closed 1⁄16 up at 12⅜, and Dolphin Hotel Pref. rose 5s. to 65s.

The market for Industrial shares was stagnant, and no change in quotations calls for comment. The "other business done" list showed the rising popularity of Gold shares and Oil issues.

All the Stock Exchanges will be closed to-day.

LONDON BETTER.

BRITISH RAILS SOARING.

Although business in the London Stock markets yesterday was interfered with to a certain extent by the preliminary arrangements in connection with Monday's carry-over, the general tendency was decidedly firmer, while the volume of trading put through showed a marked expansion. British Rails again provided the principal feature, and with strong support again forthcoming quotations continued on the up-grade, the improvements scored at the close being of a substantial nature. There was also a good demand for Kaffirs, and the sustained support, coupled with the further advance in the price of gold to 126s. 2d. (highest level reached since last December), was reflected in an all-round advance in share levels. Oil shares attracted a fair amount of attention on the increase in American crude oil prices, and values appreciated. Rubber shares, on the other hand, remained neglected and dull, and Tea shares dwindled further. There was again a moderate amount of end of account profit-taking in the Industrial market, but fresh buying more than counteracted this, and the market closed on a firm note, with a number of outstanding features of strength in evidence. Triplex Safety Glass were a good market, while certain of the Breweries and Textiles returned materially enhanced values. Motors continued on a strong note under the lead of Rolls-Royce and Tilling, while the trans-Atlantics finished on a strong note, encouragement being derived from the overnight advices from Wall street.

British Rails, as mentioned above, provided the feature of the day, and under the impetus of strong buying orders quotations strengthened sharply all round. Great Western Ordinary were finally more than 4 points better on the day to 54¼, while Southern Pref.-Ord. closed at 63½ against 60¼ overnight, the Def.-Ord. advancing by over a point to 22¾. Midland Ord. at 27⅝ were 1⅜ points firmer, and the 4 per cent. Pref. 1923 gained 1½ points to 48½. Among North-Easterns the 5 per cent. Pref.-Ord. at 20¼ were ¾ better, and the Def.-Ord. put on ⅛ to 10⅜, while the 4 per cent. First and Second Prefs. were 3 and 2 points firmer to 54 and 34 respectively. The London Passenger Transport stocks scored fractional improvements in several instances. The market closed on a firm note at the higher values.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

RENEWED SUPPORT FOR BREWERIES.

Although trading in the Industrial market yesterday was hampered by preliminary carry-over arrangements, a fair number of inquiries were received for "new time," and the general tone was described as cheerful.

Encouraging advices from Wall street helped the trans-Atlantic counters, but there was not a great deal doing on this side, with the exception of Nickels, which closed ⅜ up at 22⅜.

Cables and Wireless stocks had a neglected appearance. Canadian Marconi dwindled to 13s.

Electric Supply shares continued to display firmness, but Electrical Equipments remained quiet.

A steady business was in progress in Coal, Iron and Steel shares, but price changes finally recorded were generally of small amount.

In the Motor group Rolls-Royce again provided the best feature, further buying taking the price up to 60s. 9d. at one time, eventually closing at 60s. Thomas Tilling recovered to 69s. 6d., and small improvements were marked in Austins and Fords.

Textiles made another mixed showing. A few supporting orders were received from the North for Bleachers, Fine Spinners and Listers, but Bradford Dyers, Calico Printers, J. and P. Coats, and Sewing Cottons all receded slightly.

Courtaulds continued in demand again, and shares changed hands at 41s. and over at one time, but they eventually finished at 40s. 7½d. Of the other Rayon issues American Celanese came in for further attention, the price advancing in the late dealings to 10⅜.

Apart from a reaction of 9d. to 14s. 9d. in Gamage Ordinary on profit-taking, Drapery and Stores made another satisfactory showing. Marks and Spencer further improved to 8 11⁄16, with buyers also about for Woolworths.

In the Provision and Catering group Unilevers remained on the dull side, but Tate and Lyles were firmer.

Renewed support was received for some of the leading Brewery shares. Distillery issues were subject to some end-account selling at one time. Distillers opened firm; slipped away to 87s. 4½d.; recovered to 88s. 6d., eventually closing 6d. easier on balance at 88s. Dublin Distillers finished around 9s. 1½d., Booths at 24s., and Vancouvers at 11s. 6d., with Guinness maintained at 96s. 9d.

In the Tobacco group a few supporting orders were received for "Bats" and Carreras "A," which hardened to 111s. and 8 3⁄16, respectively. "Imps" lost the turn at 108s. 6d., while Godfrey Phillips were offered around 23s. 6d.

In the Miscellaneous department, the outstanding feature was a fresh spurt in Triplex Glass shares, which changed hands up to 66s. 6d. and closed 3s. 9d. to the good on balance at 65s. A renewed inquiry was received for London Brick, and they finished 1s. up at 76s. 3d.

Among the dull spots, James Finlay weakened to 73s., and Harrisons and Crosfield receded to 73s. 9d.

OIL SHARES FIRMER.

A distinct change for the better was witnessed in the Oil Share market yesterday, a strong tone being in evidence from start to finish.

Business was of a more general character, and a certain amount of buying was in progress for the new account, which commences on Monday next.

A keen demand existed for practically all the better-class shares, but at the same time increased interest was displayed in several of the more speculative descriptions.

Strong features were provided by the Eagle issues, which closed appreciably higher. Others of the leaders, and many of the more speculative issues, also advanced, the market closing on a firm note.

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

Idle conditions again characterised the Rubber Share market, and, despite the late recovery in commodity levels, share values were again lowered in a number of instances. Trading in the raw material section at first was very slow, and an easier tendency prevailed, but subsequently a better tendency became apparent, and the market closed firm. Spot and September sold 3 11⁄16d. to 3 23⁄32d. per lb., while October to December improved from 3 23⁄32d. to 3 25⁄32d. per lb. London stocks of rubber on Monday next are expected to show a reduction of some 600 tons, whilst Liverpool stocks may also be reduced.

LONDON MINING MARKET BRIGHTER.

GOLD ISSUES PROMINENT.

The week and the account reached an end yesterday with a firm tone prevailing almost throughout the Mining market.

Kaffirs were again outstanding. A fresh impetus was given by the rise in the price of gold. By contrast with Thursday, when prices rose sharply almost entirely as a result of a scramble for cover by the bears, yesterday's business in the Kaffir market was reported to have been of a much "better" character. Brokers reported substantial buying orders from clients, and at the close a long list of advances was scored.

More attention was paid to other Gold shares, Indians, West Australians and West Africans all attracting buyers, while a feature was provided by Cam and Motor in the Rhodesian list.

A more optimistic feeling was apparent in the base metal market. Tin jumped £2 5s., copper and lead 6s. 3d., and spelter 5s. per ton. The only metal which declined in price was silver. Copper shares continued to be bought under Wall street influence, but buyers passed over the other base metal shares. Tin issues were particularly quiet. Closing prices:—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

RAND DEVELOPMENTS.

The formation of a new gold mining company, Rand Leases (Vogelstruisfontein) Gold Mining Company, Ltd., is announced from Johannesburg. The new venture is being sponsored by Anglo-Transvaal Consolidated, associated with H.E. Proprietary interests, and will have a capital of £1,000,000 in 10s. shares. It is anticipated that a substantial proportion of the new capital will be offered to the public in South Africa. Treatment plant capable of handling 600,000 tons per annum, it is stated, will be laid down. A preliminary announcement points out that from approximately 4,000,000 tons of main reef previously crushed on the property acquired the recovery averaged nearly 6dwt.

The New Central Witwatersrand Areas, Ltd., controlled by the African and European Investment Company, Ltd., has acquired an 83 per cent. interest in Machavie Gold Mining Company, Ltd., by purchase of 71,100 shares out of a total capital of 85,000 shares. The purchase price is £35,000 cash, and £20,000, which is payable in New Central Witwatersrand Areas, Ltd., shares at par value. The Machavie Gold Mining Company, Ltd., will, in terms of this transaction, be entirely free of debt. The Machavie mine is situated on farm Eleazer, 15 miles west of Potchefstroom.

PRICE INCREASE IN AMERICAN CRUDE OIL.

Advices from New York report an increase in prices of mid-continental crude oil. Quotations now range from 62c. to 95c. per barrel, compared with 52c. to 58c. per barrel recently ruling.

CORK CORPORATION NEW STOCK.

The Revenue Commissioners give notice that they have entered into an agreement with the Cork Corporation for the composition of the stamp duties payable on transfers of the 4 per cent. Redeemable Stock (1933). Transfers executed on or after the 7th July, 1933, are exempt from stamp duty.

RUBBER RESTRICTIONS.

In connection with the rubber restriction discussions, the Agence Economique et Finance understands from a well-informed source that the British and Dutch Governments are considering the scheme prepared by a committee representative of producing interests. Although Government officials have refrained from making any comment on the subject, it is thought that the scheme will not encounter any official opposition. On the other hand, De Telegraff states that the discussions that have been proceeding during the past weeks are likely to continue, as there are still a number of difficulties to be overcome.

IMPROVEMENT IN CANADA.

The Monthly Commercial Letter issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce states that Canadian industry and export trade, especially as regards newsprint, lumber, automobiles and minerals, has continued to show more than seasonal activity—a remarkable showing in view of the short crop and other unfavourable factors. Attention is at present concentrated upon the Western wheat crop, which, according to private estimates, will range between 200 and 260 million bushels, or within the figures of Canadian wheat exports during the past season. A chance still exists, however, for improvement in the northern areas.

C.P.R. EARNINGS.

The aggregate earnings from January 1, 1933, to August 21 of the Canadian Pacific Railway amounted to $67,283,000, a decrease of $6,868,000 compared with the same period of 1932.

THE MONEY MARKET

DEARER TREASURY BILLS.

There was a keen demand for the £250,000 of gold available in the market yesterday, and the price was raised 5d. to 126s. 2d. per oz. fine, the highest touched this year. The premium included in this figure has risen from 7d. to 9d. per oz. The gold was divided between the Continent and the "unknown buyer."

The Bank of England announced the purchase of £107,480 bar gold.

Money was again in plentiful supply, short loans offering freely at ¼ per cent.

In the Discount market the tendency was firm on the Treasury bill results. Three months' bank bills were fully 7⁄16 per cent., and the hot Treasuries were offered at 7⁄16 per cent. The banks were not taking any short bills under the latter figure.

Tenders were received at the Bank of England yesterday for £45,000,000 of Treasury bills. Applications, dated Monday to Friday of next week at £99 18s. 2d., get about 92 per cent., above in full. Tenders, dated Saturday, at £99 18s. 3d. and above, receive in full. The average rate indicated is just under 7s. 6d. per cent., as compared with 6s. 1d. per cent. for last week's bills.

American speculators were offering silver, and the price declined ⅛d. to 17⅞d. per oz. for spot and 17⅞d. for forward delivery.

Conditions in the foreign exchange market yesterday were more active than for some days, but the total turnover, though considerable, was not unduly large. Movements of the dollar were overshadowed by the gold exchanges, but the tendency of the New York rate was again upward at the close. The rate was 5 per cent. higher at 4.61. The Canadian exchange also finished higher at 4.84. Francs opened at 83¾, but towards the close dropped heavily, and after touching 82⅜ was finally quoted 82 17⁄32, as against 83 11⁄32. Belgas at 23.18, Dutch florins at 8.01, and Swiss francs at 16.71, were all substantially firmer. Reichmarks appreciated by 18½ to 13.57½.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN.—New samples in fair supply, but few anxious buyers, and prices not yet quotable. Old oats offering freely, but little or no improvement in demand, which continues dull, whites being offered at 8/9 to 10/- per barrel, and blacks 7/3 to 8/3, delivered.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES (BALTIC).—WHEAT cargo market displayed quiet features, and prices ruled lower, in sympathy with the easiness of North American cables. Canadian grades marked a decline of 1½d. to 3d. per quarter, and Australian sorts 3d. down. Plate descriptions 9d. easier. No. 1 Northern Manitoba (Atlantic shipment) September sellers 29/6, No. 2 ditto 26/-. Parcels met a slow demand, and values weaker. Manitoba kinds unchanged to 1½d. per quarter lower; Australian, also Russian, unchanged to 3d. down; Plates and German 1½d. up. MAIZE cargoes dull, but steadily held. Plate afloat, also August, sellers 16/-; September 16/3. Parcels quiet, but generally steady. Plate afloat, also August-September, sellers 15/-; September-October 15/1½ per quarter of 480lb. c.i.f. Broad digestive bran 5/4½ to 5/7½, middlings 5/4½ to 5/7½ as to quality; ground oats 6/10½ ex mill per cwt.

LIVERPOOL.—Overnight cables were worse than expected, and forward deliveries of wheat here gave way to a liberal extent during early trading, but afterwards improved on sellers showing more reserve. On reports of agreement being reached by the London Conference fixing international wheat prices and reducing acreage, "shorts" covered freely, and a more confident feeling was displayed, resulting in a sharp advance in prices, afternoon cables also having a favourable influence, final rates marking a considerable rise on previous night. C.i.f. parcels wheat Western Australian afloat sold at 24/9. New South Wales (bulk) afloat 23/9, and Rosario/Santa Fe 63½lb. afloat 21/- per quarter. PROVISIONS.

LONDON.—BUTTER—Trade has proceeded on quieter lines during the past week, following recent liberal purchases, and a temporary pause was not unexpected. The undertone, however, was steady, price changes being few and unimportant. New Zealand and Australian cold stored stocks are moving out freely, and market conditions should be favourable to take the new season's production when it comes along. Baltic descriptions are occasionally the turn dearer, and heavy quantities of Siberian now being landed are meeting a steady sale. Quotations:—New Zealand finest salted 89/- to 92/-, ditto unsalted 92/- to 94/-, Australian finest salted 89/- to 91/-, ditto unsalted 90/- to 94/-, Danish 105/-, Dutch creamery unsalted 104/- to 108/- per cwt. Dutch rolls 11/9 to 12/3 per dozen lb. English 1/2½ per lb. Irish creamery 92/- and ditto unsalted 96/- per cwt. CHEESE—The market remained dull, purchases being only for immediate needs. Stocks generally are heavier than last year, and up to the present Canadian has not been clearing as freely as expected considering the small production, prices being mostly above buyers' ideas. The tendency is easier for Colonial, but English encountered a steady sale. BACON—Market remained firm on short supplies, but the temporary scarcity may be relieved by increased prospective imports from Denmark. No change was made in official quotations. Irish 86/- to 95/-, Danish 85/- to 88/-, Dutch 79/- to 84/-, Swedish 83/- to 85/-, English smoked sides 100/- to 114/- and ditto green 94/- to 108/- per cwt. Danish arrivals this week 48,494 bales, against 48,421 last week. HAMS—Market firm, with fair general inquiries. English as to weight 115/- to 140/-, American short cut 74/- to 76/-, and Canadian ditto 74/- to 78/- per cwt. LARD firmer, but business restricted. American boxes 36/6 to 38/9, pails 43/3, cartons (1lb.) 41/9, ditto (½lb.) 43/9; Irish bladders 50/- to 65/-, Danish ditto 44/-, and Dutch refined boxes 36/- per cwt. EGGS (BOROUGH)—Market continues firm, while arrivals small, but demand is generally of a restricted character. Quotations:—English (national marked, unofficial), special 18/6 to 19/-, standards 17/- to 17/6, medium 15/- to 15/6, pullet 12/6 to 13/6; ordinary packing 15/6 to 16/-; Northern Irish, 18lb. 18/-, 17lb. 17/- to 17/6, 15½lb. 15/9 to 16/-; selected, 14lb. 14/6, smalls 11/6.

LIVERPOOL.—BACON — Continental remains strong for all descriptions, the increased exports expected from Denmark having little effect, though Manchester has made no change in the weekly revision of prices. Irish and Canadian unchanged, while American remains nominal. HAMS firm and partially dearer. American short cut now 73/- to 79/-, and extra skinless 81/- to 85/- per cwt. Shoulders unchanged. LARD on the spot partially 6d. lower; American refined now 37/- to 39/- per cwt., with a moderate business reported. CHEESE quietly steady and unaltered. BUTTER in improved request, and Irish 1/- dearer at 92/- to 96/- per cwt. EGGS steady at late rates.

MANCHESTER BUTTER.—Danish official quotation wired unchanged. Top again stands at 178 kroner per hundred kilos. At corresponding period last year the figure was 170 kroner. Market continues very firm for all descriptions, and Irish creameries show hardening tendency. Choicest qualities quoted—Danish 109/- to 110/-, special dairies extra, Finnish 102/- to 103/-, Swedish 92/- to 93/-, Irish creameries 92/- to 93/-, New Zealand 93/- to 94/-, Australian 91/- to 93/-. BACON—Spot supplies of all descriptions continue unequal to the demand, and it is understood that quotas from various countries will be increased in the near future. Irish held for full late rates, and no official change reported in continental cures. Irish nominal, Danish 89/- to 94/-, Swedish 85/- to 90/-, Dutch 84/- to 90/-, Polish 79/- to 84/-. LARD quiet, but rather steadier. English refined 46/- boxes ex works, American 37/6 to 38/-, according to brand. CHEESE—Choicest Cheshire shows a rather sharp advance, and now averages about 8d., medium and lower grades around 6½d. per lb., Colonial occasionally lower. New Zealand white 48/6 to 49/-, coloured 52/- to 53/-, Canadian white 50/- to 52/-, coloured 52/- to 54/-. EGGS quieter. Irish Free State extra selected 13/6, selected 13/-, mediums 12/-, pullets' 11/3, English 16/-, Northern Ireland 17lb. 16/6, 15½lb. 16/-, 14lb. 15/-, Danish 17lb. 13/-, 15½lb. 12/3, Finnish 12/6 to 13/-, Polish 6/6 to 7/6.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE—Home-grown lots more plentiful, which had a weaker effect on prices, especially cabbage and swedes. Market, however, cleared early at firm prices. York 30/- to 61/-, extra 73/- to 80/- large load, smaller 12/- to 41/-; cauliflowers 3/- to 5/- doz., seconds 1/- to 1/4; lettuce 4d. to 7d., extra 1/-; beet 1/8, leeks 1/- to 2/-, carrots 2/6, bags 8/- to 9/-; parsnips 2/- to 2/6 doz., rhubarb 6d. to 8d., marrows 3/- to 4/-, cucumbers 2/- to 5/-, extra 7/6; scallions 10d. bunch, onions 1/- to 1/2, turnips 10d. to 1/-, mint and thyme 2d., sage 1d., parsley 4d. to 6d. tray, bag 1/6 to 2/-; spinach 1/- to 1/6 bag, swedes 1/6 to 2/6 cwt., bag 2/- to 4/-; peas 16/- to 20/- bag, beans (kidney) 1/8 to 2/- box, broad 10d. to 1/-, runner 2d. to 3d. lb.; tomatoes 5d. to 9d. lb., plums 3/- to 4/6, extra 5/- chip; apples 1/- to 2/- tray, keg 3/- to 6/-, barrel 10/- to 16/6, extra 22/-; gages 1/- lb., and damsons 4/6 chip. DUBLIN POULTRY.—There was the usual good attendance of buyers here for the week-end sales, which opened fairly well, but, after opening sales, weight of supplies had a weaker effect on prices, which generally ruled lower, and market failed to clear around the following:—Chickens 7d. to 10d per lb., large fat hens 1/9 to 2/- each, small 1/-; large fatted ducks 7d. to 9d. per lb., seconds 1/6 to 1/9 each, old 8d.; turkey poults 1/3 per lb.; prime young grouse 2/6 to 3/- each, old 1/6; best fresh rabbits 8d. to 10d., and small graziers 2d. to 6d.

DUBLIN BUTTER AND EGG.—Creamery market unchanged; supplies continue ample for fair trade passing around late rates. Farmers' parcels still scarce, and wanted at firm prices. Factory butter of fine grade not so plentiful and tending dearer; ordinary a slow sale at previous values. Creams 135/- to 136/- per cwt., 28lb. 1/2½ per lb.; farmers' 8d. to 10d., factory fine grade 11½d. to 1/-, and ordinary around 10½d. Egg supplies not excessive; the scarcity of heavy fresh grades continues, and prices are fairly well maintained for reliable lots. However, with export trade slower, market outlook is weaker. Duck eggs very scarce, and making late rates freely. Extra selected hen 16lb. and 17lb. grades 12/6 to 13/6 per case lots, ordinary and selected 10/6 to 12/-, medium 9/3 to 10/-, smalls, trade, etc., 5/6 to 6/8, and duck 9/6 to 10/-.

CORK BUTTER.—Creameries, wholesalers 133/- per cwt., retailers 136/- per cwt.

DUBLIN FISH—Fair supply included 15 packages salmon, 26 chests lobster, 60 boxes herrings, 50 boxes mackerel, and a fair amount from usual country and local senders. Sales fairly well supported, except lobsters, which cleared at almost give-away prices. Salmon 1/6 to 2/- lb., lobsters 6/- to 10/- per 13 large, smaller 2/- to 5/-; soles 20/- to 30/- per 9 pairs large, medium 12/- to 15/-; slips 3/- to 6/-, turbot 1/- to 7/- each, brill 6d. to 2/6, herrings 12/6 to 20/- box, mackerel 10/- to 14/-, plaice, small and large 20/- to 50/- half box, and ray 10/- to 20/-.

BILLINGSGATE FISH.—Salmon, English 24d. to 30d., Scotch 22d. to 30d., soles 14d. to 20d., slips 14d. to 20d. per lb.; live eels 12/- to 20/-, dead 8/- to 16/- per draught; turbot 8/- to 11/-, plaice 8/- to 12/-, halibut 8/- to 16/-, lemon soles 8/- to 12/-, hake 8/- to 10/-, skate wings 4/- to 7/-, haddock (large) 1/6 to 5/6 per stone.

PRODUCE.

LONDON.—SUGAR—British makes quiet, unchanged. Terminal quiet and easy; December sold 5/2¾ to 5/2½ and 5/2¼, March 5/5½ to 5/5¼. Foreign 95 p.c. centrifugal September to London sold 5/1¼, loading 5/0¾ per cwt. c.i.f. COCOA—Market dull; mid-crop Accra spot sold 23/- per cwt.; Accra G/F old main crop quoted 24/6, new 23/-. RUBBER easy and trade slow, but closing somewhat firmer. Sheet spot and September sold 3 11/16d. to 3 23/32d., October-December 3 25/32d. to 3¾d. and 3 13/16d. London stocks on Monday next expected 600 tons down, and Liverpool 550 tons lower. JUTE—Market steady, but at the same time very quiet, while in a great measure reflecting the holiday in Calcutta. SHELLAC—Market quiet; T.N. spot 65/-, October sellers 59/-, December 60/-, March 60/-, and August shipment 52/6 per cwt.

OILS—Linseed steadier; spot sellers 23/3, September 20/1½, September-December 20/4½, January-April 21/-. Rape dull; crude spot 28/6, refined 30/-. Cotton quiet; crude Egyptian spot 21/-, common edible 24/-, deodorised 26/-. Cocoanut inactive. Turpentine steady; American spot 48/9 per cwt. OILSEEDS—Linseed market quiet, but undertone steady on reserve sellers; Plate to Hull August-September, also September-October sellers £10 13/9, October-November £10 15/-, November-December £10 16/3; Calcutta to London August-September, also September-October £11 5/-. Rapeseed dull; Toria August-September £10 5/-, September-October £10 6/3. Groundnuts quiet and easier. Soya Beans tend firmer. OILCAKES, ETC.—Linseed Cakes—The trade is confined to small retail consumptive orders, with almost a total absence of any speculative inquiry, and while the meat production in this country remains in its present unremunerative condition there is little prospect of an improvement in the position. English makes meet a slow sale at about last week's prices of £8 to £8 5/-, and imported descriptions, although relatively cheaply offered, attract very little attention at £7 10/- to £7 15/-. Cotton Cakes—Only a limited quantity of Egyptians are available afloat or for early shipment, and these are firmly held at £4 5/- ex ship, terms, duty paid, or £4 10/- at railhead, but for October-December loading rather less money would be accepted. OFFALS — English straight-run middlings are not in very plentiful supply, and millers in consequence ask full prices of £5 5/- to £5 7/6, with bran, if anything, the turn dearer at £4 10/- for ordinary and £5 10/- for broad. MAIZE FOODS—Owing to the low price of the raw material quotations have again declined, with gluten feed mentioned at £5 12/6, flake maize at £5 15/-, maize germ cake at £5 10/-, and maize germ meal at £5 5/-, and yellow South African maize meal at £5 2/6 per ton, all ex store or factory.

LIVERPOOL.—CANE SUGAR— quiet. Sellers September shipments to U.K. at 5/3 per cwt. c.i.f. terms. Refined descriptions remain at yesterday's improved levels. The following are Tate and Lyle's quotations:—Crystals, ones, 21/9; granulated, standard, 19/4½; yellows, thirds, 18/6, ex refinery Liverpool, less 1¼ per cent. COCOA—Spot West African difficult of sale, and good fermented ex store in bond quoted 24/6 per cwt. Forward shipments tending easier. Middle crop August-September 21/3 sellers, buyers 20/9; new crop sellers November-January 22/9, buyers 3d. less, per 50 kilos c.i.f. Continent, both good fermented Accra kinds. COFFEE on spot shows no quotable change. Brazilian forward shipments easier. JAPANESE PEAS continue quiet on spot at £20 to £20 5/- ex store. New crop parcels without change at £13 15/- September-October, and £13 10/- per ton October-November shipments, both c.i.f. terms. RICE BRAN—Burmah August-September shipment remains at 62/6 per ton sellers ex ship terms, but attracting very little notice. PALM KERNELS steady. Sellers August-September shipments £8 10/-, September-October £8 10/-, and October-November £8 11/3 per ton, with buyers 2/6 less. TALLOW—South American slow, with 20/6 to 20/9 quoted for shipment parcels c.i.f. Australian for shipments quoted rather lower at 21/6 to 22/- for good colour mixed, c.i.f. terms. Business done in Australian No. 1 beefs, October shipment, at 20/9 per cwt. c.i.f. terms.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW.—Moderate supplies of hay, which gave a fair proportion of good quality to draw upon. Usual attendance of buyers, and business opened fairly well at near late rates, but with rain still falling buyers showed a more cautious attitude, and sales eased off. Notwithstanding the lower rates ruling market dragged into a late hour, when prices were:—Best first crop 2/6 to 3/- per cwt., useful sorts 2/3; old meadow, best around 2/3, other classes to best advantage. Straw supplies fair. Sales affected by the wet weather, and, notwithstanding the much better quality offered, trade proved disappointing, with many loads still on hands at a late hour, when prices were much lower, being around 2/- per cwt. for the pick of things; other classes to best advantage.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

TRADE REVIEWS AGAIN ADOPT ENCOURAGING TONE: STRONG CLOSE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Friday.

Wall Street placed an inflationary interpretation on the Federal Reserves' renewed drive for credit expansion, and quotations as a result moved firmly higher. Final advances ranging up to 6 points were recorded in large number after a turnover of 3,330,000 shares.

The opening was strong and during the morning the market rallied briskly by 1 to 5 points, with the strength of wheat and cotton constituting a favourable influence.

Activity was particularly pronounced in Sugar, Tobacco, Rubber, Metal and "wet" stocks.

In the early afternoon the list again rose to a substantial extent, but broadening of the Federal Reserves' open market buying had been anticipated somewhat, and the market then quietened down. Most of the leading issues, however, retained gains of 1 to 4 points.

Oil shares made no marked response to the scattered increases in the prices of crude oil.

The advance gathered momentum in the later dealings, with activity increasing on the upward movement, and the market closed strong.

The trade reviews again adopted an encouraging tone to-day, reporting that resistance on the part of consumers to the higher retail prices is not at present discernible.

The financial community is closely following the wheat developments in London. Observers point out that there are still some problems to be solved before the production and marketing of grain may reach a plane which is entirely satisfactory to the leading countries concerned.

Standard Brands Inc. has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 25 cents.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Friday.

The strength of Sterling and the fact that agreement had been reached at the London Conference on the question of wheat prices, resulted in an improved general buying interest on the Grain market to-day. Unfavourable crop news from the Argentine constituted a bullish influence, but considerable realising took place on the advance, while commission house business was mixed. The firmness of the cash position, however, had a stimulating effect. Wheat values advanced in unison with the firmness of stocks and on purchasing by Eastern interests. A partial set-back occurred under selling by Western professional operators, but the market again advanced on good Eastern absorption owing to a renewal of inflation talk. Maize prices improved on a good cash demand and in sympathy with the strength of wheat. Rye and oats fluctuated in unison with the movements in other cereals.

WHEAT opened firm at ⅞c. to 1⅜c. gain. A better export interest, together with advices indicating that rains were delaying harvesting in the Western sections, helped the upward movement, while the strength of Liverpool cables constituted an additional bullish influence. Trading subsequently became narrow, but the late strength of the Chicago market had a sustaining effect. The close was firm, with values 1¼c. to 1⅜c. higher. Opening options—Oct. 71, Dec. 73¼, May 78. Closing options—Oct. 71⅜, Dec. 73¼, May 78⅜. Oats steady at ⅝c. to 1c. advance. Closing options—Oct. 39, Dec. 39½, May 41⅝. Rye firm, 2½c. to 1⅞c. up. UNITED FARMERS' ASSOCIATION.

MR. O'DONNELL'S VIEWS.

Speaking at a meeting of the United Farmers' Association, which was held in St. George's Hotel, Parnell square, Dublin, Mr. T. O'Donnell, who presided, said that from the very start the Association had stressed the necessity of feeding their own people from the produce of their own land, and of supplying all their other needs from the labour of Irish workers.

"We have," said the speaker, "reached a crisis in world affairs, and we must be prepared to make our country safe and capable of providing for the needs of our people if a world crash comes."

"They had a magnificent harvest this year. They could multiply it next year and every year in the future. This was real wealth.

"Side by side with the breaking up of our ranches," he said, "the cultivation of our land, the establishment and development of our industries, must go the establishment of a money system, controlled and directed by our own people. Without this all our other efforts, no matter how splendid in themselves, must end in comparative failure."

"We have," added Mr. O'Donnell, "pleaded and pressed for a reform of the currency and banking system of our country. We are satisfied that, with a proper system of currency and credit, this country could be revolutionised in five years. To-day, in the midst of wealth, farmers and traders have little money."

WOMAN SENTENCED.

STORY OF SQUANDERED LEGACY.

Dorothy Evelyn Leighton (30), stated by the police to be a native of Dulwich, was sentenced at Brighton Police Court yesterday to three months' hard labour on charges of unlawfully obtaining credit from boarding-house proprietors at Brighton; a charge of theft at Hove being also taken into account.

Detective-Inspector Pelling said that when 21 years of age the accused inherited between £6,000 and £7,000 from an uncle; similar sums being left to her brother and two sisters.

At that time her father was receiving about £3 a week, but he was now practically destitute, and Leighton had assisted him from time to time. Owing to her extravagance, however, her money appeared all to have gone, and she had been compelled to seek employment, but remained a short time only in each situation. For the past two months she had been staying at various hotels and boarding-houses, from which she absconded.

CLAY CROSS.

A BREAD-AND-BUTTER ELECTION.

Mr. John Moores, National candidate in the Clay Cross by-election, told a reporter yesterday that he was confirmed in his determination to drive home the point that this is a "bread-and-butter election." He added—"The bread and butter of Clay Cross mean trade and markets for coal. The trade agreements already effected have secured increased export markets for four million tons of British coal a year. It must be recognised that these agreements have only been possible through the bargaining effect of a tariff."

Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Labour candidate, replied last night to his opponents' criticism in reference to disarmament. Disarmament, he said, offered the only effective chance of getting rid of war.

Liners may be used as hotels during the Victoria Centenary Celebrations, if a proposal now put forward is adopted, says Reuter's Melbourne correspondent. Although Melbourne is well supplied with hotels and boarding houses, it is realised that the influx of visitors for the Centenary next year will be particularly heavy.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

WIFE MURDER CHARGE.

PRISONER SENT FOR TRIAL.

FURTHER STATE EVIDENCE.

(BEFORE MR. H. J. McCARTHY.)

JOHN FLEMING (30), draper's assistant, of 48 Carlingford road, Drumcondra, Dublin, was committed for trial on a charge of wilfully murdering his wife, Ellen, on the evening of July 26th, at their residence, by striking her on the head and body.

Mr. Kevin Haugh (instructed by Mr. T. Clarke, of the Chief State Solicitor's office), for the prosecution; and Mr. John Hooper (instructed by Mr. L. Trant McCarthy) for the defence.

NEIGHBOUR'S STORY.

The first witness to be called yesterday was Mrs. Martha Carolan, 46 Carlingford road, who said that shortly before 4 p.m. on 26th July she saw Fleming in his own garden and heard the sound of a mower, as if he were clipping grass. He had his back to her and they had no conversation. She thought he was wearing a navy blue suit. At 4.20 p.m. on the same afternoon she saw Mrs. Fleming at the door of No. 48, and was speaking to her until about twenty minutes to 5 p.m., when Mrs. Fleming went into her own house. Mrs. Fleming was wearing a house overall at the time. Olive O'Rourke, from No. 50, went into No. 48 whilst witness was talking to Mrs. Fleming. About five minutes after her conversation with Mrs. Fleming, witness, with her husband and children, left their own house, and did not return until shortly after 7 p.m. During the interval the house was unoccupied.

Mr. Haugh—Do you keep a dog?—I have had a springer spaniel for nearly two years.

During those two years have you ever had any complaint about that dog?—No.

Did Mr. Fleming ever speak to you about the dog?—No.

Did you ever see the dog in Fleming's garden?—No. I saw him about a year and a half ago on the wall between the two gardens. The wall was then in a very bad state, with bricks falling out of it, and it was only about three feet high, so that any dog could come in from the lane. But about a year ago Mr. Fleming and a friend built it up.

Olive O'Rourke, 12 years, 50 Carlingford road, said that she remembered Wednesday, 26th July, on which she was going away on holidays. She left her own house on that evening at 4.30 p.m., and she went into Flemings. She spoke to Mrs. Fleming and then went to the back garden, where she saw Mr. Fleming cutting the grass with a hedge clippers like that produced in court. He was wearing a navy suit, but was in his shirt sleeves. She said to him: "I am going now, Mr. Fleming." He said: "Good-bye, Olive; enjoy yourself and remember me to May," and he gave her a shilling.

Guard Matthew Wilson gave evidence of the discovery of the body similar to that already given.

Dr. D. R. Cotter said that he remembered being called to No. 48 Carlingford road by Mr. O'Rourke on the morning of 1st April, 1932. On going there he saw Mrs. Fleming in bed and examined her, but found no symptoms out of the usual, and prescribed a sedative for her. He had been at home the night before, but did not see Mr. Fleming at any time that night, and did not recall seeing him afterwards.

WITNESS RECALLED.

John Berry, a nephew of the deceased, who was examined at a previous hearing, was recalled. He said that he had gone, with Superintendent O'Connell, to a tool shop in Capel street, and there selected a hammer similar to one that was missing from No. 48, except that the chisel side of the missing hammer was longer than that now produced. Before his holidays and when he lived at No. 48 he used to go swimming two or three times a week, but the prisoner never went with him, and he had never seen a bathing costume with the prisoner. On one occasion, however, the accused borrowed his bicycle, stating he wanted to go for a swim.

Detective Sergeant Mark Byrne, who arrested the prisoner in Mr. Ryan's garden in Clontarf road on the evening of 26th July, said that he took him into the kitchen. The prisoner was then in his shirt sleeves, and was wearing a blue waistcoat and trousers.

"I remarked to him," said witness, "that there were stains on the front and left sleeve of the shirt and on the trousers, and that they appeared to me to be blood. He said: 'I cut my finger yesterday evening sharpening a spade in Mr. Ryan's garden.' At the same time he showed me the index finger of his right hand, and I saw a scar on the finger above the nail. It was not bleeding then, and appeared to me to be dry. I told him I was arresting him on the charge of murder. He said: 'What did you say? Murder? Oh, my God! I will go with you, sir.' I took him to Mountjoy police station."

Mr. Haugh—Did he at any time on the way to the station ask who had been murdered?—No. I had no conversation with him on the way to the station.

STRYCHNINE SOLD.

James Patrick Yorke, Main street, Moate, chemist, produced his register of poisons, in which there was an entry for 26th March, 1932, in the handwriting of a Miss Murphy, who was a qualified chemist, then in his employment. This entry showed the sale of ten grains of strychnine to James Carroll. That quantity was sufficient to constitute a fatal dose. There was nothing in the entry to indicate in what form the strychnine was sold, but the only form in which it could have been sold in his shop to outside persons was as alkaloid of strychnine.

KILLED IN COLLISION.

INQUEST ON DUBLIN DANCING INSTRUCTOR.

The circumstances of the death of Alfred W. Figgis (22), a dancing instructor, of Windsor Villas, Fairview, were further investigated by the Dublin City Coroner (Dr. D. A. McErlean) at St. Vincent's Hospital, Dublin, yesterday. Mr. Figgis died in that institution on 31st July last, following a motor accident in which he was involved on the previous night.

Inspector M. Murphy represented the Civic Guards.

James O'Reilly, of Bridge street, Dublin, gave evidence of the collision, which occurred between the hackney car which he was driving on 30th July and the motor car driven by Mr. Figgis, at the junction of Appian Way and Leeson street. Witness said that he had his lights on. He was in the centre of the crossing, when the car came along, "stripped" the horse, and took the car from underneath witness. Witness knew nothing for five or six minutes, and was taken to the hospital along with Mr. Figgis. Witness received injuries to the hand. There was room enough for both vehicles on the road.

Thomas Flannery said that he saw the hackney car about 11.30 p.m. coming toward the crossing at a trotting pace. On turning into Leeson street the car was in the centre of the road, between the ingoing and outgoing tram-lines. The car, which had its headlights and sidelights on, came along on its proper side at between 40 and 50 miles an hour. Neither driver seemed to see the other, with the result that the crash occurred. Witness found a man and woman inside the car, both of whom appeared to be badly injured. A passing motorist brought the injured people to hospital. Witness, on first seeing the hackney car, observed no lights on it.

In reply to a juryman, witness said that, if the car-driver had been on his proper side, no collision would have occurred.

Christopher Murphy, who was in the car with Mr. Figgis and women friends, said that he saw a black object in front of the car just before the accident occurred. He was sure there were no lights on this object. Mr. Figgis was a strict teetotaller.

Answering the Coroner, witness said the four members of the party were sitting in the front of the two-seater car with Figgis. Witness had a Miss Cahill on his knee. He considered that, even in those circumstances, the driver had complete control.

Michael O'Toole, who was driving a car in the opposite direction, said that the speed of Mr. Figgis's car was between 30 and 35 miles an hour.

Miss Mabel McMahon, another occupant of Mr. Figgis's car, said that when the accident occurred there was no conversation going on in the car, and Mr. Figgis had both hands on the steering-wheel.

Miss Sheila Cahill, the second young woman in the car, gave corroborative evidence.

The clerk read evidence given at the opening of the inquest on August 1st, when the medical statement showed that death was due to shock, hæmorrhage and asphyxia.

The Coroner, in charging the jury, remarked:—"It is a very sad case, indeed, and I should like, on my own behalf, to express my sympathy to the relatives of the dead man.

"I think it is only right to say," he added, "that, in view of the evidence, there is no question of intoxication or drunkenness, or impropriety of any kind.

"I think it possible, however, that with four people huddled together in the car, the driver might have been momentarily distracted. Then, the lights of the car were not very good, and Mr. Figgis may not have seen the hackney car in the dimness."

The jury, after a brief consultation, returned a verdict according with the medical evidence, and added that they considered that, at the time of the accident, Mr. Figgis was not keeping a proper look-out.

ULSTER T.T. RACE.

EARL HOWE ARRIVES.

Earl Howe, who is a favourite with the Ulster motor race crowd, arrived in Belfast yesterday, and will drive one of the Alfa-Romeos in the Tourist Trophy Race, over the Ards course, on the 2nd September. He still bears some traces of the injuries he received in the mishap at Dieppe, and also in the French Grand Prix.

Mr. Rubert Riley, competitions manager, is due in Belfast to-day with the four six-cylinder Rileys, and their experienced drivers G. E. T. Eyston, C. R. Whitcroft, C. S. Staniland and E. McLure.

Mr. Rose Richards, who will drive the super-charged Alfa-Romeo lent by Mr. F. Abecassis, of Portugal, has nominated Chinetti as his reserve driver. Chinetti was second in the Le Mans, and won the Belgian twenty-four-hour race. He is head mechanic of the Alfa-Romeo works, and is an experienced driver.

Most of the cars have already undergone a preliminary scrutiny by the officials, and it is anticipated that at the final scrutiny next week everything will be found saitsfactory.

A Colombo youth, said to be disappointed in love, has blown himself into the next world. He procured a large iron-bound barrel half-filled with gunpowder, crept inside and lit a match.

MISSING YACHT FOUND.

OWNER UNAWARE OF LIFEBOAT SEARCH.

Unaware of the all-night search that had been made for them by the Dover lifeboat in the Channel on Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Vincent, of Grosvenor road, London, arrived in Ramsgate Harbour yesterday on board the motor-yacht, Spray, which was towed in by the trawler, Explorer.

Mr. Vincent is a dental surgeon.

Late on Thursday night the Spray was reported out of control, having exhausted her fuel, but despite a search with the aid of searchlights by the Dover lifeboat no trace of the yacht was found.

"The trawler picked up the Spray near the South Goodwin lightship after 11 o'clock," a reporter was informed.

"Mr. Vincent signalled for assistance, and the Explorer took him in tow. The Spray was undamaged, and arrived in Ramsgate an hour and a half later.

"The trawler has returned to sea."

Three hours after her arrival at Ramsgate the Spray left again under her own power for Twickenham.

Only a year ago Mr. Vincent, who is a native of Jersey, and a member of the British Motor Boat Association, was rescued by the Ramsgate lifeboat when he ran aground on the Goodwin Sands. Yesterday, he waited the first opportunity of calling a passing ship. He was so ignorant of the search which was made by the Dover lifeboat on Thursday night that when he arrived in Ramsgate he merely made small repairs, took aboard some provisions and fuel, and set out again without communicating with the Dover or the Ramsgate coastguard stations.
